CHANCELLOR FINIS E. ST. JOHN IV

Finis E. St. John IV became Chancellor of The University of Alabama System on April 12, 2019. In that capacity, he is chief executive officer of Alabama's largest higher education enterprise, which is comprised of three doctoral research universities and the UAB Health System. Total student enrollment at The University of Alabama, The University of Alabama at Birmingham, and The University of Alabama in Huntsville exceeds 70,000 students with more than 45,000 full- and part-time faculty and staff. The annual economic impact of the UA System surpasses $10 billion annually, and more than 1.7 million patients are served annually in the System's hospitals and clinics.

Chancellor St. John developed the UA System's Core Principles, which promote a unified approach among the campuses and health system to improve the lives and health of all citizens of the State of Alabama. The UA System COVID-19 Task Force is a recent example of this collaborative approach. Chancellor St. John combined the expertise of UAB scientists and doctors with other leaders in the UA System to create a comprehensive health and safety plan that served as the benchmark for other colleges and universities across the state and country.

Prior to his appointment as Chancellor, he served on the Board of Trustees of the UA System for 17 years, during which he chaired numerous standing committees and played a key role in the recruitment of senior campus leadership.

He was unanimously elected to three successive terms as President pro tempore (2008-2011) of the Board and was directly involved in managing more than 450 capital projects exceeding $3 billion on the campuses. He also served for more than 10 years on the UAB Health System Board of Directors.

Chancellor St. John earned his undergraduate degree at The University of Alabama, where he graduated cum laude and was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa and Omicron Delta Kappa. A member of the University of Virginia School of Law Class of 1982, he chaired the Moot Court Board. Chancellor St. John clerked for the Hon. Peter T. Fay, 11th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals, after completing Law School.

Chancellor St. John spent the majority of his career as a member of one of Alabama's oldest law firms, St. John & St. John, L.L.C., practicing law alongside his wife, Gaynor. He is a Fellow in the American College of Trial Lawyers, a distinction given to no more than one percent of the practicing bar in any state. Both of Chancellor St. John's sons, Finis and Jack, are also accomplished attorneys.

PRESIDENT DR. STUART R. BELL

On June 18, 2015, The Board of Trustees of The University of Alabama named Dr. Stuart R. Bell the University's 29th president. A 30 plus-year veteran of higher education, Dr. Bell had previously served at the Capstone for 16 years as a faculty member and then department head of mechanical engineering. He founded and directed UA's Center for Advanced Vehicle Technologies, an interdisciplinary research center producing new generations of engineers and scientists.

Since his return to the Capstone, Dr. Bell has led the University to develop and implement a strategic plan, Advancing the Flagship, which promotes institutional progress with scholarship and teaching, research and creative activity, inclusion and diversity, and the recruitment and retention of highly qualified faculty and staff. Since the plan's launch, UA has seen an increase in both student retention and graduation rates, has increased faculty headcount to support the University's instruction, research and service goals, and has witnessed the growth of sponsored program awards crucial to the direct learning and experience opportunities for students, and has experienced two consecutive historic fundraising years. New interdisciplinary research centers have also been established and join many other centers on campus focused on solving critical, real-world challenges. Under Dr. Bell's guidance, UA is steadfastly expanding campus facilities and bolstering academic and co-curricular programs, all of which continue to draw exceptional students to Alabama.

Prior to becoming UA's president, Dr. Bell was executive vice president and provost at Louisiana State University and served as both the chief academic officer and the chief operating officer. During his tenure at LSU, Dr. Bell led an expansion of facilities and research and discovery efforts. He was also instrumental in increasing enrollment and retention, and his efforts yielded the largest freshman class in LSU history.

Before his time at LSU, Dr. Bell served the University of Kansas as dean of the School of Engineering. He joined UA in 1986 as an assistant professor in the department of mechanical engineering. He was later named department head, where he led the development of academic programs until accepting the Kansas deanship in 2002.

An Abilene, Texas native, Dr. Bell earned a degree in nuclear engineering from Texas A&M in 1979. He earned his master's and doctoral degrees in mechanical engineering from the same university in 1981 and 1986, respectively. With research interests in combustion engines, he has expertise in fuels for engines, innovative engine designs and modeling of engine and engine processes.

It was also at Texas A&M that Dr. Bell met his wife, Susan. They are the proud parents of three adult children, Stuart, Stacy and Stephen and two delightful granddaughters. Both of Dr. Bell's sons followed his example and are engineers. His daughter Stacy is a UA graduate.

ON YOUR CAMPUS...

The University of Alabama knows a thing or two about legends.

Legends have been made in our academic halls, on our athletic fields and courts, and through our endeavors to shape a better world through our teaching, research and service.

UA legends earn prestigious honors, such as Pulitzer Prizes, Emmy Awards, Heisman Trophies and Medals of Honor. They wear names like inventor, entrepreneur, best-selling author, pioneer, CEO, founder and national champion.

Here are just a few of our legends:

Best-selling authors: Harper Lee, "To Kill a Mockingbird"; Winston Groom, "Forrest Gump"; Kathryn Stockett, "The Help"; Mark Childress, "Crazy in Alabama"; and T.S. Stribling, "The Store."

CEO/Chairman of the Board/Executive Chairman/President/Senior Vice President/COO/Senior Director: Marillyn Hewson, Lockheed Martin; W.W. Clements, Dr Pepper Company; Sam DiPiazza, PricewaterhouseCoopers; Thom Rainer, Lifeway Christian Resources (retired); Vicki Hollub, Occidental Petroleum; Marie Robinson, Michael Kors; Nan Boden, Google.

Pioneers/Founders/Trailblazers: Millard Fuller, Habitat for Humanity; Jimmy Wales, Wikipedia; Joe Gibbs, Golf Channel; John Hendricks, Discovery Channel; Janet Gurwitsch, Laura Mercier Cosmetics; Morris Dees, Southern Poverty Law Center; Autherine Lucy Foster; Wendell Hudson.

Science: Dr. Edward O. Wilson, biologist, researcher and two-time Pulitzer Prize-winning author; Robert Jemison Van de Graaff, scientist and inventor.

Film and Television: Chuck Gordon, producer of "Die Hard" movies and "Field of Dreams"; Sela Ward, television and film actress; Joe Scarborough, talk show host; Sonequa Martin-Green, actress; Jim Nabors, actor; Tom Cherones, director of "Seinfeld"; Reece Davis, sports television journalist; Michael Luwoye, Broadway actor.

Journalism: Howell Raines, Pulitzer winner at The New York Times; John Cochran, prize-winning television journalist; Rece Davis, ESPN journalist.

It matters where you go to college. The University of Alabama is among the fastest growing flagships in the country because of our commitment to excellence and the success of our graduates. The Fulbright Student Program recognizes UA as a top producer of Fulbright recipients. For the last 11 years, UA has ranked among the top five institutions for Goldwater Scholars, producing more than Harvard and MIT. And we rank in the top five nationally for National Merit Scholars.

- PRWeek Magazine recognized the public relations program in The University of Alabama's College of Communication and Information Sciences as the Most Outstanding Education Program in the nation in 2020. It is the department's ninth recognition as a finalist for the award, and first selection as the top program.

GREG BYRNE

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

With more than 25 years of experience in sports administration, Alabama Director of Athletics Greg Byrne has built an impressive career highlighted by consistent competitive success, innovative strategies, fundraising and a strong emphasis on academic excellence.

Soon after taking over as Alabama's 17th Director of Athletics on March 1, 2017, Byrne developed and implemented both The Standard, a five-year strategic plan outlining the mission statement and core values of Alabama Athletics, and The Crimson Standard, a 10-year, $600 million capital initiative focuses on the renovation of facilities and development of infrastructure.

Additionally, The Standard provides benchmarks in the areas of academics, student-athlete welfare, athletics success, financial resources, facilities, staffing and operating with integrity, while The Crimson Standard is designed to provide the foundation for future success in all aspects of the collegiate experience.

Under Byrne's leadership, the Crimson Tide has:

- Added high-impact coaches Nate Oats (men's basketball), Brad Bohannon (baseball), Lindsey Devine (volleyball) and Glenn Putyrae (rowing) to the Tide's lineup, all five of which made immediate impacts in lifting their respective programs up the national ladder
- Won the 2018 and 2021 College Football Playoff National Championship, earned a place in the CFP Championship Game in 2018, 2019 and 2021, collected Southeastern Conference titles in football (2017 and 2020), softball (2019) and men's indoor track & field (2018)
- Posted its highest finish in program history in the Learfield Directors' Cup at the conclusion of the 2017-18 season, placing 14th
- Brought home individual and relay national titles in gymnastics, swimming & diving and track &

field and produced more than 100 All-Americans in 12 different sports

- Earned 42 CoSIDA Academic All-America certificates as well as some of the nation's top academic honors, including the NCAA Top 10 Award, the NCAA Elite 90 Award, CoSIDA Academic All-America of the Year, NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarships
- Earned the H. Boyd McWhorter Male SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year in 2017 and produced a dozen SEC Scholar-Athletes of the Year in 10 different sports, including a conference-record eight during the 2019-20 academic year

Another hallmark of Byrne's career has been both building and enhancing facilities to championship levels.

In his first three years at Alabama, the Tide:

- Raised more than $300 million toward The Crimson Standard capital campaign, over half of the 10-year goal, in a little over two years
- Added a state-of-the-art, first-of-its-kind Sports Science Center featuring advanced treatment services and technology with spaces dedicated to cryotherapy, chiropractic care, stretch, massage, relaxation, recovery and mental health services
- Improved and renovated Bryant-Denny Stadium, including enhancements to all team and recruiting areas, renovations of multiple fan areas, including new Loge and sky boxes and a trio of club areas and an added student plaza
- Renovated and expanded the football team locker room, training room, equipment room and lobby within the Mal Moore Athletic Facility
- Revitalized the Alabama Aquatic Center with a renovation that included the addition of an outdoor pool

In addition to his role as Director of Athletics, Byrne serves on several committees at both the conference and national levels including:

- United States Olympic & Paralympic Committee Collegiate Advisory Council
- Division I Football Oversight Committee
- Southeastern Conference Security Committee
- Served as president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in 2020

The son of Bill Byrne, whose long and highly successful career included 30 years as an athletics director, Greg Byrne has spent a lifetime around major college athletics. That background has allowed the younger Byrne to consistently develop and grow as a dynamic and impactful administrator with each new role he has undertaken, with career highlights prior to Alabama that include:

- Serving as the University of Arizona's Vice President for Athletics (2010-17) and Mississippi State University's Director of Athletics (2008-10), making Alabama the third NCAA Division I program he has led
- Fostering major improvements across the spectrum of sports at both Arizona and MSU, raising the bar to new heights when it came to student-athlete enhancement and academic success in preparation for life after sports
- More than $140 million in construction and renovation of athletics facilities at Arizona
- Serving as the youngest athletics director in the SEC and the youngest to lead an athletic program at the NCAA Division I-A level while at Mississippi State where he oversaw the hiring of head football coach Dan Mullen and former head baseball coach and current Director of Athletics John Cohen
- Experience in the Southeastern Conference, having spent 2002-05 at the University of Kentucky as Associate Athletics Director for Development and Fundraising prior to serving as Associate Athletics Director for External Affairs at MSU from 2006-08 before becoming the Bulldogs' Director of Athletics
- Working at the Fiesta Bowl (1994-95), Oregon (1995-98) and Oregon State (1998-2002)

A native of Pocatello, Idaho, Byrne earned his bachelor's degree from Arizona State University in 1994 and his master's degree from Mississippi State University in 2009. Byrne is married to the former Regina Misa of Junction City, Ore., and the couple has two sons, Nick and Davis.

Greg and his wife, Regina, with sons Nick and Davis.

ATHLETICS ADMINISTRATION

A VERY CROWDED HOUSE: ALABAMA GYMNASTICS FANS

For Alabama gymnasts, competing at home is electrifying. Marching into Coleman Coliseum, hearing their names called one by one as 13,000-plus fans roar their approval – it is an experience like no other.

“There’s nothing like competing in Coleman Coliseum,” head coach Dana Duckworth said. “The experience is absolutely exhilarating and it brings out the very best in our ladies.”

If anyone knows the kind of boost that the atmosphere surrounding an Alabama home meet can provide, it is Duckworth. As a gymnast, she helped Alabama win its second NCAA Championship in Coleman Coliseum in 1991 and as a coach, she has been on the floor for some of the biggest and most fan-packed meets in Alabama history.

“Our fans are simply amazing,” Duckworth said. “They are without a doubt our biggest and baddest competitive advantage.”

The Tide averaged 10,382 fans during the 2020 season, marking the 17th year in a row that the Tide has averaged more than 10,000 fans per meet – a stretch that includes a school- and SEC-record 13,786 fans per meet in 2010. In 2006, Alabama set a school and Southeastern Conference single-meet record of 15,162.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS NOTEWORTHY ATTENDANCE AND SOLD-OUT CROWDS

- Alabama drew 10,382 fans per meet to rank third in the Southeastern Conference among all women's programs and fifth nationally during the 2019-20 academic year.
- The Crimson Tide has ranked among the top-5 women's collegiate programs in terms of average attendance the last 14 years in a row.
- The Crimson Tide drew a 2020 season-best 11,630 fans against Missouri on February 7.
- The Tide's 2020 average puts it in rare company. Alabama gymnastics, South Carolina basketball, Utah gymnastics, Oregon basketball and LSU gymnastics were the only collegiate women's programs to average more than 10,000 fans per home contest in 2019-20.
- Following the 2020 season, Alabama has drawn more than 10,000 fans in 38 of its 42 home meets, dating back to March 2012.
- Alabama has averaged over 12,000 fans per meet in 10 different seasons since 2006.
- Alabama gymnastics has averaged more than 11,000 fans per home meet for 10 years in a row from 2010-19.
- Alabama has drawn crowds of 10,000-plus 84 times since first breaking the 10,000 barrier on March 4, 1995, when 12,021 fans flooded Coleman Coliseum for a meet against Georgia.
- Only two schools in collegiate history - Alabama and Utah - have produced gymnastics crowds of 15,000-plus, with Alabama producing nine such crowds over the past 15 years.
- The Crimson Tide also holds the 25 largest single-meet attendance marks in SEC history.
- When the Crimson Tide hosted the 2016 NCAA Gymnastics Regional, Alabama drew 10,116 fans, more than 2,000 fans better than the next closest regional that year.
- Alabama sold out Coleman Coliseum for the 11th time in school history and for the 10th time since 2006 on Jan. 24, 2014, against Arkansas.
- The Crimson Tide made history in 2008 when it became the first school in gymnastics history to draw two crowds of over 15,000 fans in a single season.
- Alabama set the school and Southeastern Conference single-season attendance record of 13,786 fans per meet in 2010.
- The Tide drew a school and SEC record 15,162 fans for its Jan. 20, 2006, meet against Florida.

CHAMPIONS

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS FACILITIES

BUILT BY BAMA

Whether for practice, for competition or for the time in between, the Alabama gymnastics program utilizes some of the finest athletics facilities in the nation and those facilities continue to get better all the time.

THE FRANCES SMITH PRACTICE FACILITY

Long one of the most well-designed and spacious training gyms in the nation, the Frances Smith Gymnastics Practice Facility was revitalized during the summer of 2012, giving it a new look that included all new crimson matting among other amenities.

"Our facilities – from our practice gym and arena to the state-of-the-art training and academic centers – are second to none," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "They allow us to train at a championship level every day."

The new look includes reminders of the Crimson Tide's rich championship heritage, highlighted by larger-than-life murals of the Tide's 2012 NCAA Championship team and the 2015 Southeastern Conference championship team, as well as several Alabama legends. The hallway that leads from the gym also features seven images that are highlighted by words that define Crimson Tide gymnastics tradition of excellence.

"When our ladies walk down the hallway and into the gym, they are reminded all the time of the ideals that built this program into what it is today – tradition, family, excellence, heart, service, champions and leadership," Duckworth said. "You can't help but be inspired to do your best to uphold that tradition of excellence and legacy of champions."

The Tide's team suite also received upgrades during the summer of 2019, adding a performance fuel center as well as updating the team room and training room area.

In addition to the new nutrition center, the team suite also includes hot and cold therapy tubs in the training room, which have been extremely beneficial in terms of preparation and recovery when it comes to both practice and competition, as well as a massage therapy room.

All aspects of the complex come together in a marriage of form and function that gives Alabama a training edge. Countless hours went into designing the 12,500 square-foot gym, creating a facility that is both beautiful and designed to minimize and alleviate the impact of training on the gymnasts' bodies at the same time.

Multiple soft-landing pits are available for all four apparatuses, giving the Tide the freedom to train skills in enhanced safety. That setup also gives Alabama the capability of teaching a variety of skills at the same time.

The main practice area includes an in-ground trampoline and tumbling strips. The sound system that drives the Tide's practices surrounds the floor exercise area with the same level of sound Alabama will encounter in a meet setting.

The practice gym also includes a state-of-the-art video analysis system that has playback and analysis options on each event, including a pair of 72-inch display screens that are in use every day in practice, allowing the coaches to provide instant feedback on a routine. The system also helps compress the time it takes to make a change to a skill or routine, allowing the gymnasts to get more out of each practice.

There are four uneven bars stations, six balance beams, two vaults and an oversized floor in place. The Tide also utilizes a tumble track, rod floor and a tumbling strip that finishes into a foam pit.

A separate 2,000 square-foot strength and conditioning/dance studio is connected to the main practice area and includes the Tide's cardio equipment.

Prior to the 2016 season, Alabama added a Pilates studio to its training suite. It contains top of the line Pilates equipment and is designed to help the Crimson Tide be at its very best. The Pilates studio was funded by The Medalist Club.

In 2020 the Crimson Tide increased the area within the practice gym dedicated to athletics training equipment as well as the rehab and recovery space.

The Tide's team suite includes a fully equipped training room, a locker room and a team room with study and computer stations as well as a meeting space.

"I love the fact that our ladies have everything they need all in one place for both practice and meets," Duckworth said.

COLEMAN COLISEUM

There are few atmospheres in collegiate athletics better than a gymnastics Friday night in Coleman Coliseum – from the roar of the crowd when Alabama marches in through the last routine. That atmosphere has only improved over the past several years, following major upgrades to the main arena of Coleman Coliseum aimed at enhancing the meet-day atmosphere. These amenities feature an array of state-of-the-art video boards, including a center-hung display that features four massive, high-definition video panels flanked by two video rings. The center display is accompanied by a pair of video and stat displays on each end of the facility.

Coleman Coliseum saw its greatest transformation prior to the 2006 season, when the entire facility was updated in grand fashion. Behind a bold modernized facade, the interior lobbies and concourses were expanded and upgraded. In the main seating area, 15,000-plus seats, all theater style, welcome gymnastics crowds along with a 6,400 square-foot club area along the east side of the arena.

All these amenities enhance Coleman Coliseum's reputation as one of the best places in the nation to watch gymnastics. Since the gymnastics team began competing in the Coliseum in the late 1980s, Alabama has hosted some of the biggest gymnastics meets in the country, including the 1991, 1996 and 2002 NCAA championships and the 1988, 1993 and 1999 SEC Championships.

The Tide hosted its 15th NCAA Regional Championship in the spring of 2018.

The Coliseum also houses the gymnastics coaches' office suite, which was renovated during the summer of 2012 to highlight a championship legacy that includes six national championships and nine SEC titles as well as countless individual accolades. In addition to the coaches and staff offices, the suite includes a conference room and a workroom.

The overall renovation to the Tide's athletic facilities, which entailed a more than $200 million capital building campaign, also included a new strength and conditioning center and an athletic training center that is among the nation's very best. Both facilities are located in the Mal Moore Athletic Facility, adjacent to Coleman Coliseum.

Another aspect of the athletics department's building campaign over the past decade that has paid huge dividends is the Bill Battle Academic Center at Paul W. Bryant Hall, one of the finest academic centers in the nation, which opened in 2005 (for more on Bryant Hall, see page 16).

The Crimson Tide also added a new performance nutrition center prior to the 2018-19 academic year.

The building is complete with serving areas on two levels, 10 action stations, a grab-and-go fuel center, a smoothie bar and more than 50 HD televisions. There are also two outdoor patio dining areas and a private dining space housed on the upper level for meetings, nutrition education and cooking demonstrations. In addition to Rainey Gerald, who works with the gymnastics program on a daily basis, the performance nutrition staff includes director Amy Bragg as well as four registered dietitians, five performance chefs and over 20 assistants (for more on Alabama Athletics performance nutrition program, see page 39).

CLASSROOM SUCCESS

The University of Alabama is one of the nation's top scholastic institutions and the Crimson Tide gymnastics program is among those leading the charge of academic excellence, earning countless honors and continually producing outstanding results in the classroom.

The Tide's tremendous success is in direct correlation to the level of importance the coaching staff puts on academics. Priority number one at Alabama is a great education that will catapult Tide gymnasts into exciting futures.

"There is no doubt that when it comes to Crimson Tide gymnastics, academics is priority one," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "I'm a living example of what an Alabama education can do for you. That's why we want every Alabama gymnast to leave the Capstone with a championship ring on one hand and a diploma in the other, confident in the knowledge that an Alabama education will take you anywhere you want to go."

The emphasis the coaching staff puts on academics has paid huge dividends. On its way to winning back-to-back NCAA championships in 2011 and 2012, Alabama posted two of its highest team grade point averages in program history, a team-record 3.71 in 2011 and a 3.55 in 2012. Over that two-year span, Alabama gymnasts earned 27 Scholastic All-America honors while every member of the team posted over a 3.1 GPA.

The Tide's academic prowess is nothing new. Alabama gymnasts have earned 21 NCAA and 13 Southeastern Conference postgraduate scholarships since 1983, with both totals leading all gymnastics programs on the national and conference levels.

Additionally, three Alabama gymnasts — Julie Estin, Meredith Willard and Kristin Sterner — were all named the H. Boyd McWhorter Scholar Athlete of the Year, the SEC's most coveted academic honor. The McWhorter is bestowed on the conference's top senior student-athlete, regardless of sport, and carries with it a $15,000 scholarship that can be applied to the graduate program of the recipient's choice. The Crimson Tide has also earned SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors an league-best seven times since the award began in 2003, including Shea Mahoney in 2020.

While the Tide has a sparkling reputation in the academic arena, it is not just a case of letting a squad of naturally gifted athletes loose in the classroom.

"The success our ladies have enjoyed academically has been predicated on the same drive and dedication that makes them successful in the gym," Duckworth said. "I'm proud of the fact that our gymnasts combine the amazing resources the University and athletics department puts at their disposal with a tremendous amount of hard work to excel to the best of their abilities."

In fact, some of Alabama's greatest success stories involve student-athletes that came in as at-risk students. Through a combination of their own hard work, unflagging support from the coaching staff and the resources Alabama puts at their disposal, they were able to graduate. They then went on to careers that might not have been possible without the education they received at the Capstone.

Once a prospective student-athlete signs, it is up to her how successful she is academically. But because of Alabama's Bill Battle Academic Center (BBAC) and the commitment of its coaches, every opportunity for success is there for the taking.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Alabama gymnastics' academic excellence has maintained an impressive stride over the past 40 years, providing some truly awe-inspiring results.

- Maddie Desch and Ariana Guerra earned the 2020 1A FAR Academic Excellence Award. The honor, presented by the 1A Faculty Athletics Representatives (FAR) Board, goes to student-athletes who graduate with a cumulative grade point average of 3.80 or above and have participated in at least two years of NCAA intercollegiate athletics at a Football Bowl Subdivision institution.
- Alabama gymnasts have been voted the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year a league-best seven times in the 16-year history of the award, including Shea Mahoney (2020), Lauren Beers (2016), Kim Jacob (2012, 2013 and 2014), Kayla Hoffman (2011) and Michelle Reeser (2005).
- Alabama gymnasts tallied the most Women's Collegiate Gymnastics Association (WCGA) Scholastic All-America honors of any team that finished among the top 12 in the final national ranking during the 2020 season with 15.
- With 15 Scholastic All-America honors in 2020, the Crimson Tide boosted its all-time total to 291 since the award's inception in 1991, giving Alabama an average of more than a dozen honors a year over the past 18 years.
- The Crimson Tide, which was ranked No. 8 nationally when the season ended due to COVID-19 prior to its final scheduled regular-season meet in 2020, led the Southeastern Conference in terms of percentage of the team earning Scholastic All-America honors at 83 percent.
- The Tide's 2020 Scholastic All-Americans included: Luisa Blanco, Ella Burgess, Maddie Desch, Kylie Dickson, Makarri Doggette, Jensie Givens, Lexi Graber, Griffin James, Bailie Key, Alonza Klopfer, Shea Mahoney, Sania Mitchell, Shallon Olsen, Macy Orosco and Mati Waligora.
- The Tide's 15 Scholastic All-Americans is the third-highest total in school history, behind a school-record 19 in 2017 and 16 in 2019.
- A total of 58 Tide gymnasts have earned 129 Scholastic All-America honors over the last eight years.
- Alabama finished the 2019-20 season with a 3.61 team grade point average, marking the 15th year in a row that Crimson Tide gymnastics has posted a team GPA of 3.4 or better.
- Heading into the 2021 season all 16 gymnasts carry a 3.3 or better career grade point average, including 14 that have a 3.5 or better GPA and 10 that earned better than a 3.7.
- Mackenzie Brannan earned Alabama gymnastics' 21st NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship in 2018, giving the Tide the most of any gymnastics program in the nation.
- Of the 34 collegiate gymnasts who have earned NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships between 2011-19, nine are from Alabama. No other gymnastics program has more than four over that span.
- Mackenzie Brannan earned CoSIDA Academic All-America honors for the third time in her career in 2018, giving Alabama 23 Academic All-America honors in all.
- Alabama gymnasts have earned a place on the SEC Academic Honor Roll a league-best 378 times since the award was first given out in 1984, nearly 100 more than the next closest gymnastics squad.

THE BILL BATTLE ACADEMIC CENTER

The Bill Battle Academic Center (BBAC) is a mainstay of The University of Alabama's academic success.

The Crimson Tide's academic home, the Bill Battle Academic Center at Paul W. Bryant Hall, is the crown jewel in Alabama's $125-plus million Crimson Tradition building initiative. The center was named for Bill Battle several years before his being named as the Crimson Tide's Director of Athletics in the spring of 2013.

"Academic success is the lifeblood of what we do here at The University of Alabama, and our academic center is second to none in providing our student-athletes with the tools they need to obtain that success," Battle, who retired as Alabama's Director of Athletics in 2017, said. "I couldn't be prouder to have my name associated with those efforts."

Through the auspices of the Crimson Tradition Fund, Alabama took its former athletic dorm and converted it into a state-of-the-art facility that benefits all 500-plus Crimson Tide student-athletes.

"The Bill Battle Academic Center is an incredible facility for our student-athletes," Heather Anders, the Director of Athletic Student Services and gymnastics academic advisor said. "We provide the resources to help them be better students and be successful in the classroom, as well as preparing them to be successful in life after athletics."

The BBAC demonstrates a high level of commitment to academics by The University of Alabama and its athletics department. With over 52,000 square feet, a student-athlete can meet with their advisor, work with a tutor, attend their orientation class, use the math or computer labs, and visit the Career and Leadership Development Center – all within Bryant Hall – which is a tremendous asset for them and their busy schedules.

Among the building's many amenities is a 48-seat computer lab with up-to-date equipment and software, a math lab and individual study rooms. The athletic academic advisor offices are also housed in the building, along with two 50-seat classrooms, a 140-seat classroom, a study lounge and the Susan and Gaylon McCollough A-Club Career and Leadership Development Center.

The classrooms utilize cutting-edge teaching devices, including digital overhead projectors, and throughout the building there are information stations that provide student-athletes with news. The building also houses the Tide's Academic Hall of Fame honoring Academic All Americans and recipients of the Paul W. Bryant Student-Athlete Award.

BBAC is headed by Senior Associate Athletics Director for Student Services Jon Dever. In addition to Anders, Dever is assisted by Assistant Athletics Director for Student-Athlete Enhancement Jessie Gardner, Assistant Athletics Director for Student Services Molly Dowd, Director of Athletic Academic Programs Brittany Price as well as Joy Burroughs, Lisa Hart, Brenda Holt, Hannah Grider, Stephanie Godfrey, Sarah Kizzire, Chelsea Mayers, Emily Roberts, Jenny Sanders, Miranda Giddens, Shanice Smith, Liza Edmiston, Quaison Osborne, Justin Stewart and Adora Hicks. The staff also includes more than 90 part-time tutors.

The BBAC staff works as a liaison between the athletics department, undergraduate and graduate divisions, and the administrative offices of the University. The staff assists with class scheduling and registration, makes sure all athletes are maintaining satisfactory progress toward their degrees, monitors academic eligibility, secures tutors and schedules study sessions, and provides career counseling and leadership development.

CAREER AND LEADERSHIP CENTER

A great enhancement to the Bill Battle Academic Center came in the fall of 2013, when the Susan & Gaylon McCollough A-Club Career and Leadership Development Center was dedicated. The center, located on the second floor of the Academic Center, is a place where Alabama student-athletes can hone the skills necessary to take the next step in their lives.

"This was the next logical step," Senior Associate Athletics Director for Student Services Jon Dever said. "We try to prepare our student-athletes with everything they need to be successful in the classroom and with this center, we can help them prepare for that next step in their lives."

The center, led by the Tide's Assistant Athletics Director for Student-Athlete Enhancement Jessie Gardner, helps student-athletes learn everything from creating a resume to utilizing social media in a professional way to how to interview and network effectively.

The suite was named for Alabama football letterman Gaylon McCollough and his wife Susan. McCollough was a center on the Tide's 1964 National Championship team who earned Academic All-America honors in the classroom and was named All-SEC on the field before being drafted by the Dallas Cowboys.

MAKING THE GRADE

The Bill Battle Academic Center (BBAC) provides many services that help Alabama gymnasts make a smooth transition into the world of collegiate academics. BBAC provides tutors, study sessions and works with student-athletes to help them develop study, note taking and organizational skills. BBAC also provides a personal monitor that helps guide the student-athlete as long as she or the team's academic advisor feels it is necessary in order for that student-athlete to be successful in the classroom.

All-American and Scholastic All-American Kayla Hoffman is a shining example of what a student-athlete can accomplish when utilizing all the resources that Alabama and BBAC put at their disposal. Hoffman came to the University after being home schooled since the fourth grade.

"Kayla's story is such an inspiration," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "To come back into a classroom after years of being homeschooled and have the amazing academic career that she did shows the success that is possible when someone works extremely hard and uses the tremendous resources the University and athletics department put at their disposal."

Hoffman finished her career with a 4.0 grade point average in human development and family studies. A first team Capital One/CoSIDA Academic All-American, she was also named the 2011 Academic All-American of the Year.

Hoffman's academic prowess, enhanced by the tools the BBAC put at her disposal, led to the Union, N.J., native earning NCAA and Southeastern Conference Postgraduate Scholarships. She was also voted the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year in 2011.

An amazing senior season culminated in Hoffman receiving the NCAA Top VIII Award, which honors the nation's top eight senior student-athletes in all sports in all NCAA Divisions for excelling athletically and academically as well as making a difference in the community.

"That's exactly what I wanted," Hoffman said on balancing her athletic and academic accomplishments. "I wanted to be someone who was an excellent student and an excellent athlete. I wanted to show future athletes here at our University that you can be both. That really meant a lot to me."

ACADEMIC ADVISOR HEATHER ANDERS

While she is in her fourth year working with the gymnastics program, Heather Anders is no stranger to The University of Alabama and its Athletics Department.

A native of Northport, Ala., Anders is in her 19th year working at the University and 17th as part of the Bill Battle Academic Center. She currently serves as Director of the Crimson Tide's Athletics Student Services program.

"Heather is a wonderful part of our support team," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "She does an amazing job in helping our ladies get the most out of their academic careers, keeping them on task and on track. Her experience at Alabama is invaluable and we feel very lucky to be working with her."

In addition to working with the gymnastics program, Anders has also worked with the Crimson Tide's soccer, softball, men's and women's swimming and diving, men's and women's track and field/cross country and rowing programs during her Alabama career.

"I really love being able to come to work each day and know that I'm helping our student-athletes prepare for the rest of their lives," Anders said. "It's especially rewarding to work with such dedicated and driven young women. That's why I was so excited to start working with gymnastics this fall, it's been an amazing experience."

Her dedication is just one of the reasons that Anders and her BBAC colleagues were honored with the University's 2012 Sam S. May Commitment to Service Award, which recognizes departments that demonstrate exceptional service to their constituents.

One of the factors that makes Anders' job easier is the commitment the coaching staff has to academics.

"Gymnastics is definitely a program that really emphasizes the importance of getting a great education," Anders said. "It starts from the top with Dana and goes through the entire staff on through the team. It makes for a great learning environment."

Anders' job includes helping the gymnasts map out their academic plan, from picking a major and registering for classes to requesting a personal monitor and scheduling a tutor.

For Alabama gymnasts, the impetus to succeed academically is all around them. The coaching staff makes it clear to the gymnasts from day one that their very best is expected in the classroom, while their teammates encourage them to excel through both word and deed. And while the bar is set high by the coaches and athletes themselves, Anders is there to add her encouragement and provide the tools for that success.

"It's an exciting time to be on this campus," Anders said. "As a University of Alabama graduate, I know that you can get a top-rate education here, and we're continuing to expand our services in the Bill Battle Academic Center all the time. And if you look at the growth, it's not just in athletics, but across the board. There are tremendous resources here at Alabama and we make sure that the student-athletes have full access to them, that they have everything they need to be successful."

Anders' interaction with a student-athlete starts on their recruiting trip when she gives the recruit a tour of the Bill Battle Academic Center and discusses the services provided by BBAC. From that point on, she works with the athletes until the day they graduate.

A graduate of Tuscaloosa County High School, Anders earned a bachelor's degree from Alabama in 1999. Anders has two daughters, AnnLey and Effie.

"One of the great things about working with the gymnastics team, is that I feel like each of them is an amazing role model to my daughters," Anders said.

COSIDA ACADEMIC ALL-AMERICA HONORS

Mackenzie Brannan, (left) with head coach and CoSIDA Academic All-American in her own right Dana Duckworth on the field at Bryant-Denny Stadium in the fall of 2018 after Brannan was honored as a CoSIDA Academic All-American for the third time in as many years.

Since Julie Estin earned the first two honors in back-to-back years in 1986 and 1987, Alabama gymnasts have claimed 23 CoSIDA Academic All-America accolades, including Mackenzie Brannan's third honor in 2018. Alabama gymnastics' Academic All-America tally is all the more impressive because gymnasts compete in the at-large category with student-athletes from across the nation in a dozen other sports. The Crimson Tide also leads all gymnastics programs in the honor.

Brannan became the third Alabama gymnast to earn three Academic All-America honors in a career, joining Lauren Beers (2014, 2015, 2016) and Kassi Price (2008, 2009, 2010). Beers was also the fourth UA gymnast to be named CoSIDA At-Large Team Academic All-American of the Year, joining Kim Jacob (2014), Kayla Hoffman (2011) and Stephanie Kite (2004). In 2014, Jacob was the first Alabama gymnast and third Tide student-athlete to be named the overall Academic All-American of the Year – presented to the top scholar-athlete in all of NCAA Division I, regardless of sport or gender.

Other Alabama gymnasts to be honored by the College Sports Information Directors of America as Academic All-Americans include Kelly Good, Dana Dobransky, Merritt Booth, Meredith Willard, Kristin Sterner and Keely McNeer.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS: SEVEN NCAA ELITE 90 AWARDS IN A ROW

In 2016, Lauren Beers became the first gymnast to win back-to-back-to-back NCAA Elite 90 Awards. She earned the Crimson Tide's seventh Elite 90 trophy with a perfect 4.0 grade point average in exercise science. From the left, Alabama head coach Dana Duckworth, Lauren Beers and former assistant director of athletic student services Fern Hampton.

Instituted prior to the 2010 season, the NCAA Elite 90 Award recognizes the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average who has reached the competition at the finals site for each of the NCAA's 90 championships across its three divisions.

With a perfect 4.0 GPA for her career, Lauren Beers became the first gymnast to earn back-to-back-to-back Elite 90 Awards when her name was called for the prestigious honor during the 2016 NCAA Championship Banquet in Fort Worth, Texas. She is the fourth UA gymnast to earn the award overall and she kept the Crimson Tide's streak a perfect seven-for-seven with her third win.

"We are so very proud of Lauren and ecstatic for our program to be able to continue to earn this amazing honor," Alabama head coach Dana Duckworth said. "Our ladies put a tremendous amount of hard work and dedication into their academic pursuits and this is a shining example of what can happen when your standard is excellence."

One of the most prestigious academic honors bestowed upon a collegiate student-athlete, Alabama gymnastics has dominated the Elite 90 like no other program. Throughout all the sports and NCAA divisions covered by the honor, Alabama gymnastics is the only program to win the award in each of its first seven years in existence.

"We are proud to have earned all seven of these awards," Duckworth said after Beers' third win. "We have tremendous gratitude for Jon Dever, Fern Hampton and the entire staff at the Bill Battle Academic Center for their daily commitment to supporting our student athletes academically. I also want to thank our administration for providing the tools that allow our women to be the best version of themselves in every area of their life. We are truly fortunate."

All-American Kassi Price earned the inaugural award in 2010 with a perfect 4.0 GPA of her own. She was followed by All-American Rachel Terry who won back-to-back trophies in 2011 and 2012, coinciding with the Tide's latest NCAA Championships. All-American Kim Jacob kept the streak alive when she earned the honor in 2013.

Heading into the 2020 season, UA gymnasts have won the honor seven of its 10 years. Across all sports, the Tide is just behind Stanford for the NCAA lead in Elite 90 honors with 16 in the award's first 10 years.

Kim Jacob earned the Crimson Tide's fourth NCAA Elite 90 Award trophy in 2013.

Rachel Terry became the first gymnast to win two NCAA Elite 90 Awards in a career in 2012.

Rachel Terry won the Crimson Tide's second NCAA Elite 90 Award in 2011.

Kassi Price earned the inaugural NCAA Elite 90 Award in 2010.

CHAMPIONS

NCAA AND SEC POSTGRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

One of the most coveted and prestigious national honors available to collegiate athletes, the NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship is awarded to athletes in their final year of competition who have performed with distinction both athletically and academically.

Some programs never have an athlete receive the scholarship, while Alabama gymnastics has produced 21 NCAA postgraduate scholarships since Julie Garrett earned the first in 1983, the most of any program in the nation, a tally that includes the Tide's latest honoree, 2018 senior Mackenzie Brannan. That total includes Ashley Sledge, who earned two NCAA postgraduate scholarships (the standard and the Ethnic Minority and Women's Enhancement Scholarship), giving Alabama 20 gymnasts with 21 scholarships.

In addition to the NCAA honors, Alabama gymnasts have earned 12 Southeastern Conference Postgraduate Scholarships, including Brannan in 2018. Alabama's SEC scholarship total also leads all gymnastics programs.

All told, 22 Alabama gymnasts have earned either NCAA or SEC postgraduate scholarships, with half of those earning both.

MACKENZIE BRANNAN

A member of the Crimson Tide's 2015 Southeastern Conference Championship team, Mackenzie Brannan finished her career as a four-time All-American and a three-time CoSIDA At-Large Academic All-American. She became the 11th UA gymnast to earn both SEC and NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships. She is preparing for physical therapy school.

KEELY MCNEER

A member of the Crimson Tide's 2014 and 2015 Southeastern Conference Championship teams, Keely McNeer finished her career as a two-time All-American and a First-Team CoSIDA At-Large Team Academic All-American. After earning an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship, McNeer earned her undergraduate degree in chemical engineering at Alabama and is attending medical school.

LAUREN BEERS

Part of the Crimson Tide's 2014 and 2015 Southeastern Conference Championship teams, Lauren Beers became the first gymnast to earn three NCAA Elite 90 Awards, the 18th Alabama gymnast to earn an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship and the 12th to earn an SEC Postgraduate Scholarship. A seven-time All-American, the 2016 CoSIDA At-Large Team Academic All-American of the year and a three-year CoSIDA Academic All-American, Beers is finishing her master's degree at Alabama.

SARAH DEMEO

Part of the Crimson Tide's 2011 and 2012 NCAA Championship teams, as well as a pair of SEC titles in 2011 and 2014, Sarah

DeMeo also became the 17th gymnast to earn an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship. A three-time All-American and a four-year Scholastic All-American, DeMeo is preparing for physician's assistant school.

KIM JACOB

The 2014 NCAA all-around champion, Kim Jacob was part of the 2011 and 2012 NCAA Championship teams as well as a pair of SEC titles in 2011 and 2014. She also earned both SEC and NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships, the ninth Crimson Tide gymnast to take home both awards. A three-time SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year, an 11-time All-American, a four-year Scholastic All-American and the 2013 NCAA Elite 90 Award winner, Jacob went on to earn an MBA from Alabama.

DIANDRA MILLINER

The 2013 NCAA vault champion, Diandra Milliner was part of the 2011 and 2012 NCAA championships as well as a pair of SEC titles in 2011 and 2014. She also became the 15th gymnast to earn an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship. A seven-time All-American and a four-year Scholastic All-American, she is currently working as a stunt performer and is part of SAG-AFTRA.

ASHLEY PRIESS

Ashley Priess, now Ashley Johnston, earned four championship rings during her UA tenure – two NCAA and two SEC. She also became the 14th Alabama gymnast to earn an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship. She was the first UA gymnast to complete her undergraduate degree and earn a master's degree while still competing. An NCAA Woman of the Year Top-30 finalist, Priess also earned The Bryant Award. After working for renowned leadership expert Tim Elmore, she is currently an assistant coach at Auburn University.

ASHLEY SLEDGE

Ashley Sledge helped lead Alabama to the 2011 and 2012 NCAA Championships as well as an SEC title during her years at the Capstone. In 2013, she also became the 13th Alabama gymnast to earn an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship and the first to win two when she also earned an NCAA Ethnic Minority and Women's Enhancement Scholarship. Earning a master's of business administration from Alabama, Sledge is now an advisory technology consultant at PwC.

KAYLA HOFFMAN

Kayla Hoffman, now Kayla Hughes, led Alabama to the 2011 NCAA Championship as well as a pair of SEC Championships during her UA tenure. She also became the 12th Alabama gymnast to earn an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship and the eighth to take home both an NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarship. Hoffman earned the Honda Award, SEC Female Athlete of the Year and the NCAA Today's Top VIII Award as a senior. She is now teaching at The Goddard School in Baltimore, Md.

KASSI PRICE

Kassi Price helped Alabama to an SEC Championship during her years at the Capstone. In 2010, she also became the 11th Alabama gymnast to earn an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship and the seventh to earn both an NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarship. Alabama's first three-year CoSIDA Academic All-American, she also earned the inaugural NCAA Elite 90 Award. After earning a master's degree in sports administration from Alabama, she is the technology communications manager at GolfNow.

NCAA & SEC POSTGRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

STEPHANIE KITE

Stephanie Kite, now Stephanie Jones, helped Alabama to NCAA and SEC Championships during her years at the Capstone. In 2004, she also became the 10th Alabama gymnast to earn an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship and was named the 2004 CoSIDA Academic All-American of the Year, a first for a Crimson Tide athlete. After serving as executive director of the Laps for Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, she is currently the Mission Assistant/Information Coordinator for Mountain Brook Community Church.

KRISTIN STERNER

In 2003, Kristin Sterner, now Dr. Kristin LeGrand, became the sixth Alabama gymnast to earn both an NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarship. She was also the third to be named SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year. An NCAA Top VIII honoree and NCAA Woman of the Year finalist, she earned three championship rings at Alabama, including the 2002 NCAA Championship and the 2000 and 2003 SEC titles. A graduate of Michigan State Medical School, she is practicing family medicine in Vancouver, Wash.

ANDREÉ PICKENS

In 2002, Andree Pickens, now Andree Houston, became the first Crimson Tide gymnast to earn the Southeastern Conference's Community Service Postgraduate Scholarship, which was first awarded in 1995. As the president of Alabama's Student Athlete Advisory Board, she directed the Tide's student-athletes to new heights in the area of community outreach and service. She is the Assistant Athletics Director for Compliance at Auburn University Montgomery.

MERRITT BOOTH

Merritt Booth, now Merritt Baumgartner, was part of NCAA and SEC Championship squads. She earned six All-America honors, three each first and second team. A finalist for the NCAA Woman of the Year award and a four-year Scholastic All-American, she earned an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship. Booth used her scholarship to earn a physician's assistant degree at South Alabama.

MEREDITH WILLARD

Meredith Willard, now Meredith Luber, graduated with SEC and NCAA Championship rings as well as the 1996 NCAA All-Around title. She also took home NCAA and SEC Scholarships. An 11-time first team All-American, NCAA Today's Top VIII award winner and NCAA Woman of the Year finalist during her UA tenure, she obtained a master's of business administration from UNC-Charlotte and worked for public relations company Racing Champions, whose hottest property is NASCAR.

DANA DOBRANSKY

Dana Dobransky, now Dana Duckworth, earned both SEC and NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships to go with an SEC Championship ring, an NCAA Championship ring and a pair of individual NCAA balance beam titles. In the fall of 1996, she returned to Alabama to obtain a master's of business administration. After more than a decade in the corporate world, she joined the Alabama coaching staff full time in the fall of 2008 and is now the Crimson Tide's head coach.

KATHERINE KELLEHER

Katherine Kelleher, now Katherine Laubenthal, graduated with NCAA and SEC Championship rings to keep her NCAA and SEC Postgraduate scholarships company. A three-time All-American, SEC champion and two-time Regional champion, she graduated with a degree in corporate finance and investment management. She is a systems consultant for Blue Cross Blue Shield in Birmingham.

KELLY GOOD

Kelly Good, now Kelly Baham, graduated with an SEC and NCAA Championship ring and a matching pair of scholarships to go with them. The All-American attended Alabama-Birmingham where she received a master's of science in physical therapy. She is now co-owner of Progress Physical Therapy in Richmond, Va.

MARIE ROBBINS

Marie Robbins graduated with one NCAA and two SEC Championship rings as well as an SEC Postgraduate scholarship. The four-time All-American and two-time SEC champion graduated from the Alabama Law School. She then went to work for the Southeastern Conference. She returned to Alabama as Associate Athletics Director for Compliance in 1996 and was promoted to Senior Woman Administrator in 2002.

JULIE ESTIN

Julie Estin, now Dr. Julie Vaughn, a 1987 recipient of both the NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarships, attended Alabama-Birmingham medical school and is a Tuscaloosa area pediatrician. During her tenure at the Capstone, Vaughn was a six-time All-American, two-time SEC champion, five-time Regional champion and Alabama's first SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year. She was also a two-time CoSIDA Academic All-American.

BARBARA MACK

Barbara Mack, now Barbara Harding, earned the NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship in 1985. Mack was an All-American, SEC and Regional champion and the winner of the AMF American Award as the nation's most outstanding senior. She was also a Rhodes Scholarship finalist. Mack used her scholarships to go on to Georgetown Law School. She served as a prosecutor for the U.S. Department of Justice and is now in private practice.

JULIE GARRETT

Julie Garrett was the first Alabama gymnast to receive an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship. Garrett was also the Tide's first All-American and SEC champion. She competed before the Southeastern Conference awarded postgraduate scholarships. The league first presented its scholarship in 1985.

ALABAMA GYMNASTS LEND A HELPING HAND

As much as winning championships and excelling in the classroom, working to make the world around them a better place is one of the primary hallmarks of the Alabama gymnastics program.

"We are known for excellence athletically and academically," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "But being a part of the Alabama gymnastics family also means giving of yourself to other people, lending a helping hand where it is needed and being an engaged citizen in the community."

Alabama gymnasts are busy throughout the community, especially when it comes to ReadBAMARead, The Power of Pink and working with The RISE School. Through its annual Elevate the Stage meet, the Crimson Tide helps champion Smile-A-Mile, an organization that supports children with cancer. Tide gymnasts also speak to local school children about staying away from drugs and alcohol, raise funds for Project Angel Tree, paint faces and help kids with their somersaults during the Tide's annual Halloween Extravaganza and help raise awareness for the fight against breast cancer with the Power of Pink meet.

Lauren Beers was named the SEC Community Service Leader of the Year in 2016, an award that spans all sports and schools in the SEC. Andréé Pickens won the same award in 2002 just weeks after leading the Crimson Tide to the NCAA Championship, proving that there is always time to give back.

In addition to team projects, each gymnast finds her own way to make a difference, from working in soup kitchens to visiting the elderly at assisted living facilities, and nearly every gymnast has encouraged school children through various speaking engagements.

THE SEC COMMUNITY SERVICE TEAM

The Southeastern Conference sponsors Community Service Teams for all 21 league sponsored sports, highlighting an athlete from each school who gives back to their community in superior service efforts. Alonza Klopfer, the Crimson Tide's honoree in 2020, led the UA gymnastics squad in community service hours as a junior, giving of her time to ReadBAMARead, the Crimson Tide's Halloween Extravaganza, Project Angel Tree, Alabama's Thank-a-Thon and the RISE Center Holiday Party as well as helping guide the Tide's community service efforts as a member of the Alabama Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. To see all of Alabama's SEC Gymnastics Community Service Team honorees, go to page 115.

DAVID DESANTIS COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD

For her efforts in the community, especially with the American Heart Association Scholastics All-American Jensi Givens was named the 2020 David DeSantis Community Service Award, named in 2009 for the local philanthropist.

DeSantis was an integral part in the Crimson Tide's Power of Pink initiative from its inception, helping raise more than $2 million for the DCH Breast Cancer Fund through the annual Tuscaloosa Toyota/DCH Foundation Golf Classic and Nite on the Green events. He and Tuscaloosa Toyota also lent a generous hand to head coach Dana Duckworth's ReadBAMARead Foundation, combining with Toyota Motor Sales USA to contribute more than $20,000 to the foundation.

Prior to Givens, Scholastic All-American Shea Mahoney (2019), All-American and Scholastic All-Americans Kiana Winston (2018) and Nickie Guerrero (2017) earned the DeSantis award. Scholastic All-American Mackenzie Valentin took home the honor in 2016, All-American and Academic All-American Lauren Beers earned the award in 2015 and NCAA champion, All-American and Academic All-American Kim Jacob earned the honor in 2013 and 2014. Duckworth earned the honor in 2012 for her ReadBAMARead Foundation. Scholastic All-American Alyssa Chapman earned the award in 2011 following All-American Kassi Price in 2010 honor. All-American Ricki Lebegern became the inaugural recipient of the award in 2009.

THE POWER OF PINK

BUILT BY BAMA

Pink shakers, pink shirts, even the occasional pink boa – once a season, everyone puts on their best pink outfits, grabs their favorite pink accessories and heads to Coleman Coliseum for a gymnastics meet. The pink isn't as much a fashion statement, but a show of support for former Alabama gymnastics head coach Sarah Patterson's Power of Pink initiative.

It started with a simple idea and grew into one of Patterson's greatest triumphs. She wanted to help raise awareness for the fight against breast cancer, a disease that has touched the lives of so many women around the world.

"I am very lucky," Patterson said. "Not only to be healthy, but also that I have access to excellent medical care. Not everyone is so fortunate, and I wanted to do something that would help those who need it most."

So she picked Alabama vs. Auburn on Feb. 4, 2005, and designated it as the "Drive 4 the Cause" meet. She asked everyone to mark the date and to "Think Pink, Wear Pink."

They did and in droves with the first Power of Pink meet drawing 13,299 fans and a legion of support.

That singular idea and that first meet blossomed into a staggering phenomenon and on Friday, Feb. 19, 2020, Alabama will host its 17th Power of Pink meet, welcoming the LSU Tigers to Coleman Coliseum while resplendent in pink.

Over the past 16 years more than 230,000 fans have filled Coleman Coliseum with pink for the annual event, including an Alabama and Southeastern Conference record 15,162 fans in 2006 and matching sellouts of 15,075 in 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2012, 2013 and 2014.

The event has evolved into an extraordinary and powerful night dedicated to awareness and hope. In the week prior to each Power of Pink meet, the Coliseum and dozens of University and Tuscaloosa buildings and landmarks are lit in pink. Prior to the start of the meet itself, the gymnasts step up on to a platform in the center of the arena floor alongside a breast cancer survivor, honoring their fight and those of so many others.

Within the UA athletics department the event has grown from gymnastics to other sports to the point where Alabama Athletics' Power of Pink program sees Crimson Tide women's teams hosting pink events throughout the year.

The pink events have also gone beyond Crimson Tide athletics and Tuscaloosa, exploding into a nation-wide cause. Since Alabama hosted its first meet in 2005, all of the nation's top gymnastics programs have either hosted or participated in a pink meet, including every member of the Southeastern Conference.

The Women's Basketball Coaches Association started its pink initiative in 2007, encouraging its members to participate in a "Think Pink" week that has now evolved into the WBCA's "Pink Zone."

There have been similar efforts at the collegiate level in women's soccer and volleyball as well. Even the NFL and Major League Baseball have gotten into the act with NFL players wearing pink gloves, chinstraps and shoes during Breast Cancer Awareness Month in October and MLB players using pink bats on Mother's Day in a show of support in the fight against breast cancer.

From the beginning, support for Patterson's Power of Pink initiative was swift and widespread.

"So many people have worked extremely hard and put in long hours for this worthy cause, this vital fight," Patterson said. "What we all realize is that as coach Paul Bryant was fond of saying 'The price of victory is high, but so are the rewards.' I can think of no greater reward, no better return on the investment of time and resources so many have put forth, than beating this disease."

The Power of Pink continues to grow every day, and because of the way Tuscaloosa has taken to the Power of Pink, women in the West Alabama community have someone in their corner in the fight against breast cancer.

THE DCH BREAST CANCER FUND

The DCH Foundation established a fund to support Sarah Patterson's Power of Pink initiative in the winter of 2004. Donations can be made to the DCH Breast Cancer Fund by mailing a check to: DCH Foundation, 809 University Blvd. E., Tuscaloosa, AL 35401. The DCH Breast Cancer Fund should be noted on the memo line of the check.

The DCH Foundation, Inc., was established in 1973 to provide a way for citizens of West Alabama to help create for themselves the best health system in the nation.

More about the DCH Breast Cancer Fund: The DCH Breast Cancer Fund's purpose is to promote awareness and provide educational programs on prevention and early detection of breast cancer. The Fund also provides breast screenings to women in need of those services. Patients who meet the eligibility requirements will be provided assistance to pay for early detection services at the DCH Cancer Center. Eligibility criteria will be prepared and provided upon request.

BUILT BY BAMA

Fall is always a very busy and highly productive time for Alabama gymnastics head coach Dana Duckworth. In August, the members of the Crimson Tide return to campus and work continues on the new season.

The fall of 2018 also saw Duckworth's ReadBAMAREAD philanthropy undertake a new and significant project in support of literacy in the West Alabama community.

In October, the ReadBAMAREAD Foundation presented a donation of $25,000 worth of books to the Tuscaloosa City Board of Education's "Strong Libraries Strong Schools" campaign in support of school libraries.

"Libraries and their mission are at the heart of ReadBAMAREAD," Duckworth said. "We are so excited to have this opportunity to continue to impact literacy and public-school libraries in the Tuscaloosa community, and we completely and enthusiastically support the 'Strong Libraries Strong Schools' initiative."

The RBR non-profit charity, cofounded by Duckworth and Donna Benjamin, has an ongoing mission to enhance childhood literacy.

"When we first heard of the school board's goal to raise Tuscaloosa libraries to meet the 'exemplary,' standard, it really spoke to us and our underlying principles," Benjamin said. "It's something we had to be a part of."

Duckworth, Benjamin and other members of the RBR Board of Directors presented the donations to the librarians of the Tuscaloosa City School Systems' five middle schools at the Alberta School of Performing Arts.

"We are thrilled that ReadBAMAREAD is partnering with the Tuscaloosa City Schools to make sure we have exemplary libraries in all TCS schools for all students," Dr. Mike Daria, Superintendent for the Tuscaloosa City Schools, said.

Each school received a $5,000 "Book Spree" at the Tuscaloosa Barnes & Noble for their libraries in November, when the school's media specialists picked out titles for their respective libraries.

"It's amazing for this group of professionals, who work in our schools every day to promote a love of reading and to do it so well, to be affirmed and supported in that work," Daria said following the Book Spree. "Events like today, and the work being done by ReadBAMAREAD and Barnes & Noble in this effort, shows what can happen when a whole bunch of good people get together with a common cause."

In its earliest days, RBR took an active role in restocking the three elementary school libraries that were destroyed by the tornadoes that ripped through West Alabama in April 2011. Duckworth and Benjamin quickly put together the foundation to help raise money to stock the libraries once they were rebuilt.

ReadBAMAREAD took off immediately.

"I've always believed that reading is fundamental to all learning, and I knew immediately that this was something that could make a real difference in our community and that it would be embraced by our community," Duckworth said.

With wide-spread support from the community and local philanthropists like David DeSantis and Tuscaloosa Toyota, along with partnerships with The Color Run and the Tuscaloosa Half Marathon, ReadBAMAREAD met its initial goal of raising enough money for 10,000 bound, library-quality books – at a cost of approximately $150,000 – for the rebuilt schools in June 2014.

With that goal met, the initiative turned its attention to childhood literacy as a whole. In addition to providing grants for library books to local elementary schools, RBR instituted its ReadBAMAREAD Express program, bringing books to the youngest students in the state of Alabama's school systems, helping ignite an interest in reading. The RBR Express is still going strong, including events in the spring and fall of 2019.

With the launch of "Strong Libraries Strong Schools," ReadBAMAREAD embraced the opportunity to help directly support its initial mission to augment and revitalize Tuscaloosa school libraries.

"Reading is a fundamental skill, and we have an entire community supporting our focus on each child of the Tuscaloosa community," Daria said. "Thanks to Coach Duckworth, Donna and RBR for supporting our efforts to make sure all TCS children are reading at high levels."

The mission of ReadBAMAREAD falls in line with the ideal of Alabama gymnastics.

"As student-athletes, our ladies strive every day to be the best that you can be," Duckworth said. "And through ReadBAMAREAD, we are helping children strive for that same ideal and I couldn't be prouder of that fact."

KEEPING UP WITH THE CRIMSON TIDE

Already one of the nation's most visible collegiate athletics programs, Alabama gymnastics received a huge boost in exposure in 2014 with the advent of the SEC Network, a highly successful joint venture between the Southeastern Conference and ESPN to highlight the league and its schools. With more live events than any other conference, gymnastics was one of the sports that took a huge leap in exposure and popularity with the new venture.

"We are so excited that our fans across the country and really around the world will have the opportunity to see our ladies compete live," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "The SEC Network and ESPN provide such amazing exposure for our team and our University."

In 2016, the SEC Network's gymnastics coverage took another step forward when both sessions of the Southeastern Conference Championships were broadcast live.

"It's so exciting that the SEC Network has put this kind of comprehensive coverage together for us and our fans," Duckworth said. "They are changing the way gymnastics is viewed. Our fans across the world will be able to follow every routine and that's great for fans of the SEC and everyone who loves gymnastics."

The blueprint the SEC Network created with the SEC Championship broadcasts were carried over to nationals when the same crew came together to broadcast the NCAA Championships live on ESPN's family of networks.

In August of 2019, the SEC Network celebrated its fifth anniversary, remaining the most widely distributed conference network and, heading into year seven, has already broadcast more than 2,800 live events on its linear channel.

In 2021, four of the Tide's regular-season meets will be broadcast live and two will be televised on a taped delay basis. All four of Alabama's regular-season home meets will be both televised and streamed via the SEC

Network+ platform. The SEC and NCAA Championships are slated to be broadcast live on the ABC/ESPN family of networks.

Since 2000, Crimson Tide gymnastics has also had its own weekly television show during the season. The "Dana Duckworth Show" got underway in 2015. The half-hour show, produced in the Crimson Tide's state-of-the-art digital media center, highlights the gymnastics team's season.

The Tide is also featured on a weekly video feed that sends highlights and interviews to television stations around the country to be used in local and national broadcasts, so that no matter where a gymnast is from, her hometown media outlets can keep up with her.

Duckworth is a regular on the Tide's weekly radio program, "Hey, Coach!" during the season, talking all things Alabama gymnastics.

As for keeping up with the day-to-day aspects of the Tide, BamaGymnastics is the Crimson Tide's handle for Twitter, Instagram and Facebook. Alabama stands among the national leaders when it comes to collegiate gymnastics programs Twitter followers and Instagram and Facebook likes. Duckworth also keeps everyone up to date on everything Alabama on Instagram (UACoachDana).

There are a pair of websites devoted to Alabama gymnasts and their accomplishments. The official University of Alabama Athletics site is located at RollTide.com. The other key site for those who want to be in the know about UA gymnastics is BamaGymnastics.org, a product of Alabama's booster organization, The Medalist Club.

Alabama is also one of the few collegiate women's programs in the nation that produces a full-color program for its home meets. The souvenir program includes bios, features, photos and opponent information.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS ON SOCIAL MEDIA

The Alabama gymnastics team shares a wide range of digital content via its suite of social media accounts. This includes everything from videos and photos produced by the Crimson Tide's creative team to quick-hit videos and snapshots that give an inside look into Alabama's day-to-day life to factoids about the Tide's storied history and ongoing success. Following BamaGymnastics on Instagram, Snapchat, Facebook and Twitter is a great way to get an inside look into Alabama gymnastics on the fly.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS IN THE NEWS

In addition to being regulars on television, on the internet and in magazines, Crimson Tide gymnastics is also front page news for Alabama's daily newspapers. Alabama gymnastics has also warranted its own special section in The Tuscaloosa News on average of once a year over the past decade. Those special sections usually come in conjunction with the Tide's biggest meet of the season and explore a variety of topics, including the art of vaulting, the physics of gymnastics, Alabama's ever-growing attendance and the Power of Pink initiative.

DANA DUCKWORTH

HEAD COACH

To say that Dana Duckworth has never met a stranger is an understatement.

"I love connecting with people," she said. "It's one of the true joys in my life."

It's an attribute she first developed growing up in Michigan and continued during her extraordinary career, first within USA Gymnastics and later as an NCAA Champion at Alabama.

It's also what led her to be ultra-successful, first in the corporate world and then as an assistant coach and then, ultimately, head coach at her alma mater.

"At Alabama, we want to develop gymnasts who enjoy great success both in the arena and in the classroom, but more than that, we focus on developing the whole person," Duckworth said. "That's always been one of the cornerstones of this program and its success."

The Crimson Tide's head coach since July 2014, Duckworth's continuation of that philosophy has held Alabama and its gymnasts in good stead.

In 2015, Duckworth became the first in league history to lead a team to an SEC gymnastics championship as a first-year head coach. The Tide also extended its streak of top-four NCAA finishes to seven, by far the best in the nation. The Tide also won its NCAA-best 30th regional title in her first season as head coach.

She also got to fly with the Blue Angles, serve as the Grand Marshal of the Crimson Tide's 2015 Homecoming Parade, visit midfield of Bryant-Denny Stadium to receive yet another championship ring and look on as Kim Jacob was honored as a finalist for the NCAA Woman of the Year in Indianapolis.

That success has continued unabated ever since. Alabama earned another NCAA regional title, and finished third at the NCAA Championships in 2016, marking the Tide's 23rd top-three national finish, the most in collegiate gymnastics history. She also saw 2016 senior Lauren Beers earn her third NCAA Elite 90 Award and the 2016 SEC Community Service of the Year honor.

In 2017, Alabama earned its NCAA-best 23rd Super Six Finals berth and became the only team to finish in the top six each of the previous 10 years. Individually, Katie Bailey earned another individual NCAA title, while Keely McNeer earned Alabama's 20th NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship.

In 2018, Alabama won its NCAA-best 32nd regional championship, posted its 20th consecutive top-three finish at the SEC Championships, taking second place, and advanced to the NCAA Championships for the 36th year in a row, while posting its 34th top-eight finish and 36th in the top 10. Mackenzie Brannan also closed out her career as a three-year CoSIDA Academic All-American as well as an SEC and NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship winner.

In 2019, the Crimson Tide extended its streak of top-12 finishes to 37-consecutive years, making UA one of just two programs in NCAA gymnastics history to never finish outside the top-12 nationally. During a COVID-19 shortened season, Duckworth was named the 2020 WGCA Region 1 Head Coach of the Year while leading Alabama to an eighth-place national finish, marking the Tide's 37th top-10 finish. The 2020 season also saw Makarri Doggette become the 75th UA gymnast to be named an All-American, earning the honor on the uneven bars.

Through all this, Duckworth found that fundamentals of leadership, whether as a gymnast, volunteer coach, full-time assistant coach or head coach, remain the same.

"I am here to help these young ladies become the best version of themselves," Duckworth said. "If I'm focused on that, then everything else will take care of itself. There's no cookie-cutter approach at Alabama. We take the time to get to know each gymnast and identify what will make them successful and then we work to achieve as much as we can within a family environment."

That understanding of what drives success at Alabama is why Duckworth was the only choice for the legendary Sarah and David Patterson when they went looking for an assistant coach in the late 2000s and again when the Pattersons retired and the University needed to hire a new head coach for the first time in nearly 40 years.

"I took recruiting trips to the top five schools – schools that are still in the top five today – and I felt something here," Duckworth said. "I felt a connection with the coaches and with the team, a chemistry that I knew, even then, that I would not find at a different school. I went on four other trips and they just solidified what I felt here at Alabama. I love our environment, I love our culture, I love our tradition and I love the fact that when you go out as an Alabama gymnast you represent all those things."

It was those same elements that made her decision to leave a lucrative career with Pfizer Pharmaceuticals to join the Alabama coaching staff on a full-time basis in the fall of 2008 after nine years as a volunteer coach with the Crimson Tide such an easy one.

"I really enjoyed what I was doing at Pfizer and it's a tremendous company, but my heart and my passion have always been here at the Capstone with our program," Duckworth said. "I felt like this was an opportunity for me to do what I love and everyone I have ever talked to has said, if you love what you do, you'll never go to another day of work in your life."

Part of the Alabama gymnastics program as a gymnast and coach for 25 seasons, Duckworth has been a part of NCAA team championships from both sides. She was part of the Tide's 1991 NCAA title as a sophomore and the 2002, 2011 and 2012 NCAA championships as a coach. She has also won conference titles as an athlete (1990) and a coach (2003, 2009, 2011, 2014 and 2015).

As much as Duckworth appreciates the championship tradition she has been a part of for so long, what she holds most dear is the overall atmosphere created by the people who live, work and go to school at Alabama.

"The people at The University of Alabama make everything unique and special," Duckworth said. "I love the fact that The University of Alabama is about tradition and culture. I tell people all the time that Tuscaloosa is the best-kept secret because we have it all here and everyone approaches things with a great deal of passion. It makes people's experience very special."

In addition to her infectious enthusiasm for the Crimson Tide and her skills as a technical coach, Duckworth also brings her standing as one of the nation's premier choreographers to the gym. Nothing drives that point home quite like the consistent success the athletes she has worked with have enjoyed.

When Geralen Stack-Eaton won the 2011 NCAA floor exercise championship to cap off an extraordinary junior season, it marked the fifth time that a Duckworth-choreographed routine won the NCAA floor title, including one each by Alabama's Morgan Dennis and Ashley Miles plus a pair by North Carolina's Courtney Bumpers. During her storied Tide career, Miles earned four top-three national finishes on the floor, including the 2004 NCAA floor exercise championship. Duckworth also helped Miles win four consecutive Southeastern Conference and NCAA Regional floor exercise titles. Miles became the first gymnast in SEC history to win the same event all four years of her career.

"It's such a wonderful experience to be able to help these athletes bring out their personality and perform routines that shine," Duckworth said.

As a gymnast, the former Dana Dobransky earned eight All-America accolades and finished her career in 1993 by winning her second consecutive NCAA balance beam title with a perfect 10.0. She was named NCAA Woman of the Year for the State of Alabama in 1993.

As a student, Duckworth was a three-year Scholastic All-American and a two-time CoSIDA at-large Academic All-American, an award that spans several sports. She was inducted into Mortar Board as an undergraduate and earned both an NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarship, utilizing them to attend graduate school at Alabama and obtain her Master of Business Administration in 1998.

"I could have gone anywhere in the country to get my MBA," Duckworth said. "But I chose to come back to Alabama because our business school is one of the best in the country and I loved the size of the campus, I loved the MBA program and more than all that, it was a chance to come back to a place I consider home."

In fall 2018, the UA MBA program named Duckworth as its Alumni of the Year, honoring all she has accomplished since earning her degree.

After graduating with her bachelor's degree, Duckworth moved up the corporate ladder quickly at AMX Corporation, a high-tech firm based in Dallas. She finished her tenure there as manager of AMX's training programs. After receiving her master's degree, Duckworth served as director of marketing for a Trussville-based automotive company followed by a stint as Vice President of Corporate Solutions for a Birmingham company before returning to Tuscaloosa for a highly successful run with Pfizer.

Duckworth's return to Tuscaloosa also saw her start a family. She and her husband Joe, a Tuscaloosa native, married in 2000. The couple has a daughter Camryn born in 2004 and a son Jace born in 2006.

"I could not do this without the support of my husband, my children and my family," Duckworth said. "I also couldn't do this without the support and love of the Alabama gymnastics family. Being an Alabama gymnast is so much more than a four-year commitment. It's building a bond that lasts a lifetime."

BILL LORENZ

ASSISTANT COACH

Bill Lorenz joined the Alabama gymnastics coaching staff as an assistant coach prior to the 2015 season.

"Bill is a tremendous coach, but more than anything, he understands the tradition of excellence that Alabama's championship legacy is built on," UA head coach Dana Duckworth said. "Most importantly, his coaching style is built on the sense of family that has made Alabama gymnastics so great for so many years."

Lorenz made an immediate impact for the Crimson Tide, helping lead the 2015 team to its ninth Southeastern Conference title.

"It's one thing to see what Alabama gymnastics is from the outside, to see how they win championships and produce amazing gymnasts, it's quite another to be a part of it from the first practice on," Lorenz said. "It is an amazing experience. I can't wait to get to work every day."

Lorenz was named the 2020 WCGA Region 1 Assistant Coach of the Year following a COVID-19 shortened season. The 2020 season also saw the Tide post its 37th top-10 finish, finishing eighth nationally. In 2016, he helped coach Alabama to its NCAA-best 31st regional championship, 32nd top-six finish at the NCAA Championships. The 2017 season saw another trip to the NCAA championships and an NCAA-best 23rd Super Six team finish for the Tide, while 2018 saw Alabama win its NCAA-best 32nd regional title and earn its 36th-consecutive NCAA championship berth. The Tide posted its 37th-consecutive top-12 finish, becoming one of just two schools in NCAA gymnastics history to never finish outside the top-12.

In his second year with the Tide, he helped coach Katie Bailey to the 2016 NCAA vault title, Alabama's fifth national vault championship and 26th individual NCAA title overall. Mackenzie Brannan won the 2016 SEC vault title after winning the NCAA Auburn Regional vault championship in 2015. In 2018, Lexi Graber won the NCAA Tuscaloosa Regional vault title as a freshman, while also taking top honors in the all-around. The 2020 season saw Makarri Doggette become the 75th UA gymnast to earn All-America honors.

He worked with Shallon Olsen on her way to a silver medal on the vault at the 2018 FIG World Championships and a fourth-place finish at the 2019 World Championships as well as a bronze medal on the vault at the 2019 Pan American Games.

Lorenz came to Alabama after spending a decade at Ohio State, where he was named the National Assistant Coach of the Year in 2012 and the Central Region Assistant Coach of the Year in 2011 and 2012.

"BILL IS A TREMENDOUS COACH, BUT MORE THAN ANYTHING, HE UNDERSTANDS THE TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE THAT ALABAMA'S CHAMPIONSHIP LEGACY IS BUILT ON. MOST IMPORTANTLY, HIS COACHING STYLE IS BUILT ON THE SENSE OF FAMILY THAT HAS MADE ALABAMA GYMNASTICS SO GREAT FOR SO MANY YEARS."

"I always knew there was something special about Tuscaloosa and The University of Alabama, but after seeing it firsthand, their tradition of excellence is unparalleled in college athletics," Lorenz said.

Lorenz served as chair of the National Association of Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches competition committee from 2011-15.

"Through my work with the competition committee, I had the opportunity to meet and get to know coaches all over the country, and I can tell you that one of things that makes Alabama so special is the extraordinary people here," Lorenz said. "From the coaches to the athletes and the incredible support staff, everyone here is incredibly driven not only to see our ladies be successful in the gym but in the classroom and in life beyond college as well. I think it's what makes the Crimson Tide so successful."

During his tenure in Columbus, he helped lead the Buckeyes to their first NCAA Championship appearance in 22 years in 2012. The Buckeyes also produced seven All-Americans, including their first in more than a decade while Lorenz was on staff, as well as 19 All-Big 10 gymnasts and two Big 10 Freshmen of the Year.

Prior to joining Ohio State, Lorenz spent two seasons as an assistant coach at Penn State, a stint that included a runner-up finish at the Big 10 Championships.

He started his collegiate coaching career with a year each at Maryland and George Washington.

At the club level, Lorenz coached at Chantilly Gymnasium, Nassau Gymnastics and the legendary Woodward Gymnastics Camp.

Lorenz earned a bachelor's degree in journalism at the University of Massachusetts, in 1998, where he competed as part of the Minutemen's gymnastics team. He is married to the former Andrea Scialdo. The couple has two daughters, Madeline and Courtney.

"As excited as I am to be a part of this amazing program, my wife and I are equally excited about raising our family in a community that is so nurturing and giving," Lorenz said. "And of course, to have the opportunity for our girls to be around this team and to have such wonderful role models is a tremendous plus as well."

RYAN ROBERTS

ASSISTANT COACH

Ryan Roberts joined the Alabama gymnastics staff as an assistant coach in August of 2018.

"Ryan is a sharp, highly respected coach with international and national elite experience who has high expectations for himself, our student-athletes and our program," UA head coach Dana Duckworth said. "His gymnast-first philosophy encompasses not only performance, but the mental and physical well-being and long-term development of the total person as well. This belief complements the very foundation of our program."

In his first season with the Crimson Tide, Roberts helped propel Alabama to a league-best six All-SEC honors as well as its 37th-consecutive top-12 national finish, making UA one of two schools to never finish outside the NCAA top-12. Roberts was named the 2020 WCGA Region 1 Assistant Coach of the Year following a COVID-19 shortened season. The 2020 season also saw the Tide post its 37th top-10 finish, finishing eighth nationally, while Makarri Doggette became the 75th UA gymnast to earn All-America honors.

Roberts came to Alabama following five years with the World Olympic Gymnastics Academy (WOGA) in Frisco, Texas. At WOGA, he coached members of the United States, Russian and Ecuadorian national teams. He also coached a trio of USA international Elite gymnasts, three Junior Olympic national champions and numerous gymnasts who earned college scholarships. While at WOGA, he also served as the personal coach to three USA National Team members as well as a Russian National Team member who won a silver medal at the World Championships.

"Ryan is not only an excellent coach, but he is a person of tremendous character whose holistic development of student-athletes will be a great asset to The University of Alabama and our gymnastics program," Duckworth added.

COACHES/STAFF

A former U.S. Junior Olympic National All-Around Champion, a U.S. National Championships all-around bronze medalist and a three-year member of the U.S. Junior National Team, Roberts helped lead the United States to a win in the 1996 USA vs. Canada meet.

“I identify with Dana’s philosophy and vision for the team along with her passion to see her student-athletes be the best on the competition floor as well as be the best version of themselves outside the gym,” Roberts said.

A much sought after coach at gymnastics clinics and camps across the nation, Roberts spent six years as head coach of the Nedre Glomma Turn Gymnastics Club in Fredrikstad, Norway prior to joining the WOGA staff.

Roberts also served as the Norwegian National Team head coach for numerous international competitions including European Championships, Challenger Cups, Northern European Championships and Nordic Championships. In fall 2013, he was head coach of the Norwegian Senior and Junior National Team camps, and of developmental camps for Norway’s future national team and international competitors.

A former communications officer and platoon commander in the U.S. Marine Corps, Roberts’ coaching career spans 20-plus years, including a number of years at West Coast Elite Gymnastics (Arcadia, Calif.).

“In addition to his technical knowledge of the sport and professionalism, his diverse background, education, military and professional experience will make a huge difference for our gymnasts and staff,” Duckworth said.

Roberts competed for two years at the University of New Mexico before finishing his career as a two-time NCAA qualifier at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst, where he earned his bachelor’s degree in psychology in 2003. He also earned a master’s degree in theology from Fuller Theological Seminary in 2010.

Roberts and his wife Hanne have three children, Leo Olav, Aurora Amber and Pax Luca Ryan.

“We are thrilled to have Ryan, Hanne and their children as part of the Alabama gymnastics family, the Tuscaloosa community and the Crimson Tide nation,” Duckworth said.

GYMNASTICS ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

For every minute that Alabama gymnastics shines in the white-hot spotlight of national success, there are thousands of behind-the-scenes details that make it possible. For the Crimson Tide, there are two women charged with handling those details and keeping everything running smoothly. Robin Kelley, the Tide's operations coordinator, and Mabry Craddock, in her first year as the Tide's events and program relations coordinator, work hard every day to keep the Alabama gymnastics world shining bright and running like a well-oiled machine.

ROBIN
KELLEY

OPERATIONS COORDINATOR

The Crimson Tide's director of operations, Robin Kelley is in her 19th year with the Alabama gymnastics program, though she has been a part of the athletics department for the past 22 years.

The Northport, Ala., native performs a wide variety of duties, including keeping up with the program's recruiting correspondence, budget, travel arrangements and team meals. She also travels with the Tide, taking care of all the many details on the road.

"Robin is such a treasure," Dana Duckworth said. "She makes travel a breeze, taking care of everything and keeping us moving forward at all times."

Kelley was presented with the David Dutton Memorial Award, given to the individual who goes above and beyond for the program, in 2013 and the University's Sam S. May Commitment to Service Award in 2019.

Kelley and her husband Jay have two sons, Tanner, who is a University of Alabama graduate, and Jesse.

MABRY
CRADDOCK

EVENTS AND PROGRAM RELATIONS
COORDINATOR

As the Crimson Tide's events and program relations coordinator, Mabry Craddock is responsible for a wide variety of tasks, from daily paperwork to home meet coordination to alumni relations and everything in between.

The Winter Haven, Fla., native began working with the gymnastics program as an Alabama freshman, and was part of the crew that put on the 2014 SEC Championships as well as the 2016 and 2018 NCAA Regional Championships.

"Mabry has been preparing for this role since she first stepped on campus," Duckworth said. "She is a tremendous addition to our staff and one that really cares about this program and our ladies."

After graduating from Alabama in 2016 with a degree in exercise science, Craddock spent a year in New York City doing marketing for the New York Yankees events department before returning to Alabama where she coached at Mountain Brook Gymnastics for two years before joining the UA gymnastics staff in the summer of 2019.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HEALTH AND WELLNESS STAFF

As important as it is to assemble a great team on the floor every season, it is just as important to the Alabama gymnastics team to have the perfect staff helping maintain the health and wellness of its student-athletes. To that end, in conjunction with the Crimson Tide's team physicians, led by Dr. Jimmy Robinson, the trio of Monica Kirkpatrick, David Albaranes and Rainey Gerald, along with their respective staffs, work tirelessly to keep the Crimson Tide in top physical condition.

ATHLETIC TRAINER

MONICA
KIRKPATRICK

ATHLETIC TRAINER

There is nothing more important to Dana Duckworth than the health and welfare of her gymnasts, which is why athletic trainer Monica Kirkpatrick, now in her 21st year as a member of the gymnastics program, is such an important part of Duckworth's staff.

"Monica is an amazing asset to our program," Duckworth said. "She is so knowledgeable not only when it comes to athletic training in general, but after more than a dozen years working with our program, she knows exactly how to apply that knowledge when it comes to the sport of gymnastics. There's no one better when it comes to taking care of our ladies."

A native of Phoenix, Ariz., Kirkpatrick earned her Bachelor's Degree in Exercise Science from Arizona State in 2000. She earned a Master's in Sports Medicine Health Care from Alabama in 2002 and is pursuing a second Master's in Food and Nutrition.

In addition to serving as a certified athletic trainer on the Tide staff, Kirkpatrick is also a clinical instructor in Alabama's athletic training undergraduate program.

Much of Kirkpatrick's day-to-day work, especially in the preseason, is spent on preventative measures, helping stop problems before they get started. During the season, most of her time is spent helping the athletes maintain their health and fitness levels.

"Positive reinforcement is a big part of the job," Kirkpatrick said. "To be there every day, encouraging them, letting them know that they are making progress and keeping them positive."

Kirkpatrick is ever-present throughout the rehabilitation process to help the gymnasts return to peak health as quickly and safely as possible. Kirkpatrick worked extensively with 2002 senior Andree Pickens, helping her come back from a torn Achilles tendon. She was part of a team that included orthopedic surgeon Dr. James Andrews, who helped Pickens not only come back in record time but lead Alabama to its fourth NCAA Championship in 2002. For her efforts that season, Kirkpatrick was awarded the David Dutton Memorial Award, presented to individuals who go above and beyond the call of duty for the Alabama gymnastics program.

In addition to her other duties, Kirkpatrick teaches her charges the importance of carrying on healthy habits into the life beyond their career.

"I hope that I can teach them all enough about taking care of themselves, that when they go out into the world, they enjoy healthy and successful lives," Kirkpatrick said. "And being part of the Alabama gymnastics family, I look forward to watching them grow and mature over the years."

Kirkpatrick and her husband Billy have four children, daughters Ayana and Shiloh, as well as sons Hayden and Christian.

STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

DAVID ALBARANES

ASSISTANT STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING COACH

In his second season as Alabama gymnastics' strength and conditioning coach, David Albaranes has made an immediate impact on the Crimson Tide program.

"When we were looking to add to our staff, we knew that David was who we wanted to bring in," UA head coach Dana Duckworth said. "Strength and conditioning is a vital part of any program. He is extremely knowledgeable about the sport of gymnastics and the best way to integrate effective strength and conditioning programs into our program."

A NSCA certified strength and conditioning specialist and an ACSM certified exercise physiologist, Albaranes joined the Alabama staff after a year at the University of Illinois. While with the Illini, he worked with both the men's and women's gymnastics programs as well as the swimming and diving teams and the cheerleading program.

"I am so excited to work side by side with the coaching and athletic training staff to ensure that our student athletes stay healthy throughout the year and are ready to peak during championship season," Albaranes said. "I started gymnastics when I was 10 years old, so nothing in sports get me more fired up than a stick. That guy throwing his hands in the air and yelling 'Let's GO,' after every stick ... that's definitely me."

A 2015 graduate of The College at Brockport, he was a double major in exercise science and kinesiology. Following that, he pursued a master's degree in exercise science and sports studies at Springfield College.

While at Springfield, he served as a graduate assistant coach with the gymnastics team, helping develop and implement the training structure

He served as a graduate assistant strength and conditioning coach at Springfield during the 2017-18 academic year, working with the men's gymnastics team.

During the spring semester of 2018, Albaranes served as an adjunct member of the faculty, teaching junior and senior strength and conditioning courses that focused on needs analysis, program design, periodization, core training, energy system development, and monitoring training load.

Other stops prior to joining the Crimson Tide included serving as a summer intern in strength and conditioning at Harvard in 2017 as well as an exercise physiologist at Peak Performance during the 2015-16 academic year.

While at the College at Brockport, he was a four-year member of the men's gymnastics club team, serving as captain during his senior year. He also served as president of the Omicron Delta Kappa leadership honor society during the 2014-15 academic year.

ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HEALTH AND WELLNESS STAFF

TEAM PHYSICIANS

When Dr. Jimmy Robinson discusses his work with the Alabama Crimson Tide, you can hear the excitement in his voice.

"When I was doing my residency, I got bit by the sports medicine bug," Robinson said. "The more I worked with the teams, the more I wanted to do this kind of medicine."

During his family practice residency in Tuscaloosa, Robinson worked with the Crimson Tide athletics department and even traveled with the gymnastics team to Salt Lake City in 1988 and was on hand for the Tide's first ever NCAA championship.

"It was a blast," Robinson said. "I was still in training and just getting interested in sports medicine. So, to be out there with the gymnasts when they won the first championship Alabama has ever had outside of football, it was definitely an exciting moment."

After completing a fellowship in sports medicine at the Cleveland Clinic in Cleveland, Ohio, Robinson returned to Tuscaloosa and the Crimson Tide serving as the team physician for the Olympic sports programs.

"I came back and opened a practice in August of 1989 and have been with the University ever since," Robinson said.

"Jimmy Robinson brings so much to our program in terms of his knowledge not just of sports medicine, but of gymnastics," Alabama head coach Dana Duckworth said. "He is an amazing resource when it comes to keeping our ladies healthy."

Robinson also oversees Alabama Athletics' team physician program, which includes Dr. Craig Buettner, Dr. Jeff Laubenthal, a former Crimson Tide baseball player and the husband of former UA gymnast Katherine Kelleher Laubenthal, and Dr. Ray Stewart, among others.

Robinson and his colleagues are involved in all levels of an athlete's healthcare, from the first physical of the year before an athlete can even start practice, to an exit physical at the end of an athlete's career, and everything in between. In addition to the attention of Robinson, Buettner, Laubenthal and Stewart, the Tide has several specialists on call including former Alabama quarterback Dr. Les Fowler who serves as the department's orthopedist.

Alabama athletes can also count on Dr. James Andrews who serves on the Tide's medical staff as a consultant. One of the world's foremost orthopedic surgeons, Andrews is internationally known and recognized for his scientific and clinical research contributions in knee, shoulder and elbow injuries and his skill as an orthopedic surgeon. Many of the world's outstanding athletes seek his expertise in sports injuries. His work with André Pickens' ruptured Achilles' tendon allowed her to not only compete her senior year but compete at a higher level than before the injury. Pickens led Alabama to the 2002 NCAA Championship and captured the NCAA uneven bars crown that same year.

In the fall of 2006, Andrews and Dr. Lyle Cain, another Alabama team physician, removed bone chips from both of Terin Humphrey's elbows, allowing her greater range of motion than she had in many years. Their expertise had Humphrey back in the lineup for the start of the season and winning her second NCAA uneven bars championship by April of 2007.

PERFORMANCE NUTRITION

Rainey Gerald and the performance nutrition staff are the Crimson Tide's secret weapons when it comes to keeping its gymnasts fueled and ready at all times for whatever is on the horizon, whether it's practice, competition or the recovery phase of the season.

Gerald is in her third season with the gymnastics team and second year as full-time member of the performance nutrition staff after serving as an intern for two years.

"It is rewarding to work with the high achieving young women on our team," Gerald said. "Collaborating with the staff and student-athletes, to support their physical development and positively affect their nutrition and performance is important. Setting realistic goals and impacting our team's recovery are key components of our success."

A 2013 graduate of Saint Joseph's Academy in Baton Rouge, La., Gerald earned her undergraduate degree in food and nutrition in 2017 and a master's degree in human environmental sciences in 2018, both from Alabama.

Gerald is part of director of Performance Nutrition Amy Bragg's staff which oversees the nutritional coaching for Alabama's student-athletes as well as managing training table, pregame and travel meals.

"With gymnastics, we want to integrate with sports medicine and strength and conditioning and take an educator's role and a coaching role with the girls," Bragg said. "We work with them on their overall nutrition and then work with the team more in an operations capacity, helping plan meals on the road and nutrition in the locker room and for recovery on a team-wide basis."

They also work closely with the coaching, strength and conditioning and sports medicine staffs to maximize gymnasts' health and performance.

"Amy, Rainey and the performance nutrition staff are amazing assets to our program," head coach Dana Duckworth said. "Their knowledge and expertise give us an amazing boost in keeping our ladies healthy and strong."

The Tide's Performance Nutrition staff's duties are broad-based, but the focus is specific to each program. With gymnastics, planning and insight has been very effective.

"For gymnasts, we want precise, confident fueling," Bragg said. "We want the appropriate amount of protein. We want good weight management through the season. We want maintenance of that muscle and body that we create in the offseason so that power is maintained through the season."

Duckworth and the gymnastics staff work with the Tide's performance nutrition group to make sure that the gymnasts get exactly the fuel they need to be at their best throughout the season.

"We work together to continue the plan we have put in place over the last several years that is focused on a balance of the mind, body and spirit which includes a focus on natural foods," Duckworth said.

Before the 2018-19 academic year, the Crimson Tide's 25,000-square foot Fuel Center and Smoothie Bar addition to the Mal Moore Athletics Facility came online.

The building has serving areas on two levels, 10 action stations, a grab-and-go fuel center, a smoothie bar and more than 50 HD televisions. There are also two outdoor patio dining areas and a private dining space housed on the upper level for meetings, nutrition education and cooking demonstrations. In addition to Bragg and Gerald, the performance nutrition staff includes four registered dietitians, five performance chefs and more than 20 assistants.

"Our new performance nutrition center is absolutely amazing," Duckworth said. "It gives us everything we need to be successful from a nutritional perspective under one roof and the resources to not only provide fuel for our ladies, but also to educate them on how to properly fuel themselves on a daily basis."

- The Crimson Tide has won an NCAA-best 32 regional championships, including the 2018 Tuscaloosa Regional title
- Alabama has also won nine SEC titles, including four of the past 12

Alabama gymnastics' 2020 season came to an abrupt end just hours before the team was slated to leave for its final regular-season meet, due to the COVID-19 global pandemic. Just like that, a promising season was over.

"As a team, when we found out that our season was over last spring, we knew that we had so much more left in us in that season," senior Lexi Graber said.

After a spring and summer in quarantine, the Crimson Tide returned to campus with hopes of a season. Soon, those hopes became plans and the plans became a 2021 schedule.

"We are all just so hungry to continue where we left off," Graber said. "We are just so grateful to have a season, to have each other, and to compete Friday by Friday."

The season will be different in many ways, including the number of meets, and how many fans can attend those meets. For a Crimson Tide program that is accustomed to crowds of 10 to 15 thousand, this seasons attendance in Coleman Coliseum will be capped at 2,055. That means that both at home and on the road, the 2021 Crimson Tide will have to not only maintain the "Bama Bubble," but also generate its own enthusiasm.

"We make that energy every single day in practice," senior Alonza Klopfer said. "I tell the girls that all the time and that we need each other. We are always one with the person on the beam, the floor, the bars and the vault, so we create that energy every day."

The 2021 Alabama gymnastics schedule features a Southeastern Conference only regular season that begins Jan. 8 at home against Kentucky.

"This team has a heart of gratitude – they come in every day with the attitude of 'we get to compete,'" head coach Dana Duckworth said. "The SEC-only schedule is set up so that we have four meets, a weekend off, and then four more meets, but we're just focused on taking it one Friday at a time."

The Crimson Tide will face seven SEC opponents, including a home-and-home series with Kentucky, to make up its eight-meet - four home and four road - dual meet schedule.

Per the league office, "The 2021 SEC gymnastics season will be comprised of eight meets per school over a 10-week conference-only schedule, with the regular-season concluding with the SEC Gymnastics Championships on March 20 in New Orleans. The decision to limit competition to conference-only opponents is based on the need for maximum flexibility in making any necessary scheduling adjustments while reacting to developments around the COVID-19 pandemic and continued advice from medical professionals. The schedule will include two open dates for all schools in Week 5 and Week 10 to allow for rescheduling of postponed events."

In addition to the Wildcats on Jan. 8, the Crimson Tide will host Auburn (Jan. 22), LSU (Feb. 19) and Florida (March 5) in Coleman Coliseum.

Alabama's road slate opens with Missouri (Jan. 15) and includes visits to Kentucky (Jan. 29), Georgia (Feb. 12) and Arkansas (Feb. 26).

The bye weekends are scheduled for Feb. 5 and March 12.

The postseason will open with the Southeastern Conference Championships the weekend of March 20 with the location still to be determined.

The three-day NCAA Regional Championships will be held in four locations across the country, including Salt Lake City, Utah, Columbia, Mo., Athens, Ga. and Morgantown, W.Va., the weekend of April 1-3.

The NCAA Championships are slated for April 16-17 in Ft. Worth, Texas at Dickie Arena.

"Even though this is going to be a very different season in so many ways for Team 47, our goal remains the same," Duckworth said. "We are working tirelessly to be on the floor of the NCAA Championship on the last night of the season with a chance to win."

TRAVELING IN STYLE WITH THE CRIMSON TIDE

Oh, the places they'll go! An Alabama gymnast will travel far and wide during her Crimson Tide tenure and will get there in style. Alabama travels to the vast majority of its competitions by charter plane, keeping time away from home to a minimum. Chartering also allows head coach Dana Duckworth to adjust departure times to best accommodate her student-athletes' class schedules.

Nothing brings a team together like time on the road. Time on the plane is spent studying, reading, listening to music and watching movies. Time is also spent chatting, singing and generally having a good time.

Just to make sure everything runs smoothly on a trip, a travel card is handed out before the Tide sets off for the Tuscaloosa Airport, detailing the schedule, what to wear and other important information.

During the regular season, once the plane touches down, a bus comes plane-side to pick the Tide up and take them to the hotel. The team then makes its way to a team dinner, usually at a well-known local restaurant that has the kind of variety where the gymnasts, coaches and staff can sample local cuisine or personal favorites.

Back at the hotel after dinner, everyone goes their own way, some back to their room to study or chat, some gathering in one room or another to watch a movie.

Breakfast usually finds everyone on their own, after which there is a trip to the mall arranged for those who want to hit the shops.

Team lunch starts the pre-meet ritual, with the Tide taking over a section of a local restaurant or having the meal catered at the hotel. After the competition, the bus takes Alabama back to the airport, where the charter plane stands ready to whisk them back to Tuscaloosa.

On longer trips, especially during the postseason, Alabama travels with its massage therapist, allowing them to get massages in preparation for competition.

While many trips find the Tide flying in and out of town for a meet, the trips are sometimes stretched to accommodate some exploring.

In half of the past dozen years, trips to the West Coast have allowed Alabama to see the sites, including stops in Seattle, and a trip to the Space Needle and the exterior set of "Grey's Anatomy," San Francisco, for cable car rides and wandering around Fisherman's Wharf, and Los Angeles, with tours of Hollywood and a walk on the red carpet at Sony Studios.

The gymnasts aren't the only ones hitting the road for away meets. The Tide has a dedicated group of family, friends and fans who follow them from one end of the country to the other. There is never a meet that doesn't see some crimson and white-clad fans in the stands. And for those that can't make it to an away meet, the Tide utilizes different websites and social media platforms to keep its fan base around the world informed of all things Alabama gymnastics.

The 2020 NCAA gymnastics season was cut short one meet shy of the end of the regular season due to the COVID-19 global pandemic. The Crimson Tide closed the season with a win over Georgia on Senior Night, giving UA a 6-4-1 record, including a 5-2-0 mark in Southeastern Conference competition. The Tide was also one of just six teams in the nation and one of just two in the Southeastern Conference, to post better than a 197.000 season average. Here are just a few more of the highlights from 2020:

2020 CRIMSON TIDE HONORS

During the Crimson Tide's annual awards banquet, held virtually in 2020, the highest honor bestowed upon an Alabama gymnast each season, The Lewis Each Courage Award, went to Griffin James.

Other awards included: Team Captains: Wynter Childers and Shea Mahoney; Dana Dobransky Commitment to Excellence Award: Volunteer Assistant Coach Aja Sims; David Dutton Memorial Award: Assistant Marketing and Promotions Director Meaghan Hall; David Desantis Community Service Award: Jensie Givens; Newcomer of the Year: Luisa Blanco; Fern Hampton Academic Award: Maddie Desch; David Patterson Work Ethic Award: Lexi Graber.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Alabama tallied the most Scholastic All-America honors of any team that finished among the top 12 in the final national rankings during the 2020 season. The Crimson Tide ranked No. 8 nationally when the season ended, led the Southeastern Conference in terms of percentage of the team earning Scholastic All-America honors at 83 percent. Alabama's 2019-20 Scholastic All-Americans included:

Luisa Blanco, Ella Burgess, Maddie Desch, Kylie Dickson, Makarri Doggette, Jensie Givens, Lexi Graber, Griffin James, Bailie Key, Alonza Klopfer, Shea Mahoney, Sania Mitchell, Shallon Olsen, Macy Orosco and Mati Waligora. The Tide's 15 Scholastic All-Americans is the third-highest total in school history, behind a school-record 19 in 2017 and 16 in 2019. Alabama finished the 2019-20 season with a 3.61 team grade point average, marking the 15th year in a row that Crimson Tide gymnastics has posted a team GPA of 3.4 or better.

PACKING THEM IN

Alabama gymnastics averaged over 10,000 fans per meet for the 17th year in a row in 2020 and the 18th time overall, averaging 10,382, ranking the Crimson Tide among the top-5 women's collegiate programs in terms of average attendance for the 14th years in a row. Alabama's 2020 average puts it in rare company. Alabama gymnastics, South Carolina basketball, Utah gymnastics, Oregon basketball and LSU gymnastics were the only collegiate women's programs to average more than 10,000 fans per home contest in 2019-20. Alabama has drawn crowds of 10,000-plus 85 times since first breaking the 10,000 barrier on March 4, 1995, when 12,021 fans flooded Coleman Coliseum for a meet against Georgia. Alabama's 2020 total included a single-meet best of 11,630 fans against Missouri on February 7.

INSIDE THE SCORE SHEET

A total of 13 gymnasts went in the Crimson Tide's competitive lineup in 2020, with all 13 contributing at least six routines this season. The freshman class led the way with Makarri Doggette, Luisa Blanco and Ella Burgess combining for 62 routines over the nine-meet season. All three seniors and all three juniors went in the lineup with the juniors contributing 56 routines and the seniors 49. Four sophomores went in the lineup, chipping in 49 routines.

Lexi Graber led the Tide with 33 routines in 2020, including seven all-around appearances. Shea Mahoney and Shallon Olsen tied for second in routines with 24, while Doggette and Blanco tied for fourth with 23 apiece.

NOTES FROM THE 2020 SEASON

- With a eighth-place national finish in 2020, the Crimson Tide remains one of just two schools in collegiate gymnastics history to finish in the top 12 nationally every year since 1982.
- Freshman Makarri Doggette earned All-America honors on the uneven bars, extending Alabama's streak of at least one such honor to 37 years in a row. She is the 75th Alabama gymnast to earn All-America honors.
- Maddie Desch and Ariana Guerra were named to the 2020 1A FAR Academic Excellence Award. The award, presented by the 1A Faculty Athletics Representatives (FAR) Board, goes to student-athletes who graduate with a cumulative grade point average of 3.80 or above and have participated in at least two years of NCAA intercollegiate athletics at a Football Bowl Subdivision institution.
- Alabama swept the Women's College Gymnastics Association Region 1 staff honors, with Dana Duckworth earning Head Coach of the Year, Bill Lorenz and Ryan Roberts sharing Assistant Coach of the Year honors and Robin Kelley being named Administrator of the Year in 2020.
- The Crimson Tide brought home several Southeastern Conference honors in 2020 including Shea Mahoney and Alonza Klopfer, who were named the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year and to the SEC Community Service Team, respectively. Makarri Doggette and Luisa Blanco earned spots on the SEC All-Freshman team and were both named SEC Specialists of the Week during the regular season.
- Alabama gymnastics earned the NCAA Public Recognition Award for the sixth year in a row in 2020.

Graber posted a career-best 9.975 on the vault at Florida, leading to a 39.625 all-around total, the second highest total of her career. She also used a career-best tying 39.650 to win the all-around against Missouri, the highest score by a Crimson Tide gymnast during the regular season since Kiana Winston posted a 39.700 against Florida on Feb. 3, 2017.

Doggette posted a career-best 9.950 on the floor exercise to lead the Tide on the event against LSU and twice went 9.950 on the uneven bars, including posting one at Florida to win the event. She also scored a 39.500 in her all-around debut against Missouri, making her the first UA freshman to post a 39.500-or-better in the all-around since Katie Bailey went 39.525 in the 2014 NCAA Championships Super Six Finals.

Mahoney posted career-best marks of 9.900 on the vault and 9.950 on the floor exercise against Kentucky to lead the Tide on those events.

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE — A LEGACY OF CHAMPIONS

It started quietly. The University of Alabama's brand-new gymnastics squad, under the direction of Riki Sutton that first year, came together in the fall of 1974 and would compete for the first time in January of 1975. That first team finished third at the state championships and sixth at the regionals. Through the first four seasons of the program there are four different coaches and no winning seasons, and there is talk about discontinuing the program. That talk will come to an abrupt halt soon though, because things are about to get better for the young program, much, much better.

In the summer of 1978, "Grease" reigned at the box office and ABBA's "Take a Chance on Me" filled dance floors coast to coast. "Laverne and Shirley" was the most popular TV series on the air, though it was in re-runs. It is the summer of 1978 and things are about to turn around for the Crimson Tide, because Sarah Patterson has said yes.

She didn't ask about salary, or facilities or equipment. When the letter came asking if she would be Alabama's head coach, Patterson, all of 22 years old and just out of Slippery Rock State College, gave the Crimson Tide an emphatic and unequivocal "yes."

Her first move as Alabama's coach was to hire David Patterson, coming out of his freshman year as a Crimson Tide diver, as an assistant coach. The couple, married in 1984, then turned to the task at hand, taking a team without a winning season and creating a juggernaut that has performed at the highest conceivable level for more than three decades.

The adventures along the way came fast and furious. Sarah found herself explaining to her boss Paul "Bear" Bryant, the Tide's legendary football coach and athletics director, why a wrestling mat with a hole in the middle wouldn't do as a floor exercise mat.

"Once I explained what we needed," Sarah Patterson said, "Coach Bryant told Coach Sam Bailey (Bryant's right-hand man administratively) to get us what we needed. Coach Bryant wanted all our sports to be winners and he was willing to provide us with the tools."

And the facilities that Sarah hadn't asked about when taking the job, started with Foster Auditorium, where the Tide shared its practice space with the volleyball team.

"It was interesting," David Patterson said. "Every once in a while you'd have a stray volleyball come zinging through practice. Before every practice we'd have to set up all the equipment and the mats and at the end of every practice we'd have to break it all down again."

Things progressed quickly though. Prior to their first season, Sarah and David scoured the dorms on campus looking for anyone with tumbling experience, just so they could fill their lineup. They were though, doing some far more important recruiting farther afield.

In signing their first class, Sarah and David made one basic promise to their recruits. They promised the freshmen of 1980 that they would go to the national championships.

"The first real defining moment of our program was the first year we went to NCAAAs," Sarah said. "Our first recruiting class was in their senior year. We had promised them that we would make it to NCAAAs. In their junior year, we finished 11th and they took 10 teams. At the end of 1982, we all knew that we had one year to fulfill our commitment to these ladies. Seeing it happen their senior year, making it to the NCAA Championships — I couldn't have been prouder."

One promise fulfilled and another goal on the horizon. Sarah and David built their program, almost from scratch on the simple premise that Alabama would develop the whole person instead of just the athlete. From the beginning, Patterson-coached student-athletes excelled not only in the gym, but in the classroom as well. And beyond that, they developed lives outside of both. By the mid-1980s, the Pattersons began to wonder if their system would take the Tide to a national championship. They began to wonder if the Tide could truly have the best of all worlds.

The answer came as another emphatic yes in 1988 when the Tide won its first Southeastern Conference and NCAA championships.

"Before '88, I think sometimes we looked back and said, 'Maybe you can't have this philosophy of developing the whole person and be number one,'" Sarah Patterson said. "When we won, it was a validation of that philosophy. We could do it this way and be successful on all fronts. We may not win every year, but we will be successful."

And just to prove that 1988 was no fluke, the Pattersons led the Tide to NCAA titles in 1991, 1996, 2002, 2011 and 2012. Under their direction, Alabama is the only gymnastics program to win NCAA championships in four different decades.

Everything else has progressed as well. Alabama is also one of the nation's top academic programs, earning a national-best 19 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships and over 300 SEC Academic Honor Roll honors. And long gone are the days of stray volleyballs flying through practice. Since 1996, the Tide has trained in a state-of-the-art practice facility dedicated to gymnastics alone.

The fan base has grown by leaps and bounds as well. Alabama gymnastics is one of the top draws in women's collegiate athletics, averaging a school and SEC-record 13,786 fans in 2010 and ranked second in the nation for all women's sports in 2014, 2013 and 2011 and third in 2012, 2015 and 2016. That wasn't always the case, though.

"In the early days, we'd have three dozen people and two dozen would be Ann Wood's family and friends," Sarah Patterson said.

Most importantly to all involved is that the student-athletes who helped turn Alabama into a national powerhouse have themselves developed into outstanding women making a difference in the world around them. The Tide's all-time roster is filled with doctors, lawyers, mothers and executives all excelling at the highest level.

"We are so proud of all the ladies who have come through our program and every championship won and every honor earned," Sarah Patterson said. "But more than anything, we are proud of the tremendously rich and full lives they go on to lead after graduation. To have been a small part of their success is a great thrill."

Things certainly changed, grew and blossomed since those first days of Alabama gymnastics success. Fast forward to the summer of 2014 and "Scandal," "The Voice" and "Modern Family" were keeping everyone glued to the small screens, while super heroes, including the X-Men, Captain America and the Guardians of the Galaxy, reigned supreme on the big screen, filling the theaters. On the radio, the ladies ruled the charts with Nicki Minaj, Ariana Grande and Iggy Azalea leading the way.

The summer of 2014 also saw a passing of the torch as Sarah and David Patterson — after helping the little program that couldn't quite find its feet in the 1970s win six NCAA championships, eight Southeastern Conference crowns, 29 NCAA Regional titles, 25 individual NCAA championships and earn 302 All-America honors — stepped down from coaching and Dana (Dobransky) Duckworth, who grew up in the program as an NCAA champion, volunteer coach and assistant coach took up the challenge of carrying the Tide into the future.

Embracing the mindset that created more than just one of the nation's best overall athletic programs, but a family that stretches back to the class of 1975 through the freshmen of 2020, Duckworth continues a philosophy that echoes another top song from 1978, this one by Sister Sledge, one that perfectly sums up Alabama gymnastics, "We are family ... I got all my sisters and me ..."

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

On April 9,

2020, Dana Duckworth (head coach of the year), Bill Lorenz and Ryan Roberts (assistant coaches of the year) and Robin Kelley (administrator of the Year) sweep the Women's Collegiate Gymnastics Association (WCGA) Region 1 staff awards, a program first.

Shea Mahoney was announced as the 2020 SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year on March 18, 2020 after a vote by the conference's coaches, giving Alabama gymnasts a league-best seven SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors in the 17-year history of the award. Mahoney earned a bachelor's degree in communications studies in just three years with a 3.9 grade point average and a master's degree in sports management with a 4.0 GPA.

On April 19, 2019, Abby Armbrecht earned All-America honors at the NCAA Championships in Fort Worth, Texas, when she scored a 9.9125 on the floor exercise. With that accolade, the Mobile, Ala., native became the 74th Alabama gymnast to earn All-America recognition since Julie Garrett earned the Tide's first honor in 1982. It was also the 34th year in a row that an Alabama gymnast earned All-America recognition.

On March 24, 2020, Makarri Doggette capped a COVID-19 shortened season as a WCGA Regular Season All-American on the uneven bars becoming the 75th Alabama gymnast to be recognized as an All-American bringing the Crimson Tide's all-time total of All-America accolades to 357. Doggette finished her rookie season with a 9.905 national qualifying score on the uneven bars.

In gymnastics, the number 10 is always magical, so there was a little extra cause for celebration when Kiana Winston became Alabama gymnastics' 10th Paul W. Bryant Student-Athlete Award recipient on April 16, 2018. Winston, an 11 time All-American and four-year Scholastic All-American who graduated in December 2017 with a psychology degree, was the female winner of the award created by the Tuscaloosa County Chapter of the University of Alabama Alumni Association in 1985 to honor the UA Athletics Department's top student-athlete.

On April 5, 2018, the Southeastern Conference announces Mackenzie Brannan has earned an SEC Postgraduate Scholarship. She went on to earn an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship on May 30, 2018, making her the 11th Alabama gymnast to earn both scholarships, giving the Tide gymnastics program 21 NCAA and 12 SEC postgraduate scholarships, with both totals leading gymnastics programs in the nation and the conference, respectively.

On October 14, 2017, for the fifth time in program history, an Alabama gymnast is recognized at halftime of a Crimson Tide football game as a member of the UA Homecoming Court when Mackenzie Brannan is escorted to midfield of Bryant-Denny Stadium by her father Ron. The University of Alabama Homecoming Court is selected by a campus-wide vote of current UA students.

On July 25, 2017, the Crimson Tide sets an amazing school record when every member of its largest team - 19 strong - earns Scholastic All-America honors, a total that leads the nation. The total shatters UA's previous mark of 14, set in 2011 and matched in 2016. To be a Scholastic All-American, a gymnast must have a 3.5 or better GPA either for the previous academic year, or for their career. Alabama also posted the highest team grade point average of any school that advanced to the 2017 NCAA Championships Super Six Team Final after earning a 3.6 GPA. The Crimson Tide's team GPA also led the Southeastern Conference schools by nearly two-tenths of a point.

On June 29, 2017, it is announced that Keely McNeer has earned a prestigious NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship. It is the 20th NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship to go to a Crimson Tide gymnast and the 10th since the 2010 season. Both totals lead all collegiate gymnastics programs.

On April 14, 2017, Katie Bailey soars through the air, winning Alabama's 27th individual NCAA Championship when she earns top honors on her specialty, the uneven bars. It marks her second individual national title after winning the vault in 2016. With the win, Bailey is the seventh UA gymnast to win two or more individual NCAA title. It is also Alabama's sixth NCAA uneven bars titles.

On April 1, 2017, Aja Sims wins Alabama's 100th individual NCAA regional championship since the 1997 regional championship, when she took top honors on the floor exercise with a 9.95. It also marked the 34th-consecutive year that Alabama gymnastics has won at least one individual regional title.

On April 15, 2016, for the first time in the history of the NCAA Gymnastics Championships, individual national titles are decided on the first day of competition, as the 12 teams vie for a spot in the Super Six Team finals. As Alabama begins its fourth and final event of the evening, the vault, junior Katie Bailey sweeps down the runway and onto the top of the awards podium, posting a career-best 9.95 to win the 2016 NCAA vault championship. It is the 26th individual national title for the Tide and the fifth vault championship.

On June 9, 2016, Lauren Beers not only becomes the second Alabama gymnast to earn a place on the CoSIDA Academic All-America At-Large Team three times in a career (joining Kassie Price), but she is named the At-Large Team's Academic All-American of the Year, marking the 10th time an Alabama student-athlete has earned the that highly coveted honor, and the fourth time a Crimson Tide gymnast has earned the highly coveted accolade (Kim Jacob, 2014, Kayla Hoffman, 2011 and Stephanie Kite, 2005).

On April 13, 2016, Lauren Beers wins an unprecedented third-consecutive Elite 90 Award to give Alabama gymnastics an equally unprecedented clean sweep of the award since its inception in 2010. The Crimson Tide is a perfect seven-for-seven in the award that goes to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average at the final site of each of the NCAA's 90 championships. The Tide is the only program across all sports to sweep the award. Just as Rachel Terry was the first student-athlete to earn the award twice in a career, Beers is the first to earn the honor three times.

On Oct. 18, 2015, Kim Jacob is honored as one of 10 Division I finalist for the 2015 NCAA Woman of the Year at a banquet held in Indianapolis, Ind. She is the 10th Crimson Tide gymnast to be honored by the NCAA Woman of the Year program.

On a very busy Oct. 10, 2015, Dana Duckworth is the second Crimson Tide gymnastics coach to serve as Grand Marshal of Alabama's Homecoming Court and Lauren Beers is the fourth UA gymnast to be voted onto the Homecoming court.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

On March 21, 2015, for the first time in more than three and a half decades, the Alabama gymnastics team walks into the Southeastern Conference Championships with a new head coach. The result was a familiar one though, as Dana Duckworth led the Crimson Tide to its second-consecutive SEC title and ninth overall. Alabama starts strong with an All-SEC performance in the leadoff spot on balance beam by sophomore Keely McNeer. Senior Kaitlyn Clark, who also earned All-SEC honors on the balance beam, wins the second individual SEC title of her career, taking first on the vault. Junior dynamo Carley Sims turns in an All-SEC routine on the floor exercise and just like that, for the second year in a row, it comes down to the uneven bars. In 2014, it took a huge 9.975 routine from Clark in the anchor position to close out the Tide's victory. In 2015, junior Lauren Beers, who earned All-SEC honors in the all-around, locks up the Tide's title in the fifth spot of the uneven bars, giving Alabama its fourth SEC Championship in the past seven years. Seniors Hunter Dennis, Lora Leigh Frost and Kayla Williams, sophomores Katie Bailey, Amanda Jetter, Dominique Pegg, Mary Lillian Sanders, Aja Sims and Mackenzie Valentin and freshmen Mackenzie Brannan, Nickie Guerrero, Jennie Loeb and Kiana Winston round out the Tide's championship roster.

On April 4, 2015, Alabama wins its 30th regional championship, the most in NCAA history, with a 197.575 at the NCAA Auburn Regional Championship. The Crimson Tide also sweeps the individual events, led by Lauren Beers' all-around victory.

In addition to leading Alabama to back-to-back Southeastern Conference titles for the first time in program history, on March 21, 2015 Dana Duckworth becomes the only gymnastics coach in league history to win an SEC title in her inaugural season as head coach. She is the sixth different coach to lead a team to an SEC title and with her win, Alabama is one of just two programs to have two different coaches (Duckworth and Sarah Patterson) win SEC gymnastics titles, with Florida (Ernestine Weaver and Rhonda Faehn) being the other.

On Feb. 13, 2015, during the Crimson Tide's meet against Boise State, more than 80 Alabama gymnastics alumni joined with 11,000-plus fans to honor the newest members of the Tide's alumni family - Sarah and David Patterson. Surrounded by their championship legacy, the Pattersons were then honored for 36 years of Crimson Tide excellence. Later in the evening, David Patterson, a 1982 Crimson Tide graduate is honored by The Medalist Club with the 2015 Distinguished Alumni Award.

From 1974 to 1978, Alabama hired five head gymnastics coaches to the tune of one a year. After that rapid succession of mentors, it would be 36 years before the Crimson Tide would need to make another hire. On July 15, 2014, Dana Dobransky Duckworth is introduced as the Tide's head coach by Director of Athletics Bill Battle with the charge of leading the gymnastics program into the future and continuing the tradition of excellence and legacy of champions that she was instrumental in building as a gymnast, volunteer coach and assistant coach for Alabama. The Michigan native's championship resume includes NCAA Team Championships in all phases of her career and winning individual NCAA gold as a gymnast and choreographing several NCAA Championship floor exercise routines during her tenure as both a volunteer and full-time assistant coach. Duckworth says the basis of the Crimson Tide's success will remain unchanged - "Our goal remains the same: a family environment, in which we will continue to develop scholars, leaders and champions."

The nation's top collegiate female athlete (Honda Cup) and the top NCAA Division I scholar (Capital One Academic All-America of the Year), adds yet another huge honor to the seemingly endless list on November 20, 2014 when it is announced that Kim Jacob has earned the NCAA Top 10 Award. She is the fifth Alabama gymnast to earn the elusive honor that recognizes the top-10 senior student-athletes - regardless of sport, gender or NCAA division - who have completed their athletic eligibility for their success in competition, in the classroom and in the community.

Among the most accomplished gymnasts in Alabama's storied history, All-Americans and Scholastic All-Americans Sarah DeMeo, Kim Jacob and Diandra Milliner extend their championship legacy on May 12, 2014 when all three added NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships to their long list of accolades. The 2014 seniors are the first class in Alabama gymnastics history to collect three of the prestigious scholarships. The 2014 honors up the Tide gymnastics' NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship tally to 18 since Julie Garrett earned the first in 1983, the most of any program in the nation. Jacob also earned a Southeastern Postgraduate Scholarship, giving Alabama gymnastics 11 since Dr. Julie Estin Vaughn brought home the first in 1987.

Already honored as the nation's top gymnast and the top collegiate woman athlete, on July 31, 2014, Kim Jacob is honored as the top scholar-athlete – regardless of sport or gender – when she is named the 2013-14 Capital One Division I Academic All-American of the Year, as selected by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA). A two-time member of the Academic All-American At-Large Team, Jacob is just the second gymnast to earn the singular award.

Winner of the 2014 Honda Award for Gymnastics – given annually to the nation's top gymnast – Kim Jacob is presented the 40th annual Honda Cup on June 30, 2014 as the Collegiate Woman Athlete of the Year in Los Angeles during the live awards broadcast on the CBS Sports Network. Jacob is the first Crimson Tide athlete and just the third gymnast in the history of the award to win the Honda Cup. Jacob was one of 12 women from 12 different sports under consideration for the prestigious accolade that honors the best collegiate NCAA Division I female athlete in the nation over the past academic year.

Kim Jacob, the Crimson Tide's quiet superstar, uses a career-best score on April 18, 2014 to win Alabama's sixth NCAA all-around championship and 25th individual NCAA title overall. Her 39.625 paces the Crimson Tide its 20th NCAA Super Six Team Final.

When Alabama wins the 2014 NCAA Seattle Regional Championship on April 5, 2014, it is not only Alabama's NCAA-record 29th regional title, but it also marks Sarah and David Patterson's 1,000th career win. The duo makes it to 1,000 career wins faster than anyone in the history of collegiate gymnastics, notching their total in the 12th meet of their 36th year.

On March 22, 2014, in front of a heavily partisan Birmingham-based crowd, Alabama wins its eighth Southeastern Conference Championship and the final one under legendary coaches Sarah and David Patterson. Alabama started strong on the balance beam and close with a fantastic finish on the uneven bars, led by junior Kaitlyn Clark who won the uneven bars title with a 9.975. Senior Diandra Milliner took home two titles with a 9.975 on the vault and a 9.950 on the floor exercise. In addition Milliner, senior Kim Jacob and freshman Aja Sims earned All-SEC honors. Sims, Katie Bailey and Amanda Jetter earned SEC All-Freshman accolades. Seniors Sarah DeMeo, Ria Domier and Lindsey Fowler, juniors Hunter Dennis, Lora Leigh Frost and Kayla Williams, sophomores Lauren Beers and Carley Sims, freshman Keely McNeer, Dominique Pegg and Mary Lillian Sanders round out the Tide's championship roster.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

⊙ Earning an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship is nothing new for the Crimson Tide gymnasts, but on May 21, 2013, Ashley Priess and Ashley Sledge break new ground, becoming the first duo to earn the prestigious award in the same year. It was Sledge's second NCAA Scholarship, after earning an NCAA Ethnic Minority and Women's Enhancement Scholarship earlier in the spring. With Priess and Sledge accounting for three NCAA scholarships in one month, Alabama's total rises to 15 since Julie Garrett earned the first in 1983.

⊙ When Alabama gymnastics wins its NCAA Championships Semifinals session on April 19, 2013, the Crimson Tide advanced to the Super Six Team Finals for the 19th time since the format's inception in 1993, breaking a tie with Utah for the most Super Six appearances. Alabama broke away from the pack in terms of Super Six appearances by being the only team in the nation to advance to team finals every year between 2009-13.

⊙ Diandra Milliner opens her junior season with a 9.925 on the vault at Missouri, a score she matches on April 21, 2013 with her last vault of the year. The difference is this last vault, a Yurchenko one and a half, wins the Wichita, Kan., native the 2013 NCAA Vault Championship. It is the Crimson Tide's 24th individual national title and fourth on the vault.

⊙ In what has quickly become an annual occurrence, Kim Jacob picks up Alabama's fourth-consecutive NCAA Elite 90 Award during the NCAA Championship Banquet on April 18, 2013 in Los Angeles, Calif. In the four-year history of the award, which goes to the student-athlete at each of the NCAA's 89 championships with the highest cumulative grade point average, the Crimson Tide is the only women's gymnastics program to win the award.

⊙ After years of planning and months of construction, the Sarah Patterson Champions Plaza officially opens on October 4, 2013 when the Crimson Tide's legendary gymnastics coach and the plaza's namesake cuts the ceremonial ribbon. The beautiful monument highlights not just Sarah and David Patterson's championship legacy, which includes six NCAA Championships and eight Southeastern Conference Championships, but Alabama's championship heritage in all its varsity sports. The plaza, located in front of Coleman Coliseum, includes brick and precision concrete plaques that honor each of Alabama's varsity sports and their history. There is special recognition of Alabama's NCAA and SEC Championship teams and its national championship coaches, all of which are on hand for the plaza's dedication.

⊙ In a scenario that feels familiar, Alabama goes into the final rotation of the NCAA Championships on April 21, 2012, within .025 of the Florida Gators, with one team headed to the balance beam and the other to the floor exercise. But unlike the year before, when Alabama finished off its fifth NCAA title on the floor exercise to beat a UCLA team that finished out on the balance beam, this time it was the Crimson Tide headed to the beam and instead of leading by .025, as it had in 2011, Alabama trailed Florida by the smallest margin possible. The final outcome was the same though, as Alabama posted a 49.5 to beat the Gators by .075 and third-place UCLA by a tenth of a point, the smallest margin between first and third in NCAA history. It marks the first time that Alabama has won back-to-back national titles. The Tide's victory is assured by redshirt junior Ashley Priess, who scores a 9.95 in the final routine of the championship. It was a fitting finish for the Wheaton, Ill., native who was sidelined during Alabama's 2011 championship run following surgery on both ankles. A total of eight Tide gymnasts – Geralen Stack-Eaton, Priess, juniors Marissa Gutierrez and Ashley Sledge, sophomores Kim Jacob, Diandra Milliner and Sarah DeMeo and freshman Kayla Williams – earn 16 All-America honors. Senior Rachel Terry, junior Becca Alexin, sophomores Olivia Carisella, Ria Domier, Lindsey Fowler and Hannah Toussaint and freshmen Kaitlyn Clark, Hunter Dennis, Lora Leigh Frost and Brooke Parker round out Alabama's championship team.

⊙ Already on track to graduate in four years with a bachelor's and master's degree in chemical engineering with matching 4.0 grade point averages, junior Ria Domier solidifies her amazing academic standing on April 12, 2013, when she is named a Goldwater Scholar, earning a prestigious $7,500 a year Goldwater Scholarship. The 2013 Goldwater Scholars were selected on the basis of academic merit from a field of 1,107 mathematics, science and engineering students nominated by the faculties of colleges and universities nationwide.

⊙ Geralen Stack-Eaton closes out her amazing Crimson Tide career by winning her second individual NCAA Championship and Alabama's 23rd overall on April 22, 2012, by taking top honors on the balance beam. The Horsham, Pa., native also finishes second on the floor exercise after winning the event in 2011. She is the sixth Alabama gymnast to win multiple national titles and the fourth to win NCAA gold on two different apparatus.

When Rachel Terry accepts the NCAA Elite 90 Award on April 19, 2012, during the NCAA Championships banquet in Duluth, Ga., she became the first gymnast to earn the award twice. The Hoover, Ala., native's two-year reign in 2011 and 2012 also keeps the award, which is presented annually to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average participating at the finals site for each of the NCAA championships, exclusive to the Crimson Tide after Kassi Price won the inaugural award in 2010. Terry, who carried a perfect 4.0 GPA for her career, graduated from the Capstone with a degree in early childhood education in May 2012, as both an All-American and Scholastic All-American.

On her way to being one of the most decorated student-athletes in Alabama history, Kayla Hoffman adds SEC Female Athlete of the Year honors to her resume when SEC Commissioner Mike Slive hands her the honor at the SEC Legends Dinner on December 2, 2011. She is the fifth Crimson Tide gymnast and sixth Alabama athlete to earn the award.

Already named the Bryant Award Winner, given annually to the athletic department's top student-athlete, the SEC Gymnast of the Year, the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year and the NCAA Central Region Gymnast of the Year, Kayla Hoffman adds to her growing list of honors on June 9, 2011, when she not only earns First Team Academic All-America honors, but is also honored as the Capital One/CoSIDA Academic All-American of the Year. Hoffman is the second Alabama gymnast to earn the accolade, joining 2004 honoree Stephanie Kite.

Every year, athletics directors around the country select the nation's top senior student-athletes, regardless of gender or NCAA division, and honor them with the NCAA Today's Top VIII Award. On November 1, 2011, the NCAA announces that Kayla Hoffman is the fourth Crimson Tide gymnast to earn the award, which recognizes senior student-athletes who have completed their athletic eligibility for their success in competition, in the classroom and in the community.

Kayla Hoffman reaps the rewards of a truly remarkable senior season when she is named the 2011 Honda Award winner on April 27, 2011. She is the sixth UA gymnast to win the honor that annually recognizes the nation's best gymnast.

An extraordinary weekend in Cleveland, Ohio, turns golden all over again on April 17, 2011, when Gerald Stack-Eaton follows up the Crimson Tide's team win the day before with the NCAA Floor Exercise Championship. It is the junior's fourth postseason title of the year and Alabama's 22nd individual national title.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

Alabama goes into the final rotation of the NCAA Championships leading UCLA by the slightest margin and comes out on the other side as national champions on April 16, 2011, in Cleveland, Ohio. The Crimson Tide starts the meet with the highest scoring vault rotation of the day and finishes with the highest floor exercise score led by junior Geralen Stack-Eaton's 9.925 and senior Kayla Hoffman's 9.95. Leading the Bruins by just .025 going into the final rotation, Alabama ends up winning by more than a quarter of a point, posting a 197.650, its second-highest score of the season, to UCLA's 197.375. In addition to giving Alabama its fifth NCAA title, the victory, coming on the heels of SEC and NCAA Regional titles, also caps the Tide's second championship "triple crown." Seven Alabama gymnasts earn 13 All-America honors led by Stack-Eaton's four honors and Hoffman's three. Freshman Kim Jacob earns a pair of All-America honors while sophomores Marissa Gutierrez and Ashley Sledge along with rookies Sarah DeMeo and Diandra Milliner all earn one each. Seniors Alyssa Chapman and Megan Mashburn, juniors Rachel Terry and Ashley Priess, sophomore Becca Alexin and freshmen Olivia Carisella, Ria Domier, Lindsey Fowler, Jordan Moore and Hannah Toussaint are also part of Alabama's championship team.

On March 19, 2011, for the second time in three years and seventh time overall, the Alabama Crimson Tide raises the Southeastern Conference Championship trophy aloft. Starting on the uneven bars, Alabama got better with every rotation and was led by junior Geralen Stack-Eaton, who won the balance beam and floor exercise titles, and senior Kayla Hoffman, who won the vault title with a 9.95. In addition to Stack-Eaton and Hoffman, who both earned first team All-SEC honors, sophomores Marissa Gutierrez and Ashley Sledge both earn second team honors while rookies Sarah DeMeo, Kim Jacob and Diandra Milliner earn both second team and SEC All-Freshman accolades. Seniors Alyssa Chapman and Megan Mashburn, juniors Rachel Terry and Ashley Priess, sophomore Becca Alexin, and freshmen Olivia Carisella, Ria Domier, Lindsey Fowler, Jordan Moore and Hannah Toussaint round out the Tide's championship roster.

On March 19, 2011, Kayla Hoffman kicks her senior season into high gear when she becomes the first student-athlete in league history to win both SEC Gymnast of the Year and the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors in the same season.

More than 13,000 fans came to the Crimson Tide's first Power of Pink meet in 2005 followed by an Alabama and SEC record 15,162 fans the next year. That second Power of Pink meet also saw the first check presentation to the DCH Breast Cancer Fund – $90,000. A fast five years later, the proceeds of the 2010 Tuscaloosa Toyota/DCH Foundation Golf Classic and the fifth Nite on the Green fund raisers in October push the DCH Breast Cancer Fund to a major milestone. On Feb. 19, 2011, prior to the start of the seventh annual Power of Pink meet, a check for $1 million dollars, representing the total raised for the DCH Breast Cancer Fund since its inception, is presented to the DCH Foundation in front of 14,000-plus cheering fans.

It has become such a Crimson Tide habit that it is doubtful many fans noticed when on April 10, 2010, Alabama passed another milestone, winning its 25th NCAA Regional title. On the way to the victory, which propelled the Tide to its 28th-consecutive NCAA Championship appearance, UA gymnasts swept the individual events with sophomores Geralen Stack-Eaton and Ashley Priess taking first and second respectively in the all-around. Only four times since NCAA competition began in 1982, has Alabama not won a regional team title, and all four times the Tide was second.

Kassi Price, who earned countless academic honors during her Crimson Tide career, takes home the inaugural NCAA Elite 88 Award on April 24, 2010. The honor, which Sarah Patterson called the culminating honor of Price's career, is presented to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average participating at the finals site for each of the NCAA's 88 championships. Price receives the award at the NCAA Championship Awards Brunch, during which she is also recognized with her third uneven bars All-America honor.

In another first, Kassi Price becomes the first Alabama student-athlete to earn a place on the prestigious CoSIDA Academic All-America At-Large Team three times in a career when she is named to the first team on May 20, 2010. The at-large team spans 13 women's sports, including bowling, rowing, fencing, field hockey, golf, gymnastics, ice hockey, lacrosse, rifle, skiing, swimming and diving, tennis and water polo.

Forged in the fire of a tough regular season, Alabama's team starts to peak at just the right time and on March 21, 2009, with a total team performance, Alabama wins its sixth Southeastern Conference Championship. The Crimson Tide starts the meet in Nashville, Tenn. with the best vault score of the meet and never lets up, finishing off with a 197.300, to beat second-place Georgia by nearly four-tenths of a point. Junior Morgan Dennis opens the meet by winning the SEC vault title and finishes off the Tide's title with a win on the floor exercise. She earns All-SEC honors for the third year in a row. Junior Ricki Lebegern, sophomore Kayla Hoffman and freshman Ashley Priess all earn second team All-SEC honors while rookies Priess, Geralen Stack-Eaton and Caitlin Sullivan make up more than half of the SEC All-Freshman list. Seniors Brittany Magee, Amanda Montgomery and Ashley O'Neal, juniors Alyssa Chapman, Casey Overton, Kassi Price and Jacqueline Shealy, sophomore Megan Mashburn along with freshmen Jocelyn Fowler, Erika Pearson and Rachel Terry all do their part to bring home the big trophy to Tuscaloosa.

Being first is not new to Barbara Mack Harding. As an Alabama gymnast in the early 1980s, she was the first, and to date only, freshman to be chosen captain of a Sarah Patterson coached team. She also led Alabama to its first NCAA Championship appearance as a sophomore in 1983. Harding was among Alabama's first All-Americans and NCAA Regional and SEC Champions. And on September 6, 2008, she led the way again, becoming the first female to be honored with the Paul W. Bryant Alumni-Athlete Award, which recognizes those outstanding alumni whose accomplishments since leaving the Capstone represent excellence in the areas of character, contributions to society, professional achievement and service to their community. It wasn't the first time that Harding was honored with an award bearing the name of Alabama's legendary football coach, who won six national championships with the Crimson Tide during his 25-year Alabama career. She was the inaugural winner of the Paul W. Bryant Scholar-Athlete Award as a senior in 1985.

When Alabama sells out its 2008 meeting with Georgia, it is exciting, but nothing new. The Tide has sold out one meet each of the two previous seasons and three times prior to the 2008 season, but on Feb. 8, 2008, the Crimson Tide once again makes history by selling out its second meet in as many weeks with 15,075 on hand to see Alabama take on Arkansas. The Tide, one of only two schools to draw more than 12,000 for a single meet, becomes the first program in collegiate gymnastics history to have 15,000-plus fans at two meets in a single season.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

Alabama caps the 2007 season with a pair of individual NCAA championships on April 26, 2007, when junior Terin Humphrey and freshman Morgan Dennis take home the nation's top prize on the uneven bars and floor exercise, respectively. Humphrey, who also won the 2005 NCAA Uneven Bars title, is the fifth Tide gymnast to win multiple national championships.

Dennis becomes the fifth Alabama gymnast to win an NCAA title as a rookie. It is the sixth year in a row that Alabama has won at least one individual NCAA title.

They came in droves to support Sarah Patterson's Power of Pink initiative and they brought their friends, and on January 20, 2006, for only the second time in school history, an Alabama gymnastics meet sells out, drawing a Southeastern Conference and Alabama record 15,162 fans to Coleman Coliseum. It is the largest collegiate gymnastics crowd in the nation since 1993 and the third largest all-time. Everyone at the UA-Florida gymnastics meet, both teams included, wears pink in support of "Drive 4 the Cause." The meet raises awareness for the fight against breast cancer.

Already a legend, Ashley Miles secures her legacy on April 22, 2006, by winning her third NCAA vault championship, making her only the second gymnast in NCAA history, and first in more than 20 years, to win a trio of vault titles. She finished her career with four individual national titles, tying her for third in NCAA history.

Doing the amazing is nothing new for Ashley Miles, and so no one is surprised when on March 25, 2006, she becomes the first gymnast in Southeastern Conference history to win the same event four years in a row when she takes home the SEC floor exercise title. She finishes her career with 20 individual postseason titles, including four NCAA championships, six SEC titles and 10 NCAA Regional championships.

On May 3, 2006, Ashley Miles wins Alabama's sixth Honda Award, capping a senior season that includes her fourth NCAA title with the national gymnast of the year award. A month later, she becomes a top-5 finalist for the Honda-Broderick Cup, given annually to the nation's top female athletes. She receives her Honda Award in front of 92,000-plus fans at half time of an Alabama football game.

On October 29, 2005, Michelle Reeser caps off her Crimson Tide career by being honored at the NCAA Woman of the Year Banquet in Indianapolis. She is the fourth Alabama gymnast to be named a top-10 finalist for the honor and the ninth to be honored as a state winner. As a senior, Reeser earned All-America honors on the balance beam and was named the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

On August 22, 2004, freshman-to-be Terin Humphrey, who had already helped guide the United States to a silver medal in the team competition at the 2004 Athens Olympics, earns a silver of her own on the uneven bars. When she joins the Crimson Tide on Dec. 26, 2004, after traveling with the T.J. Maxx Tour of Champions through the fall, she becomes the Tide's first Olympian and first Olympic medalist. Humphrey keeps things rolling along in that first season with the Tide, winning the NCAA Uneven Bars Championship.

Jeana Rice won six postseason titles as a senior, including a clean sweep of the Southeastern Conference, NCAA West Regional and NCAA All-Around Championships and finishes her career with an NCAA record 18 All-America honors. For all that she accomplished, on April 23, 2004, Rice is named the 2004 Honda Award Winner given annually to the nation's best gymnast. It marks the fifth time an Alabama gymnast earns that recognition. She is also named SEC "Athlete of the Year" by the conference's athletics directors.

Not only will Kristin Sterner graduate with three championship rings, including one for the 2002 NCAA Championship and one each for the 2000 and 2003 Southeastern Conference titles, but she will also earn 11 All-America honors, serve as the Tide's captain as a junior and senior and post a 3.9 grade point average in biology during her standout career. Such excellence is recognized on May 29, 2003, when Sterner is named the Southeastern Conference's Scholar-Athlete of the Year. It marks the third time in school history that an Alabama gymnast has earned this award, with Sterner joining Julie Estin (1987) and Meredith Willard (1997). Sterner will also earn the prestigious NCAA Top VIII Award, making her the third Alabama gymnast to do so, joining Willard (1997) and Andree Pickens (2002).

On April 17, 2004, Ashley Miles becomes the first Crimson Tide gymnast to defend an NCAA vault title. For good measure, she throws in the NCAA Floor Exercise title as well. Miles becomes the first Alabama gymnast to win two different NCAA apparatus titles in the same season. In addition to winning the NCAA floor exercise crown, Miles repeats as SEC and NCAA Regional floor exercise champion.

In a show of overwhelming generosity, businessman Steve Smith makes a $1 million gift to the Crimson Tradition Fund in honor of his mother, Frances (left), a life-long Alabama fan who "never misses a home gymnastics meet." In honor of his donation, The University of Alabama gymnastics practice facility, part of the Coleman Coliseum Annex, is dedicated the "Frances Smith Gymnastics Practice Facility" on November 5, 2004.

Ashley Miles had scored other 10s, and she'd even scored 10s at the NCAA Championships before, but none were as dramatic as her back-to-back 10s on April 22, 2005, during the NCAA Super Six Team Final, when the San Antonio, Texas native posts perfect marks on the floor exercise and vault, leading Alabama to a second-place team finish.

On March 8, 2003, Sarah Patterson is inducted into the Alabama Sports Hall of Fame. She is just the sixth woman ever elected to the hall and the first female coach. "It's my name they're going to call out," Sarah Patterson said of the honor. "But as anybody who has followed our program knows, it is honoring what David and I have accomplished together." The induction comes on the heels of the Tide's fourth NCAA Championship under the Pattersons and Sarah Patterson being named National Coach of the Year for a fourth time. It precedes Alabama winning its fifth SEC championship under the Pattersons and posting its 14th top-3 finish at the NCAA Championships, where the Tide finishes second.

On January 12, 2003, Andree Pickens caps a career that is second to none with the most prestigious award given by the NCAA. The 14-time All-American and two-time NCAA champion is chosen as one of the NCAA Today's Top VIII, an award that spans both men and women as well as all sports and divisions of the NCAA. Not only is Pickens chosen for this award, she is also asked to give the keynote address, delivering a speech that brings those gathered at the NCAA Convention to their feet.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

After wowing fans throughout the season with her soaring vaults, on April 26, 2003, freshman Ashley Miles impresses the toughest crowd of all by winning the Crimson Tide's first national vault crown, scoring a 10.0 on her first vault and a 9.875 on her second to secure the NCAA Championship in Lincoln, Neb. Miles had already scored two 10.0s in NCAA Championship competition, winning the NCAA Central Region floor exercise title with a perfect mark and scoring a 10.0 during the first night of the NCAA team competition.

It is March 15, 2003, and Alabama wins Southeastern Conference title No. 5 in a competition that comes down to the Tide's last competitor on the last event, clipping second-place Georgia 197.275-197.225. Junior Jeana Rice wins the all-around, balance beam and uneven bars and is named SEC Gymnast of the Year, marking the fourth year in a row an Alabama athlete has won the award. Freshman Ashley Miles posts a 9.975 floor exercise routine that not only clinches the Tide's title but wins the event and earns her All-SEC honors as well. Freshman Larissa Stewart posts a career best on the uneven bars, earning second team All-SEC honors in the process and sophomore Michelle Reeser's leadoff balance beam routine earns her second team All-SEC honors on that event. Senior Kristin Sterner, juniors Lauren Holdefer and Stephanie Kite, sophomores Alexis Brion and Shannon Hrozek and freshmen Mari Bayer, Rachael Delahoussaye, Dana Filetti, Dana Pierce and Lauren Pruitt all do their part to bring home the big trophy to Tuscaloosa.

André Pickens wins her second NCAA Championship and the 13th in Alabama history on April 20, 2002. It is her 12th routine in three days and the Houston, Texas native is exhausted, but she finds the energy for one more routine, the last of her career, and makes it count. The 14-time All-American and winner of both the AAI American Award and the Honda Award for Gymnastics, scores a 9.925 on the uneven bars to win. With a tired wave to a crowd that is giving her a standing ovation, Pickens closes out a career that was legendary even before she won the title.

Senior André Pickens has the most dominating performance in Southeastern Conference Championship history on March 23, 2002, when she wins four of the five individual titles up for grabs that night at Bartow Arena. Not only is she the first gymnast to win four SEC titles in one year, she also earns her third SEC Gymnast of the Year honor. Pickens becomes the only gymnast to win the award more than once. She finishes her career with seven SEC titles, including two all-arounds, the SEC Community Service Postgraduate Scholarship and the SEC Athlete of the Year award.

Alabama rolls to NCAA Championship No. 4 on April 19, 2002, in Coleman Coliseum with a rock-solid performance on all four events, especially the balance beam, where the Tide finished off the meet (and all the other teams) for the fourth time in a row. Senior André Pickens posts the night's top all-around score and earns five All-America honors in leading the Tide to victory. In all, Alabama earns a meet-high 14 All-America honors with sophomore Jeana Rice earning three, junior Kristin Sterner and sophomore Alexis Brion taking two a piece while senior Natalie Barrington and freshman Shannon Hrozek earn one each. Seniors Alexa Martinez, Whitney Morgan and Raegan Tomasek, junior Sara Scarborough, sophomores Helen Burgin, Tiffany Byrd, Erin Holdefer, Lauren Holdefer and Stephanie Kite and freshman Michelle Reeser round out the championship roster.

Alabama travels to Gainesville for the 2000 Southeastern Conference Championship and falls into a groove that carries it through a dominating performance to win SEC title No. 3 on March 18, 2000. Sophomore André Pickens wins the vault, uneven bars and all-around titles and is named SEC Gymnast of the Year. She and freshman Kristin Sterner earn first-team All-SEC honors, while juniors Katie Hornecker and Dara Stewart (pictured right with their championship rings) along with sophomore Natalie Barrington all earned second team All-SEC honors. Seniors Lexa Evans and Gina Logan, juniors Robin Hawkins, April Makinson and Lissy Smith, sophomores Krista Gole, Alexa Martinez, Whitney Morgan and Raegan Tomasek and freshman Sara Scarborough round out the championship roster.

In a hint of the career to come, Andree Pickens wins the NCAA Balance Beam Championship as a freshman on April 24, 1999, capping a championship where she becomes the first freshman in NCAA history to earn five All-America honors.

The shine on Meredith Willard's career, in and out of the gym, continues to grow. On January 11, 1998, the Clemmons, N.C., native becomes the first Alabama athlete to earn the NCAA's prestigious Top VIII award, given annually to the nation's top eight senior athletes regardless of gender, sport or division. The award encompasses athletics, academics and character.

One fan after another made their way into Coleman Coliseum on February 1, 1997, until finally, just before 7 p.m. and the start of the Alabama-Georgia gymnastics meet, history is made and Alabama gymnastics sells out. A capacity crowd of 15,043 fills Alabama's arena. It is the largest crowd to ever see a women's athletic event in the state of Alabama and the largest crowd to ever see an SEC gymnastics meet. Alabama's challenge for the national record is foiled not by lack of fans, but lack of seats. Reportedly more than 400 fans were turned away from the doors of the Coliseum.

Stephanie Woods knew that the uneven bars routine she had just finished had been special, she just wasn't sure if anyone else knew. It was the night of the event finals at the NCAA Championships and she had just completed her routine. But the Austin, Texas, native's feeling about her routine carried over to the judges, who knew they had seen something of championship caliber. On Saturday, April 27, 1996, Woods won the NCAA Uneven Bars Championship, etching her name in Crimson legend.

In the final performance of her Crimson Tide career, as the music of her floor routine reached its final beat and tears stream down her face, Kim Kelly's success-studded career turns golden. The King of Prussia, Pa., native wins the 1996 NCAA Floor Exercise Championship in front of the home crowd with a perfect 10.0 and an avalanche of applause. For Kelly, that's how it ends on Saturday, April 27, 1996. One last floor routine, perfect in execution – a moment in time – for all time, filled with tears of joy and sadness – and rolls upon rolls of cheers.

GREAT MOMENTS IN ALABAMA GYMNASTICS HISTORY

On Friday, April 26, 1996, paced by three individual NCAA champions and a program-record eight All-Americans, the Tide posts an NCAA Super Six record 198.025 to win its third NCAA title, second in the 1990s. Senior Kim Kelly and juniors Meredith Willard and Stephanie Woods all earn individual NCAA titles. Junior Kim Bonaventura, sophomore Merritt Booth, Kelly, sophomore Danielle McAdams, sophomore Shay Murphy, senior Marna Neubauer, Willard and Woods combine to earn 18 All-America honors. Sophomore Heather Nasser and freshmen Mandy Chapman, Lisa Gianni and Gwen Spidle round out Alabama's championship roster.

She didn't believe it. "Check again," she admonished everyone within her grasp. "There's been some kind of mistake," she told them. She tugged urgently at the sleeve of the nearest meet official, asking him to check, then double check the scores. There had been a mistake, someone else was supposed to be where she was. No mistake, the scores were right. On Thursday, April 25, 1996, Meredith Willard, the ultimate team player in a sport filled with individuals, had won the NCAA All-Around Championship.

After three rotations of the 1995 Southeastern Conference Championships being held in Gainesville, Fla., the Crimson Tide find themselves in fourth place with the chance for a third SEC Championship looking bleak. Fortunately, Alabama sees not a chance to give up, but a chance to make history. Alabama soars past Georgia, LSU and Florida on the strength of the best vault total in NCAA history on rotation No. 4 to win the SEC title on March 25, 1995. The Tide's 196.175 is just .05 in front of second-place LSU. Alabama counts nothing lower than a 9.900 on the way to setting the vault mark. Junior Kim Kelly hits a 10.0 to win the vault. Senior Chasity Junkin and freshman Merritt Booth both turn in career-high 9.975s on the vault. Sophomore Stephanie Woods wins the SEC uneven bars title. Junior Marna Neubauer, sophomores Kim Bonaventura and Meredith Willard, and freshmen Danielle McAdams, Shay Murphy and Heather Nasser all contribute to bringing SEC title No. 3 home to Tuscaloosa.

On May 29, 1990, Dee Foster becomes the first freshman in Southeastern Conference history to be named the league's Athlete of the Year. Foster is an obvious choice, after winning the 1990 NCAA All-Around Championship with an NCAA record of 39.30 and earning four All-America honors as a rookie. She led Alabama to a second-place national finish and the Tide's second SEC Team title.

Junior Dee Foster, already a Crimson Tide legend, turns perfect on March 14, 1992, during a dual meet with Georgia in Athens, scoring a 10.0 on a vault. Foster will earn eight 10.0s during her storied Tide career — five 10.0s on the vault, one on the uneven bars and two on the floor exercise.

The Crimson Tide starts the 1990s off on the right foot. Alabama marches into the Georgia Coliseum on March 25, 1990, and marches out with its second SEC team title. Alabama finishes more than a point ahead of second-place LSU. The Tide's 193.55 total sets an SEC Championship record. Senior Marie Robbins caps an outstanding career wearing the crimson and white of Alabama by winning the Tide's second-ever SEC all-around title, with a championship record score. That same year, a program-record eight members of the championship squad earn SEC Academic Honor Roll honors and Robbins earns an SEC Postgraduate Scholarship. Seniors Ali Blumberg, Tracey Tillman and Cheri Way, juniors Kim Masters and Tina Rinker, sophomores Gina Basile, Katherine Kelleher and Shea McFall, and freshman Dana Dobransky all help bring home the Tide's second SEC trophy.

No one could say that Dana Dobransky was not a pressure player. Dobransky wins two NCAA balance beam titles during her legendary Crimson Tide career. The first title comes in 1992 and the second, as a senior, in Corvallis, Ore. on April 17, 1993, with a perfect 10.0. With her perfect performance, Dobransky becomes the first Tide gymnast to repeat as national champion on an individual event. She goes on to earn an NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarships, putting an exclamation mark on one of the greatest careers in Crimson Tide history.

The theme of the 1991 NCAA Gymnastics Championships is "Stars Fall on Alabama" and nothing could be closer to the truth as the host Crimson Tide uses a slew of talented ladies on April 19, 1991, to keep the championship in Tuscaloosa. Alabama's 195.125 total sets an NCAA Championship scoring record. The Tide outdistances second-place Utah by three-quarters of a point. Georgia is third followed by Oregon State, Penn State and Florida. Senior Kim Masters, juniors Gina Basile, Katherine Kelleher and Shea McFall, sophomores Dana Dobransky and Dee Foster, and freshman Kara Stilp all earn All-America honors. Senior Tina Rinker and freshmen Keri Duley, Sheryl Dundas, and Marti Watson round out the Tide's hometown championship roster.

Alabama is competing at its third NCAA Championship on April 12-13, 1985, when junior Penney Hauschild explodes into a Crimson Tide legend by winning the NCAA All-Around Championship in Salt Lake City, Utah. It is the first time that an athlete from Utah fails to win the all-around title. The Pennsylvania native also wins the uneven bars title. Hauschild is the first individual NCAA champion in Alabama gymnastics history. Her all-around total is an NCAA Championships record. Hauschild will go on to win four NCAA titles during her legendary career, repeating as all-around champion in 1986 and adding the floor exercise title to her resume that same year.

Eleven gymnasts and a lifetime of dreams come together on April 22, 1988, as Alabama wins its first NCAA team championship. Alabama scores an NCAA Championship record 190.05 in front of a rowdy handful of Tide faithful in Salt Lake City. Utah is second followed by UCLA, LSU, Georgia and Florida. The Tide is led by four All-Americans – senior Kathy Bilodeau, sophomores Marie Robbins and Cheri Way, and freshman Tina Rinker. Senior Alli Beldon, sophomores Ali Blumberg and Tracey Tillman and freshmen Wendy Anderson, Kim Masters and Susie Pierce round out the Tide's championship roster.

Crimson Tide legend Penney Hauschild caps a brilliant Crimson Tide career with her second-consecutive Honda Broderick Award on January 11, 1986. The Honda Broderick Award is given annually to the nation's best gymnast. Hauschild's career includes two NCAA All-Around championships, an NCAA Uneven Bars title and an NCAA Floor Exercise title. Hauschild earned 10 All-America honors during her storied career. She earned five NCAA Central Regional titles and one SEC all-around crown.

All-American Barbara Mack – a Rhodes Scholarship finalist, the first Alabama gymnast to win the Paul W. Bryant Award, an NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship winner and a two-time Region champion – caps a brilliant Crimson Tide career by becoming the first Alabama gymnast to win the AMF American Award on April 13, 1985.

No one may have known it at the time, but July 1, 1978, marks the start of something extremely special as the Crimson Tide begins its rise toward becoming one of the most successful programs in the history of collegiate athletics when Sarah Campbell becomes Alabama gymnastics' fifth head coach in five years. She immediately hires David Patterson as her assistant coach. The rest, as they say, is history.

On May 27, 1987, Julie Estin becomes the first athlete from Alabama to be honored as the Southeastern Conference Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Estin also earns NCAA and SEC Postgraduate Scholarships, which she puts to good use. In July 1996, Dr. Julie Vaughn set up practice in Tuscaloosa as a pediatrician.

Julie Garrett becomes Alabama's first All-American on April 4, 1982. Garrett paces the Tide to a fourth-place finish at the 1982 AIAW National Championships before attending the first NCAA Championship as an individual. Undaunted by her first NCAA appearance, Garrett earns All-America recognition on the uneven bars.

Alabama wins its first NCAA Regional title on March 26, 1983, earning its first trip to the NCAA Championships which will be held at Salt Lake City, Utah, two weeks later. Sarah and David Patterson's first recruiting class helps take the Tide to the top of the South Region, downing the region's until-then dominant team, Florida, the meet's host.

History didn't record the first meeting, the first practice or the first vault – those dates are lost in time – but the first meet, the first time The University of Alabama put forth a group of young women wearing crimson and white leotards came on January 10, 1975. Alabama opens at home, falling to Georgia College 83.75-65.80. And with that, the program that will become one of the most celebrated in collegiate athletics is underway.

ALABAMA AT THE NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS

On the national level, Alabama has enjoyed staggering success for 39 years ever since finishing 11th in the NCAA standings in 1982. The Crimson Tide won its sixth national championship, and second in a row, in 2012, marking the first time in Alabama's storied history that the team has won back-to-back titles. The 2020 NCAA Championships were canceled due to COVID-19.

The 2020 season marked Alabama's 39th-consecutive national top-12 finish, a stretch that includes 29 top-4 finishes, and 13 top-2 finishes.

Alabama gymnasts have also excelled individually, winning 27 individual NCAA championships, including Katie Bailey's 2016 vault title and 2017 uneven bars championship. Bailey's championship was Alabama's fifth vault title while Kim Jacob's 2014 all-around championship was the sixth by a Tide gymnast.

Bailey and Jacob joined Diandra Milliner, who won the 2013 NCAA vault title, and Geralen Stack-Eaton, who won NCAA Championships on the balance beam and floor exercise in 2011 and 2012, respectively, to give Alabama an individual NCAA title in six of eight years between 2011 and 2019.

In 2007, Morgan Dennis won the NCAA floor exercise title as a freshman while Terin Humphrey won her second national uneven bars title that same season, adding it to her 2005 championship.

Ashley Miles won four NCAA championships during her career, including three vault titles, 2003, 2004, 2006 and the 2004 floor exercise crown. In 2006, she became the first collegiate gymnast in 20 years to win the same event three times.

Jeana Rice brought home Alabama's fifth NCAA all-around title in 2004, joining Penney Hauschild, Alabama's first NCAA champion, who won all-around titles in 1985 and 1986, as well as Dee Foster and Meredith Willard who managed the feat in 1990 and 1996, respectively. Foster became the first collegiate gymnast to finish top-3 in the all-around all four years of her career. She was first in 1990, second in 1991 and 1993, and third in 1992.

In addition to her all-around titles, Hauschild won the uneven bars championship in 1985 and took home top marks in the floor exercise in 1986. Gina Basile was awarded the balance beam title in 1991, while Dana Dobransky was the first Tide gymnast to repeat on an individual event when she won back-to-back balance beam titles in 1992 and 1993.

Kim Kelly finished off her stellar career with a winning 10.0 floor exercise performance at the 1996 NCAA Individual Event Finals. That same year, Stephanie Woods won the uneven bars title as a junior. In 1999, Andréé Pickens won the NCAA balance beam as a rookie. She added a Cinderella finish to her standout career with the 2002 NCAA Uneven Bars Championship.

When it comes to All-America honors, Alabama has been extremely prolific as 74 Tide gymnasts have earned All-America honors a total of 356 times. In 1993, Foster set an NCAA record when she ended her career with 17 First-Team Championship All-America honors, a mark that still stands. In 2004, Rice set the national mark for All-America honors in a career, finishing with 18 combined first- and second-team honors.

NCAA WOMAN OF THE YEAR

First awarded in 1991, the Woman of the Year program honors academic and athletics excellence, as well as community service and leadership, on a national level. From 1991 to 2006, there were three levels: state winner, finalist and Woman of the Year. There are now four levels, conference winner, Top-30, Top-9 and Woman of the Year. The middle two tiers are now divided among the three NCAA Divisions, which means that for Division I, there are 10 finalists among the Top-30 and three among the Top-9.

NCAA TODAY'S TOP TEN AWARD

Among the highest honors that the NCAA can bestow, Alabama gymnasts have earned a place among the NCAA Today's Top Ten honorees five times, with Kim Jacob (opposite page) becoming the latest honoree in 2015. The Crimson Tide's other honorees, from the left: Kayla Hoffman with former Alabama Director of Athletics Mal Moore in 2011; Kristin Sterner with ESPN personality and University of Alabama graduate Rece Davis in 2003; André Pickens with former Crimson Tide gymnast and current Associate Athletics Director Marie Robbins in 2002; and Meredith Willard, who took home Alabama gymnastics' first honor in 1997, with former UA president Dr. Andrew Sorensen.

NATIONAL COACH OF THE YEAR

Sarah Patterson was named National Coach of the Year four times in three different decades, including 1986, 1988, 1991 and 2002.

HONDA AWARD

Kim Jacob, pictured on the opposite page, is the seventh Alabama gymnast to take home the Honda Award given annually to the national gymnast of the year. Jacob joined (from the left) Kayla Hoffman (2011), Ashley Miles (2006), Jeana Rice (2004), André Pickens (2002), Dee Foster (1993) and Penney Hauschild, who won it twice, in 1985 and 1986, giving Alabama eight Honda Awards overall.

NCAA ELITE 90 AWARD WINNERS

The NCAA Elite 90 Award began in 2010 and is presented to the student-athlete with the highest cumulative grade point average at each of the NCAA's 90 national championships. The award has been bestowed to a UA gymnast each of its first seven years, including Lauren Beers (far left with NCAA Championship Committee Chair Lindy Roberts in 2014), who became the first three-year winner, 2014, 2015 and 2016. Kim Jacob, second from the left with former NCAA Championship Committee Chair Kim Green, earned it in 2013. Rachel Terry, third from the left with former NCAA Championship Committee Chair Paul Plinske in 2011, became the first two-time winner, in 2011 and 2012. Plinske also presented the inaugural award to Kassi Price in 2010 (right).

THE 2012 NCAA CHAMPIONS

For the Alabama gymnastics team, the final rotation of the 2012 NCAA Championships was like déjà vu of the best kind. In fact, the Crimson Tide's entire national championship experience in 2012 was reminiscent of 2011 in Cleveland, when Alabama won its fifth national title, though there were certainly twists along the way.

In 2011, Alabama headed into the championship's final rotation only .025 ahead of UCLA. In 2012, Alabama trailed No. 1 seed Florida by the same margin. In 2011, Alabama headed to the floor exercise while defending NCAA champion UCLA took to the balance beam, and Oklahoma sat on a bye with a score good enough to win, if the Crimson Tide and Bruins faltered. In 2012, the Gators went to the floor while defending champion Alabama headed to the beam and UCLA sat on a bye with a score that would have won the previous two championships.

If all that wasn't enough, Alabama and Florida were tied at the midpoint of that final rotation, just as the Bruins and Tide had been in 2011.

From there things were a little different. While Alabama took the lead with its fourth routine in 2011 and never looked back, in 2012 the Gators retook the lead with their fourth routine and stayed in front after their fifth. When the final Gator scored a 9.925, it gave Florida a team score of 197.775, just ahead of the Bruins with everyone in the arena waiting on Alabama's final competitor to see if her score was enough to put the Tide on top once again.

While that final 2012 rotation seemed very familiar to the rest of the Crimson Tide veterans, it was a vastly different experience for Ashley Priess. In 2011, following surgery on both ankles prior to the regular season, she had been on the sidelines as her teammates powered their way to the title. Now Priess was standing on the podium, waiting to salute the judges and compete for a championship.

After senior Geralen Stack-Eaton's 9.9 in the fifth position, Priess needed a 9.875 to tie the Gators; anything better would win. After watching Kayla Hoffman in the same position the year before, Priess was ready.

"Championships always come down to the last routine and no matter if it was a close meet or not a close meet, I knew I had to do my job and I knew that I was capable of doing it to the best of my ability," Priess said. "The only thing that was going through my mind was to be calm, cool and collected and just do my job."

With every eye inside The Arena at Gwinnett Center on her, the Illinois native did just that. She mounted the beam and proceeded to confidently sweep through a near flawless routine. After nailing her dismount, Priess raced down the podium steps and into the arms of her jubilant teammates.

"All the way through Ashley's routine, we were all grouped together and holding onto each other and talking to her as she was going through her routine," Stack-Eaton said. "We were saying 'Okay, come on, connect!' and 'Chest up!' and 'Stick!' and we just all jumped up in the air when she finished. We didn't know what our fate was, but we just knew that we all did what we possibly could."

When Priess' score came up, the celebration started all over again as a 9.95 flashed, giving the Crimson Tide its second NCAA Championship in a row, this time by just .075. All told, the top five teams finished with scores over 197 and the difference between first and third place was the closest in championship history at only a tenth of a point.

"I said going into the championship that it would be the closest and most competitive championship that I had ever coached in," Patterson said. "I felt like because of the quality of teams, it was going to come down to the very end, and it did."

It certainly was a storybook ending to Priess' comeback season, and it was all that Patterson had hoped for.

"Ashley came back this year and used the hurt and frustration from a year ago to fuel herself and this team," Patterson said moments after the championship.

While the Tide's finish is the stuff of legend, its entire championship run was magical and it both started and ended on the balance beam.

Alabama began Friday night's semifinal session on the balance beam, setting the tone for the rest of the weekend with an extraordinary 49.6 performance. Kim Jacob started the Tide off with a 9.9, a score matched by Kayla Williams and Sarah DeMeo before Stack-Eaton and Priess powered through to the end with matching 9.95s. After its strong start, Alabama went on to total a 197.675, the highest semifinal score of either session, edging out the Gators by .025.

In the Super Six, Alabama picked up where it left off the night before, posting a 49.450 on the floor exercise, anchored by a 9.95 from Stack-Eaton. Things got even better on the vault, where they had five 9.9 or better routines, including a 9.95 from Diandra Milliner and a 9.975 from Stack-Eaton, resulting in a 49.625. A 49.275 on the uneven bars by the Tide and a 49.475 on the balance beam by the Gators, allowed Florida to pull ahead going into the sixth and final rotation setting up an edge-of-the-seat championship finale for the second year in a row.

When all the scores were tallied, Alabama turned in the highest scores of the Super Six on the floor exercise, vault and balance beam. The Tide's 49.6 beam performance during the semifinals matched the highest beam score in history of the national championships.

Individually, Stack-Eaton scored a career-best 39.700 while Priess posted a 39.575, the second-highest score of her career. During their two days of balance beam dominance, Jacob led off both nights with a 9.9 while Williams, who competed on the beam for the first time in the Tide's regular-season finale, scored matching 9.9s of her own while Priess scored 9.95 both nights.

In the relative quiet of the post-championship press conference, Priess told the gathered media what she felt had made the difference that day for Alabama.

"Before the competition, we all had an assignment from the coaches to write down why we love being an Alabama gymnast and pretty much every single person answered that it was about the tradition, and that it was about how we are all family and that we all have each other's backs through good times and bad," Priess said. "I think that came out tonight, the way that we love each other and truly care about each other and I think it brings out the best in us all."

10TH
ANNIVERSARYTHE 2011
NCAA

It was the perfect moment.

The Alabama Crimson Tide – gymnasts, coaches, managers, trainers and all – standing in front of the first-place banner at the national championships, holding their golden trophy high while a rowdy throng of Tide fans cheered them mightily from the stands of the Wolstein Center in Cleveland, Ohio.

That moment was the pinnacle of a journey that began in August when the freshmen reported to campus, joining nine returnees. From that moment, Sarah Patterson and company went about the task of building its latest team, starting down a road that ultimately culminated in the Tide claiming its fifth national championship.

"To have everything come together like it did – to win SECs, regionals and then the national championship – it was a dream come true," Sarah Patterson said. "I don't think I could have asked for a better year with a more rewarding, talented and unified team, or a more perfect ending to an amazing season."

That's not to say that Alabama was perfect on its way to winning its fifth NCAA Championship. There were bumps along the way, but the manner in which the team handled the adversity, coming together as a team – staying positive and looking ahead with confidence – made all the difference.

"The moment that really stands out to me was when Kayla Hoffman fell off beam in the Super Six Team Final and we still had Sarah DeMeo and Geralen Stack-Eaton to compete," Patterson said. "We knew that if we had to count that fall we'd be out of contention. When Kayla came off the beam, she smiled at me, looked at Sarah and with a sense of confidence and purpose, said 'You got this.' "

Hoffman's confidence in her teammates settled DeMeo, a freshman competing at her first national championships, keeping her from getting rattled.

"Kayla relaxed Sarah in a way that no coach could do and I felt 100-percent confident that Sarah and Geralen would make their routines and keep the championship within reach," Patterson said.

As big as DeMeo and Stack-Eaton hitting their routines was, it was Hoffman's reaction to her fall that told Patterson the national championship was within their grasp.

"There was a time when Kayla as a competitor would not have been able to handle her disappointment of falling that way," Patterson said. "I knew we had come great distances and that Kayla's reaction after she made that mistake was a turning point for our team."

For Hoffman, the knowledge that her teammates had her back and would lift her up if she made a mistake grew throughout the season. By the time they reached the championship season, that trust in one another was absolute.

"It's sports. Sports are going to be messy. Sports are never going to be completely perfect," Hoffman said. "It's what you do from that. It's how you recover from a mistake, or a little slip-up, how you recover, how you work together, that is most important."

While Alabama's beam set in the Super Six Team Final is the moment that stands out in Sarah Patterson's mind, it was the next rotation, with Alabama on the floor exercise and defending champion UCLA on the balance beam just a few feet away that is burned in the minds of everyone who saw the epic, down-to-the-wire battle that determined who would be the 2011 national champions.

After being tied with the Bruins at the halfway point of the meet, the Tide went into the final rotation with a slim .025 lead.

"Going into the last event I wanted to help the ladies stay focused on being calm and knowing that if they could do their routines to the best of their ability, we could come out as champions," Patterson said. "I think when you get in the heat of the moment, you don't want anyone to be scared. You want them to be confident and to know that they have this. It was great to be on floor exercise, because it's an event you can go all out on."

The Tide and Bruins opened that deciding rotation with matching scores of 9.85 before UCLA tied the meet with a 9.825 from their second gymnast while Alabama posted a 9.8. The Bruins moved ahead by .025 after their third gymnast scored a 9.875 and the Tide answered with a 9.850. Alabama took the lead back with its next routine before Geralen Stack-Eaton – who would go on to win the NCAA Floor Exercise Championship the next night during individual event finals – extended the Tide's lead with a 9.925, the highest floor score of the day to that point. From there, it was up to Hoffman.

A solid routine and Alabama would complete its championship sweep. Hoffman did more than just hit her routine, she nailed it, posting a 9.95 to push Alabama to a 197.650 and a .275 margin of victory over the Bruins.

"I knew when Kayla landed that last pass that we had won," Patterson said. "There was a sense of sheer excitement and joy in knowing that we'd helped these young women achieve the dream of a lifetime."

So how did a team that lost four All-Americans to graduation and a fifth, Ashley Priess, to ankle surgery in the fall, and had a championship lineup that included 13 routines that weren't in the mix the year before, win all three postseason titles? Perhaps Kayla Hoffman summed it up best in the moments after clinching the championship sweep.

"Sometimes, it's not about talent, it's about heart," she told CBS' Amanda Borden. "Because we're so close – that made the difference."

THE 2002 NCAA CHAMPIONS

On the way to winning its fourth NCAA Championship, Alabama was a study in contrast. In the locker room, which the coaches and gymnasts had turned into a beach getaway, complete with sand, umbrellas, floats and beach music, the Tide was laid back and laughing. Out in the arena, moving ever closer to the title, they were cool, calm and collected.

"We have always done our best when we are loose and laughing," Kristin Sterner said. "So the coaches made sure that while we were in the locker room, we didn't get tense or uptight."

On the night of the Super Six, head coach Sarah Patterson even went so far as to pull out the dress she wore to the championships the first time Alabama won at home, in 1991, a red and white striped, strapless sequined number.

"At first they were surprised, and then they started laughing pretty hard," Patterson said. "I think they really enjoyed seeing that, especially since it's pretty far removed from the kinds of things I wear today."

Sarah and David Patterson, coaching at their 20th NCAA Championship, knew that staying loose would give their team an edge in a tight competition. The night of the NCAA Super Six, none of the six teams had a fall. It would be the second-highest scoring night in championship history.

The high-caliber opposition didn't seem to matter though, the higher the other teams turned up the heat, the cooler Alabama gymnasts were.

For two nights in a row, Alabama started the night on the floor exercise, which means that for two nights in a row, Alabama's championship hopes came down to six routines on the balance beam, often the most daunting event of the four, especially when the pressure is on.

On the final night, just to add more drama to the evening, Alabama was on the balance beam during the last rotation while second-place Georgia was on the floor exercise. Not only would Alabama have to hit their routines, but they would also have to hold off Georgia.

Each routine grew in importance as both teams moved through the rotation. Alabama hit routine after routine until Sterner came up in the number five spot. A hit routine from Sterner and the championship belonged to Alabama; a miss would open the door for Georgia.

Sterner put together a rock-solid routine and finished it off by nailing her landing. The title belonged once again to the Tide. But the team didn't know that, not for sure. For Alabama, there was one more routine to go from the Tide's all-everything senior Andréé Pickens.

"I started to cry when Kristin landed her routine," Pickens said. "Jeana Rice came over to me and told me that it was OK, I could do it,

I could do it one more time. That whole routine was in slow motion. It wasn't rushed and I wasn't nervous, I was happy and I was confident."

Pickens nailed her routine. And when she threw her arms in the air after her dismount, the Coleman Coliseum crowd knew what had happened. They knew the Alabama team had again, as the Tide fight song says, "Writ her name in crimson flame..." and brought a fourth national title to Tuscaloosa. They roared their approval, stomping, clapping and screaming, much like the pandemonium that had broken out on the floor amongst the Tide athletes, coaches and staff.

It had been a remarkable run. Since counting a fall on the final event of the SEC Championships, Alabama had gone a perfect 72 for 72 during their championship march. Pickens, senior Natalie Barrington, Sterner, sophomore Jeana Rice and freshmen Alexis Brion and Shannon Hrozek earned 14 All-America honors between them, the most of any team at the championship. On Saturday, an exhausted Pickens, who competed 12 routines in three days, had enough energy left to win the NCAA uneven bars title to go with the American Award, which denotes the nation's top senior, that she'd picked up earlier in the day.

There would be more moments of celebration in the weeks and months that followed. Alabama received their championship rings in front of 83,000-plus fans at the halftime of the Alabama-Southern Mississippi football game. They were also honored at the Homecoming parade and the pep rally/bonfire the night before.

But perhaps the best moment came immediately after the team received the trophy from Alabama Director of Athletics Mal Moore, when everyone was laughing and hugging. It was Pickens – who had come back from a torn Achilles that ended her junior season just days before the 2001 NCAA Championship – who put it best.

Standing in the middle of her teammates, tightly clutching the Tide's golden prize to her chest, Pickens said, "This is why I came back. This is why I worked so hard for so many months to get back – to be able to share this moment, this feeling with these girls and this crowd."

"This," she said again, sweeping her eyes over the mob scene in Coleman Coliseum, "is what we wanted."

25TH
ANNIVERSARYTHE 1996
NCAA

For the Alabama gymnastics team, two long years of planning, training and dedication had come down to the next 24 hours. Their motto for the season had been "Enjoy the Journey," and they had, with great success. Now, in April 1996, Alabama was on the verge of competing for the national championship on its home floor. Sarah and David Patterson gathered their team and told them, "We've enjoyed the journey, now it's time to enjoy our destination."

Alabama started its drive for its third NCAA Championship on the same two events where it had counted falls on the first night of team competition. On the uneven bars, sophomore Danielle McAdams produced a 9.875, a mark echoed by freshman Gwen Spidle who was followed by junior Meredith Willard's 9.9. In the fourth position senior Kim Kelly suffered a fall, putting the Tide's final two performers in clutch positions. Junior Stephanie Woods responded with a 9.95. Senior Marna Neubauer came up in the final position. Battling a sore shoulder for the latter half of the season, she came up big for the Tide, swinging to a 9.875. Alabama produced a 49.475, the second-best total in school history.

Alabama then moved to the balance beam. Willard took to the beam in her customary first spot and for the first time all season, on any event, she fell. Sarah Patterson gathered the team together and told them, "Meredith has been our rock all season long. Now we'll be there for her."

Sophomore Shay Murphy was next up and responded with a solid 9.8. Senior Kim Bonaventura posted a 9.825 and Kelly scored 9.9. McAdams came up in the fifth position. Midway through her routine, she wobbled on a landing, staying on the beam seemingly through sheer force of will. McAdams steadied herself and finished the routine to thunderous applause and a 9.725 score. Woods finished things off for the Tide with a 9.9. The Tide posted a 49.150.

Despite a strong first half, Alabama still trailed UCLA, a squad making a push for the top, by .075 with two rotations left.

The Tide moved to the floor exercise, and it was there that Alabama and the crowd of 10,000-plus fans caught fire. Neubauer scored a 9.85, followed by Booth's 9.875.

Then Kelly brought out her floor routine, the one she had learned during the season, and introduced only four meets before. To the strains of "Yea Alabama" and "Sweet Home Alabama," the Pennsylvania native captured her audience and the judges, producing a perfect 10.0 performance and raising the decibel level in Coleman Coliseum to near-deafening heights.

Willard carried the banner of enthusiasm throughout her performance, producing a 9.95. McAdams came up in the final spot and capped Alabama's rotation with a career-high 9.95.

When the counting was done, Alabama had produced an NCAA floor exercise record 49.625.

The Bruins were tenacious though, matching the Tide's record floor effort with an NCAA record of their own on the balance beam (49.50). Going into the last rotation, perennial favorites Georgia and Utah were already out of the championship picture – barring a complete meltdown by both the Crimson Tide and the Bruins. It came down to two teams and one last rotation.

Alabama headed to the vault, just .05 ahead of floor exercise bound UCLA.

What happened during the last rotation is the stuff of legend. Alabama ran off a blistering set of vaults in which the Tide scored nothing lower than a 9.9 and posted two perfect, golden 10.0s.

Booth got Alabama off to a 9.925 start. Bonaventura and Neubauer chimed in with back-to-back 9.9 scores. McAdams came up in the fourth spot and put the ultimate exclamation point on what had already been a career night. She flew down the runway, hit the springboard, then the vault, landed on the mat and did not move. Feet planted, arms thrown back and head held high, McAdams scored her first perfect 10.0 and the fans roared, clapped and screamed their approval. Kelly responded with a 10.0 of her own, the sixth perfect vault of her career and one that raised the roof right off the coliseum. Willard finished the Tide's evening with a 9.95.

The Tide's vault total, 49.775, set yet another NCAA record. UCLA mustered a 49.275 on the floor. The title was Alabama's.

Alabama totaled a 198.025, setting an NCAA 'Super Six' record, to win its third NCAA title and second in front of the home crowd. UCLA was second with a 197.475, a score that would have won all but one other NCAA Championship. Utah and Georgia tied for third with a 196.775. Oregon State was fifth with a 196.525, while Michigan finished sixth with a 196.375. It marked the first time in NCAA history that all six members of the "Super Six" scored 196 or better.

Willard started the Tide's winning ways on the first night of competition, earning Alabama's fourth NCAA All-Around title.

The Tide rolled to two more titles during Saturday night's individual competition. Woods posted a 9.975 to win the NCAA Uneven Bars title. And Kelly, in the last meet of her storied career, inked the perfect final chapter. She posted yet another perfect 10.0 floor routine to win that title.

ANNIVERSARYTHE 1991
NCAA

In 1991, Sarah Patterson finally had the championships right where she wanted them – in Coleman Coliseum.

Alabama had already gained national prominence, winning its first title in 1988. In 1990, the team brought home its second Southeastern Conference title and placed second to Utah at the national championships. The 1991 team boasted a contingent that included five All-Americans and the 1990 NCAA all-around champion. If the gymnasts did their jobs, there was no doubt in Patterson's mind they would compete in front of the home crowd that final Friday of competition.

"I remember being told that you build a crowd by winning a national championship, but you could also do it by hosting a championship," Patterson said.

The first step toward building the fan base was accomplished with the 1988 NCAA title, which spurred increased interest in the program.

The Tide was young in 1991, with six underclassmen, including four freshmen. The two seniors, Kim Masters and Tina Rinker, sought to weave the 11 girls together to form a squad reminiscent of the 1988 championship they were members of as freshmen.

"I remember feeling that the team had so much talent that we should be able to win the national championship if we could become unified and get into the flow," Rinker reminisced.

Alabama had the opportunity to shine at home, but the team was not fulfilling expectations in the preseason.

"I can remember in December thinking that we were hosting the championships and that we might not even be there," Patterson said.

Preseason practices were not characteristic of a team that should be in contention for a gold, and Patterson predicted a nightmarish outcome if the team did not shape up.

"One day, Sarah sat us down and we got a good lecture," Kara Stilp recalled. "I will never forget it. She told us that we were going to be really embarrassed when we hosted nationals, and we would not be competing in it. We agreed that we all needed to get in gear."

That speech proved to be a turning point for the gymnasts. Once its first competition rolled around, the Tide was ready to go. If preseason was tough, the competition season was just as demanding.

The Tide defeated Auburn in the 1991 season opener even though they had to count three falls on balance beam, an event on which the program had built its reputation. In its home opener against Penn State, the team tumbled to three more falls from the 4-inch wide apparatus. Fortunately, they still came away with a win.

To Patterson, these mistakes were unacceptable for a championship-caliber team. Beam intra-squads came frequently, and the team's self-assurance rose. The team members began to refer to themselves as the "Beam Team."

"We had so much confidence because Sarah made us do so many intra-squads," Sheryl Dundas said. "We could do routines in our sleep."

The Tide traveled to Lexington, Ky., for the Southeastern Conference Championships. Forced to count two falls on the final event, vault, the SEC title slipped from Alabama's hands by .05. The disappointment and frustration made the Tide even more determined to earn the national crown.

"Good teams aren't going to let defeats defeat them overall," Katherine Kelleher told reporters at the time. "They use it to their advantage. That's what we are going to do."

"I've always said that in this conference, you can be third at the conference championship and win the national championship," Patterson explained. "1991 was definitely indicative of that scenario."

At the regional championships at Auburn, the Tide turned in one of its best performances of the season and entered the NCAAAs as the No. 1 seed.

The Tide drew a favorable rotation at the NCAA Championships, starting on the vault, finishing on the floor exercise. After charging through the first two events, the "Beam Team" was put to its final test, hitting all six routines, passing the exam with flying colors. The Tide was the only team without a fall on the balance beam at the NCAA Championships.

Before the team rotated to floor, Patterson offered only one piece of advice to her charges.

"I just told the kids to land on their feet and stay in bounds," Patterson said.

The floor music reverberated through the Coliseum and each tumbling pass was met with louder and louder cheers and at the end of six routines the Crimson Tide emerged victorious.

"Winning one championship was great, but there was nothing like winning at home," Patterson said. "I felt like winning a second championship validated our program at that point. It wasn't just a one-time thing. Yes, we can have this philosophy of having the best students and athletes and well-rounded individuals and still win a championship."

The team also taught Patterson a thing or two about the seven-month journey to the national championship competition, as well as the expectations that come with the quest.

"It doesn't matter where you start in December," Patterson said. "It only matters where you end in April. Sometimes, when it looks like you have your hardest road to go in preseason, you need to stay focused on the outcome and take it one step at a time. More than anything, I learned from this team to not look too far down that road."

THE 1988 NCAA CHAMPIONS

Sarah and David Patterson were celebrating their 10th anniversary of coaching the Crimson Tide in 1988. Their success had been nothing short of amazing, with five consecutive top-6 finishes including a high of third in 1986. Alabama was a strong team, with a solid foundation built on its coaches and the type of athletes they chose to bring into the program.

The questions began brewing in the Pattersons' minds though. Could their philosophy of developing the whole person produce championships? Would they be able to do things the way they wanted and still climb the final rung and produce a championship? The questions were answered emphatically in 1988.

Alabama started the year 10-strong. It was a young squad, with two seniors, one junior, four sophomores and three freshmen. The Pattersons added to the Tide's arsenal in January, when Kim Masters joined the Tide. Masters had planned to delay college for a year to train for the Seoul Olympics. After finishing ninth at the USA Gymnastics Championships the previous summer, her aspirations for the Olympic rings seemed within her grasp. Striving for that goal lost its appeal though and after much thought, Masters opted for college and the Tide. With its roster set, the season began.

Alabama reeled off a trio of wins to get things going. Then something strange happened – Alabama tied LSU. With fractions of points being added up over the course of 24 individual performances, ties are rare in collegiate gymnastics. Then, at the next meet, Alabama did it again; tying Georgia at the UA-hosted Red and White Classic and beating Utah.

In any other season, that would have been what the year would be known by, the year of two ties. This squad, though, was destined for far greater things.

Alabama set the tone for the postseason by winning its first Southeastern Conference Championship with a 190.15. It was only the second time in school history that the Tide had scored in the 190s. The Tide beat second-place Georgia by .95.

The regionals were next for the Tide and a good performance would be necessary to advance to the NCAA Championships. Instead of a good performance, Alabama produced a school and NCAA-best mark of 191.75. The Tide posted the meet's top score on all four events both individually and as a team. Masters won the all-around followed by Marie Robbins in second and Tina Rinker in fourth.

"I didn't think it was going to be possible to exceed what we did at the Southeastern Conference Championship, but they certainly did," Sarah Patterson said. "They came back and did a better job."

Nationals were in Salt Lake City, Utah, home of five-time NCAA champion Utah, the No. 2 seed. Alabama would also face defending NCAA champs Georgia, No. 3 seed LSU and No. 4 seed Florida. Both the competition and the arena were familiar, being the No. 1 seed was not.

"I don't think there's extra pressure on us being the No. 1 seed," Sarah Patterson said prior to NCAAAs. "We just achieved so many things – winning the SEC, the record in the regionals and the No. 1 seed – that we're too proud of what we've already accomplished to feel pressure."

If Alabama disagreed with their coach, it did not show. Those watching from the stands and those on press row observed a Crimson Tide team that was calm and loose going into the championships, having fun, being playful and displaying an indomitable team spirit.

Alabama scored an NCAA Championship record on the way to its first national championship, shattering the mark previously held by Utah (188.35) with a 190.05. The Tide's highest all-around finish was ninth-place, highlighting the team effort it took to win the championship.

Consistency, along with confidence and enthusiasm were the keys for the Crimson Tide. The Pattersons' crew hit 23 of 24 routines, including a six-for-six balance beam rotation.

"It was the beam – that's where we won it," Sarah Patterson said. "That was our best beam score of the year."

And if the beam was the event that led Alabama to the title, its seniors were the class pointing the way.

"This national championship is for our two seniors – Alli Beldon and Kathy Bilodeau," Sarah Patterson said after the meet. "They hit all three events tonight. They were models for us all year. We just learned from their consistency, which has been our forte all season."

Four Alabama gymnasts earned seven All-America honors. Sarah Patterson was named NCAA Coach of the Year, but most importantly, Alabama had its first NCAA Championship.

"It's so unbelievable," Robbins said. "We had so much fun. That's when we are at our best."

Sophomore Cheri Way noted the seeds were sown long before the trip to Utah.

"I realized we could win the national title after one long and tiresome Tuesday practice when we decided to go out and do it for us," Way said. "When I realized we had won . . . my whole body went numb."

The good times were far from over.

"The best part about winning the championship was coming back home to Alabama," Ali Blumberg said, a sentiment echoed by all her teammates at one point or another during that magical year.

On April 30, 1988, the state of Alabama declared "Alabama Gymnasts Day." There was a parade and a ceremony at the base of Denny Chimes. The next fall, the gymnasts received their championship rings at halftime of the Vanderbilt football game.

ALABAMA'S INDIVIDUAL NCAA CHAMPIONS

The Alabama gymnastics program has always been focused on the team aspect of the sport. It is one of the reasons that the Crimson Tide has enjoyed such tremendous success over the years, including six NCAA Championships, nine Southeastern Conference titles and an NCAA-record 32 regional titles. While team always comes first for Alabama, there have been numerous individual accomplishments over the years including an amazing 27 individual NCAA Championships by 16 different gymnasts. Alabama has also won at least three individual NCAA titles in each of the last four decades, with four in the 1980s, eight in the 1990s, nine in the 2000s and six through the 2010s.

Penney Hauschild won Alabama's first individual NCAA titles when she brought home the all-around and uneven bars title in 1985. She upped her career total to four when she repeated as all-around champion and added a floor exercise title as a senior in 1986. Dee Foster won the Tide's third all-around title as a freshman in 1990. Foster's title was the first of four in a row to start the 1990s, followed by Gina Basile's 1991 balance beam championship and back-to-back balance beam titles from current head coach Dana Duckworth – then Dana Dobransky – in 1992 and 1993. Duckworth became the first Tide gymnast to repeat as a champion on an apparatus, winning her second beam title with a perfect 10.

Alabama not only won the team title in 1996, but added a trio of individual titles by three different women. Meredith Willard won Alabama's fourth all-around championship while Stephanie Woods won the uneven bars and Kim Kelly took top honors on the floor exercise with a perfect 10. Andree Pickens closed out the decade of the '90s by winning the balance beam title as a freshman in 1999.

Pickens would also win Alabama's first national title of the '00s by winning the 2002 uneven bars championship after leading the Tide to the team championship that same year. Ashley Miles went on a tear in the mid-00s, becoming the second Alabama gymnast to win four titles in a career, taking first on the vault in 2003, 2004 and 2006 and adding the floor exercise championship in 2004. When she won her third vault title in 2006, she became the first NCAA gymnast in 20 years to win a trio of vault titles in a career. Jeana Rice won Alabama's fifth all-around title in 2004. Rice's 2004 title, combined with Miles vault and floor exercise championships that same year, gave Alabama three individual titles in the same year for the second time.

Terin Humphrey won two uneven bars titles, the first as a freshman in 2005 and the second in 2007, the same year Morgan Dennis won the floor exercise championship as a rookie.

Geralen Stack-Eaton led Alabama to back-to-back NCAA team titles in 2011 and 2012 and also won back-to-back individual titles, winning the floor exercise in 2011 and the balance beam in 2012. Coincidentally Stack-Eaton's titles came on the same events – floor exercise in 2011 and balance beam in 2012 – on which Alabama clinched the NCAA team titles.

In 2013, Diandra Milliner won the vault, marking the Tide's fourth vault title.

Kim Jacob won the Tide's latest NCAA all-around championship in 2014, earning UA's sixth all-around and 25th individual NCAA title overall.

In 2016, Katie Bailey soared to Alabama's fifth vault title and first NCAA title under Duckworth as Alabama's head coach. She followed that title with an uneven bars championship in 2017.

ALABAMA'S INDIVIDUAL NCAA CHAMPIONS

KATIE BAILEY

2017 NCAA Uneven Bars
Champion
2016 NCAA Vault
Champion

Already an NCAA champion on the vault as a junior, Katie Bailey capped her senior season by becoming the seventh Crimson Tide gymnast to win multiple individual national titles during her career, taking top honors in her signature event, the uneven bars. On the way to her second NCAA title, she earned her fourth consecutive All-America honor on the uneven bars. Her title helped push Alabama to its NCAA-best 23rd Super Six Team Final. It was the Tide's sixth NCAA uneven bars title.

The year before, at the 2016 NCAA Championships, Bailey came up third in the Tide's vault lineup. After coming set, she flashed down the vault runway, hit the springboard and then the table, soaring through the air, landing with her feet nailed to the ground.

In front of a six-judge panel in Fort Worth, Texas, Bailey earned 9.95s from every judge for a career-best score and the NCAA vault title. The 2016 season was the first in which the individual title was decided during the semifinal round of the championships. It was Alabama's 26th individual NCAA title and the fifth vault championship.

KIM JACOB

2014 NCAA All-Around
Champion

She was sitting next to Sarah Patterson at the press conference following the NCAA Championships Semifinals and she still had no clue what had happened. Kim Jacob had scored a career-best 39.625 in the all-around, but it didn't occur to her that would be enough to win a national championship. Just before the press conference got underway, an official came in and nodded to Patterson that scores were confirmed. The veteran coach then leaned over and whispered the news to Jacob, congratulating her on winning Alabama's 25th individual NCAA title and sixth all-around crown.

To say Jacob was surprised would be putting it mildly, but after scoring 9.925s on the uneven bars and balance beam and a 9.95 on the floor exercise, she came to her final event, the vault, needing a 9.825 to slip ahead of the 39.600 already posted by Arkansas' Katherine Grable, which is exactly what the Raleigh, N.C., native scored.

Jacob earned four first team All-America honors in 2014, the most of any gymnast in the nation that season, on the way to winning Alabama's first NCAA all-around title since Jeana Rice in 2004.

DIANDRA MILLINER

2013 NCAA Vault
Champion

When Diandra Milliner scored 9.925 on the vault on the last day of the 2013 NCAA Championships in Los Angeles, Calif., it was a familiar sight. It was the sixth time she'd posted that exact mark during the season including her first score of the year at Missouri and now her last.

The difference was this one was for the national championship and after all the scores were tallied – which took quite a while since there were a jaw dropping 23 gymnasts in vault finals as well as six judges on hand for individual event finals and all six scores were averaged for the final score – Milliner's oh so familiar score was good for Alabama's 24th individual NCAA title.

Milliner had come close to winning a national vault title the year before in Duluth, Ga., taking second place, but in 2013 the Tide's anchor on vault since the first meet of her freshman year came away with the gold.

GERALEEN STACK-EATON

2012 NCAA Balance
Beam Champion
2011 NCAA Floor
Exercise Champion

In 2012, for the second year a row, the NCAA team championship belonged to the Alabama Crimson Tide, and for the second year in a row Geraleen Stack-Eaton made sure that there was individual gold to go with the team trophy.

As a junior, Stack-Eaton closed out her season by winning the NCAA Floor Exercise Championship, the same event that Alabama had finished on to win its fifth national team championship the night before. Her dynamic routine tallied a score of 9.9375, winning the Tide's third floor title since 2004 and fifth overall.

As a senior, Stack-Eaton was once again instrumental in leading Alabama to the national team title, marking the first time the Tide had won back-to-back team championships. And just as she had the year before, the Horsham, Pa., native returned the next day for an individual title, extending the Tide's weekend-long mastery of the balance beam. During team competition, she posted scores of 9.95 and 9.9 on the beam, helping push Alabama to the two highest balance beam team marks at the championships. During event finals, she tallied a 9.9375 on the beam, winning Alabama's 23rd individual NCAA title overall and fifth on the balance beam.

MORGAN DENNIS

2007 NCAA Floor Exercise

Just a freshman, Morgan Dennis had already learned the trick of bringing the crowd to its feet. Her huge tumbling and feet-nailed-to-the-floor landings were enough to excite even veteran gymnastics fans. But a national title, on the floor exercise, as a rookie? That was going to take some doing, especially in 2007 when 18 gymnasts reached the floor exercise final.

But Dennis didn't get rattled. She calmly waited, going 17th in the lineup. And when her turn finally did come around, she made the most of it, electrifying the crowd and scoring a 9.9625, the best of the night to that point. One more routine was to come, so after waiting most of the night to show what she had, she waited a little longer to see if her routine was golden. The last gymnast came close, with a 9.95, but not close enough and the Alabama rookie took home gold.

TERIN HUMPHREY
2005 & 2007 NCAA
Uneven Bars Champion

She wanted it back. As a freshman, Terin Humphrey had gone from Olympic silver to NCAA gold, winning the NCAA Uneven Bars Championship. As a sophomore, she earned All-America honors on the uneven bars, but did not repeat as champion.

Winning title No. 2 wasn't going to be easy. In October Humphrey had double elbow surgery to help ease problems she had worked through for years. She also faced the deepest, most talented uneven bars field in NCAA history, one loaded with Olympians and U.S. champions. Humphrey was not to be denied, though, scoring a 9.95 to win her second title and reaffirm her place as queen of the uneven bars.

Humphrey's first NCAA title came at the end of a long year, one that included the U.S. Olympic Trials, a spot on the Olympic team that included a pair of silver medals at the Athens Olympiad, and a stint on the T.J. Maxx Olympic Tour before joining the Tide in January. At the end of that very long freshman year, she found herself with one more routine to do. Up last, she had her work cut out for her with a 9.925 already on the board. The Olympic silver medalist was undaunted though, taking NCAA gold with a 9.9375.

ASHLEY MILES
2003, 2004 & 2006
NCAA Vault Champion
2004 NCAA Floor
Exercise Champion

Ashley Miles made it look easy. She made it look like flying. Her huge vaults and tumbling passes on the floor exercise made her the must-see gymnast wherever she was, even at the NCAA Championships.

"Wherever we were, when Ashley was on an event, all eyes in the gym were drawn to her," Sarah Patterson said. "It was an amazing phenomenon."

An outsized brand of gymnastics earned Miles four individual NCAA titles, tying Penney Hauschild for most in an Alabama career. She is the first Alabama gymnast to win more than two national apparatus titles during a career.

When she won the 2006 NCAA vault title, Miles became only the second gymnast in NCAA history to win three national vault championships and the first to do so in 20 years. She is one of only six gymnasts in NCAA history to win the same event three times and the first in more than a decade to manage the feat. Her four individual national titles are tied for third all-time in NCAA history.

JEANA RICE
2004 NCAA All-Around
Champion

She'd spent a career being as good as anyone in the nation and at her last NCAA Championships, Jeana Rice proved herself better than anyone else. On the first day of competition at the UCLA-hosted championships, Rice - who had already won two SEC and three NCAA Regional all-around titles in her career - posted a 39.650 to win the NCAA All-Around Championship.

Rice's career had been building to this moment from day one. She won six individual SEC Championships and seven NCAA Regional titles over her four years. At the NCAA Championships, she finished in the top six in the all-around competition every year as well as posting five finishes in the top six on individual events.

Rice was rewarded for an outstanding senior year with the Honda Award for Gymnastics, presented annually to the national gymnast of the year.

In addition to all her championship hardware, Rice set a national record as a senior, becoming the first NCAA gymnast to earn five All-America honors in three different seasons. She also set the national record for All-America honors in a career, earning 18 first- and second-team accolades.

ANDREÉ PICKENS
1999 NCAA Balance
Beam Champion
2002 NCAA Uneven Bars
Champion

It is a testament to Andree Pickens' talent and drive that she managed not only to win two NCAA titles, but win them in the most challenging fashion imaginable.

As a freshman, Pickens competed in every event all three days of the NCAA Championships. On the last day, after leading Alabama to a third-place finish in the thin air of Salt Lake City the day before, she harnessed her strength and boundless energy to win the NCAA Balance Beam title, earning gold on the event that made her nervous all season.

Three years later, after coming back from a ruptured Achilles tendon that ended her junior season, Pickens again competed in 12 events over three days. But the four events on Saturday were simply icing on the cake for the Houston, Texas native who the night before had led the Tide to its fourth NCAA team title.

In the waning moments of a spectacular career, Pickens brought the grit and determination that carried her through injury and rehab to bear on one final routine, winning the NCAA Uneven Bars title. After landing that routine, Pickens gave a tired wave to the crowd, knowing she had given everything she had and it had been more than enough.

KIM KELLY
1996 NCAA Floor
Exercise Champion

In the final performance of her Crimson Tide career, as the music of her floor routine reached its final beat and tears streamed down her face, Kim Kelly's success-studded career turned golden. The King of Prussia, Penn., native won the 1996 NCAA Floor Exercise Championship in front of the home crowd with a perfect 10.0 and an avalanche of applause.

As extraordinary as the ending was, the genesis of her championship floor routine is even more so. In college gymnastics, the norm is to change floor routines only once during a career and a mid-season change was unheard of, until Kim Kelly.

Tide freshman Lisa Gianni's floor routine was set to the strains of the Alabama fight song. When Gianni went down after the second meet of the season with a ruptured Achilles tendon, there was no one to carry the routine into the Tide-hosted nationals, until Kelly undertook the challenge.

It was a move that Tide coach Sarah Patterson says she would not have been able to consider with anyone except Kelly. The move paid off when Kelly completed the postseason triple play, winning the SEC, NCAA Central Regional and NCAA Championships.

STEPHANIE WOODS

1996 NCAA Uneven Bars Champion

Stephanie Woods knew that the uneven bars routine she had just finished had been special – she just wasn't sure if anyone else knew. It was the night of the event finals at the 1996 NCAA Championships and she had just completed her routine.

But the Austin, Texas, native's feeling about her routine carried over to the judges, who knew they had seen something special, something of championship caliber.

In the history of the NCAA Championships, only three competitors have scored better on the uneven bars. There are three 10s scattered over the years. Woods is the first to earn a 9.975.

Woods had been brilliantly consistent all season on the uneven bars. Of her 15 routines, 12 scored 9.9 or better. She collected the 1996 NCAA Central Regional uneven bars and balance beam titles coming into the NCAA Championships. Woods scored back-to-back 9.950s in the NCAA semifinals and Super Six rounds. Her national championship performance was a career best.

MEREDITH WILLARD

1996 NCAA All-Around Champion

She tugged urgently at the sleeve of the nearest meet official, asking him to check and then double check the scores. There had been a mistake, someone else was supposed to be where she was.

No mistake, the scores were right. Meredith Willard, the ultimate team player in a sport filled with individuals, had won the 1996 NCAA All-Around Championship.

Willard's title shouldn't have come as a surprise. She had been, throughout the 1996 season, the nation's most consistent gymnast. Going into the NCAA Championships, she had hit an astounding and perfect 44 of 44 routines. She had also competed in 45 of a possible 48 events going into the championships. She had been very virtually unstoppable.

Willard had not just been consistent, she had been consistently brilliant. She bettered or tied her career best all-around mark six times during the season. And at the NCAA Championships, on the night of the all-around, she was the best of the best, winning with a 39.450 total. Willard's talent and ability led her to Alabama's ninth individual NCAA crown. Her poise and leadership led Alabama to a national team championship the next day.

DANA DOBRANSKY

1992 NCAA Balance Beam Champion
1993 NCAA Balance Beam Champion

On her 1993 beam title: "Ending my career with a 10.0 on balance beam finally represented that I had worked for perfection. It made all of the mental perfection, all of the hard work, all of the falling, and getting up, worth it. It was great to be able to represent The University of Alabama with a perfect 10."

Best memory: "My most lasting memory is the love and support of our fans. That fan support was one of the reasons that I was attracted to Alabama, and when I got there, it was just great. I know that we wouldn't have been as successful as we were, or are, without the love and support of all of our fans. The fans at Alabama are so supporting of everything, and that is the one thing that really stands out in my mind."

GINA BASILE

1991 NCAA Balance Beam Champion

On the 1991 team title: "It was a very rewarding experience for me. It was especially great because it was at home in front of our families and our fans. It's really a feeling that you can't put into words. The best way that I can describe winning the national team title is that it is 11 girls, separated around the country, who are bonded together for life by a ring which represents talent, dedication, friendship and crimson pride."

Best memory: "Really, the thing that stands out in my mind is that there was no real pressure. There was some pressure, but really we just had a good time. Usually the person who wants it the most wins, and we just always pulled together, had a good time, and usually won. That's what I will always remember."

DEE FOSTER

1990 NCAA All-Around Champion

On her title: "There were advantages and disadvantages to winning a national title. The advantages were, of course, the respect and national recognition in a sport that I had dedicated my life to. And the main disadvantage was the pressure to repeat. Thankfully, I had 10 other people there to help me through each of the next three years."

Best memory: "My junior year, during the Homecoming football game, we got our national championship rings down on the field at halftime. My best friend was there to enjoy it with me, and that made it extra special."

PENNEY HAUSCHILD

1985 NCAA All-Around Champion
1985 NCAA Uneven Bars Champion
1986 NCAA All-Around Champion
1986 NCAA Floor Exercise Champion

On her national championships: "It was definitely the pinnacle of my gymnastics career. But I know that nothing could have been done without Sarah, David, my teammates, the trainers, and really the entire athletic department. Although my titles were a great experience, I would have given anything to be able to be with the team in 1988 when they won the team national title."

Best memory: "After my floor exercise at the 1986 Nationals, which was the last event of my career, Sarah was standing right there. She had tears in her eyes, I had tears in my eyes, and we just came together and hugged. That will always be the one moment that will stand out in my mind."

ALABAMA'S ALL-AMERICANS

The 1990 NCAA All-Around Champion and the first gymnast to post four top-three NCAA all-around finishes, Dee Foster also set the record for First Team Championship All-America honors during her 1990-93 career at 17.

There are two All-America teams in collegiate gymnastics, regular season (RS) and championship season (CS). Regular-season honors came about in 2013 and are based on final regular-season regional qualifying score (RQS) rankings with the top four spots and ties earning first team and Nos. 5-8 receiving second-team (ST) recognition. Championship-season honors have gone through a few changes over the years. Since 1999, the top four finishers (plus ties) from each of the NCAA Championships' two semifinal sessions of team competition earn All-America first-team honors. Finishers in the Nos. 5-8 spots (including ties) in each semifinal earn Second Team All-America honors. From 1993-98, the top eight individuals in NCAA team competition (results from both sessions combined) earned First Team All-America honors; the next eight earned Second Team All-America honors. Prior to 1993, only the top eight finishers from the NCAA event finals earned All-America honors.

ALABAMA AT THE NCAA REGIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

The 2018 Alabama squad won the Crimson Tide's NCAA-best 32nd regional title.

Alabama has dominated the NCAA Regional Championships for nearly 40 years, finishing first or second every year since the championships' inception in 1982 through the 2018 season, including an NCAA-best 32 regional titles over that span. The 2020 NCAA postseason was canceled due to COVID-19.

Starting with the 2019 season, for the first time since 1999, the regional system became significantly different. The NCAA Championships field remains at 36 teams determined by their regional qualifying score (RQS), but those teams now advance to four regional sites instead of six, and regional competition now spans three days as opposed to one in the previous format. The four regionals, consisting of 9 teams, are conducted at predetermined campus sites. Teams 1-16 are seeded by the NCAA Women's Gymnastics Committee and the remaining teams are placed geographically. The first round consists of two lowest ranked teams by RQS, the second round consists of two, four-team sessions (including the winner of the first round). The regional final consists of four teams. The top two teams from each of the four regional finals advance to the national championships.

Alabama gymnasts have won 157 individual regional titles over the past 30 years. Geralen Stack-Eaton was voted the NCAA Central Region Gymnast of the Year in 2012. Kayla Hoffman earned the honor in 2011 while Ashley Miles won it in 2006 and Andréé Pickens earned the same award four years running, from 1999 to 2002 before giving way to Jeana Rice in 2003. Miles set the Alabama career record for regional titles in 2006 after winning a pair of titles to push her all-time mark to 10. She is also the first Tide gymnast to win the same regional event all four years of her career, sweeping both the vault and floor exercise from 2003 to 2006.

On her way to the Tide regional title record, Miles passed Pickens and Dee Foster, who are tied with nine each. Hoffman (2011), Miles (2005) and Foster (1993) are tied for the most titles in a single season at four.

In 1992 and 1993, David Patterson was named NCAA Central Region Assistant Coach of the Year. In 2000 and 2002, former Crimson Tide gymnast and current Senior Associate Athletics Director Marie Robbins was named NCAA Central Region Administrator of the Year.

The Tide earned one Southeast Regional title in 1983 before making the jump to the Central Region and winning 13 there. In 1999, the regional structure changed, going to six regions. Alabama won the inaugural Region 6 title in 1999 and a Region 4 title in 2000. Beginning with the 2001 season, the names of the regions went back to directional designations, with Alabama was once again competing out of the Central Region. Starting in 2009, the regional championships were designated by the host city, which means Alabama competed in and won the NCAA Tuscaloosa Regional in 2018.

The Tide has put together two streaks of 10-or-more regional titles in a row, earning 12-consecutive championships from 2005-16 and 10 championships between 1987-96.

Ashley Miles won 10 individual NCAA regional titles.

ALABAMA AND THE SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE

Kayla Hoffman, pictured above with Commissioner Mike Slive, earned almost every accolade the Southeastern Conference has to offer in 2011, including the league's top honor when she was named the SEC Female Athlete of the Year. She was also the first in league history to win SEC Gymnast of the Year and SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors in the same season. Hoffman received an SEC Postgraduate Scholarship and was a finalist for the H. Boyd McWhorter SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year.

If there was any question that the Southeastern Conference is the most dominant gymnastics conference in the nation, it was laid to rest in 2009 when five of the teams that advanced to the NCAA Super Six Team Final were from the SEC, including the top-two finishers, Georgia and Alabama. In fact, since the first NCAA Championship in 1982, the SEC has had at least one team in the top 10 and since 1983, the conference has placed at least one team in the top five and at least two teams in the top 10. Alabama has been the league's top finisher at the NCAA Championships 13 times.

In each of the past 34 NCAA Championships, the conference has placed at least one team in the top three and in 1998 the national top three all hailed from the SEC, with Georgia, Florida and Alabama taking first, second and third, respectively. The SEC put a conference-high five teams in the national top 10 in 1993, 2003, 2008, 2009, 2015, 2016 and 2018. An SEC school has stood atop the podium as national champion 19 times since 1987, with Alabama winning six titles, including back-to-back in 2011 and 2012.

SEC athlete have taken home the NCAA all-around title 18 times. Alabama athletes have been especially productive in that area, with five Crimson Tide athletes producing six all-around titles. From 1989-98, the conference claimed nine of the 10 all-around crowns, including six straight from 1993-98.

Of the 14 conference schools, Alabama, Arkansas, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, LSU and Missouri sponsor gymnastics.

ALABAMA IN THE SEC

In the 39-year history of the Southeastern Conference Gymnastics Championships

(the 2020 championship was canceled due COVID-19), Alabama is the only program to never finish outside the top four. After finishing 3rd in 2019, The Crimson Tide is also the only team to finish in the top-three each of the last 21 SEC Championships, with Florida coming in second over that span with 18, Georgia with 14 and LSU with 10. Alabama has won nine SEC Championships, the first coming in 1988 and the most recent in 2015, as well as posting 28 top-two finishes.

Individually, Alabama has tallied 68 conference crowns, including an incredible 51 titles since 2000. In 2019, Lexi Graber won the SEC balance beam title.

Kayla Hoffman was named the 2011 SEC Female Athlete of the Year, an award that spans all sports offered by the league, marking the fifth time an Alabama gymnast has earned that title. Tide gymnasts alone have earned more SEC Female Athlete of the Year honors than all but one other school.

The league's top scholar-athlete has come from the Tide three times, with Kristin Sterner (2003), Meredith Willard (1997) and Julie Estin (1987) earning the H. Boyd McWhorter Postgraduate Scholarship.

The SEC Gymnast of the Year has hailed from Alabama six times, including Hoffman in 2011, while the Freshman Gymnast of the Year has worn Alabama's crimson and white three times, while the SEC Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year has hailed from Alabama a league best seven times, including Shea Mahoney in 2020. The Tide has earned SEC Academic Honor Roll honors 378 times, nearly 100 better than second place including a conference-record 18 in 2016 and 2017.

ALABAMA'S SEC TEAM CHAMPIONSHIPS

The 2014 SEC Champions

2015 SEC CHAMPIONS

In 2015, for the first time in nearly 40 years, the Alabama gymnastics team marched into the Southeastern Conference Championships, held in Duluth, Ga., with a new head coach. By the time the meet was done, Dana Duckworth and her first Crimson Tide team (as head coach that is) had produced a few more firsts.

When the Crimson Tide won the 2015 title with a 197.525, it was Alabama's first back-to-back SEC titles in program history. Duckworth also became the first coach in SEC gymnastics history to win the league championship in her inaugural season as a head coach.

Senior Kaitlyn Clark won her second individual SEC title and first vault championship after scoring a 9.95. Clark, juniors Lauren Beers and Carley Sims, along with sophomore Keely McNeer each earned All-SEC honors in front of a very vocal Crimson Tide crowd inside The Arena at Gwinnett Place.

While the Tide did win its 2012 NCAA Championship in Duluth, Alabama won its first SEC title in five Duluth appearances in 2015.

2014 SEC CHAMPIONS

Surrounded by a vocal pro-Alabama crowd in their own backyard, the Crimson Tide fed off the energy of the Birmingham, Ala. crowd to win its eighth Southeastern Conference Championship, and third in six years, in 2014. Loud throughout the night, Alabama fans erupted when junior Kaitlyn Clark – the Crimson Tide's last competitor – nailed her landing on the uneven bars, scoring a career-best 9.975 to win the event and clinch the title for Alabama. Excited about their performance no matter the outcome, the Tide had to wait until Florida finished its final routines on the floor exercise to know for sure if they'd won the title.

When the Gators finished their last routine, it was evident that the Tide had won and pandemonium ensued both on the floor of the arena, where the Tide celebrated an amazing performance, and in the stands where Alabama's faithful let loose a seemingly endless string of "Roll Tide" cheers.

In addition to Clark on the uneven bars, Milliner won both the vault and floor exercise. Milliner and Clark along with Jacob and freshman Aja Sims earned All-SEC honors. Sims also earned SEC All-Freshman honors along with Katie Bailey and Amanda Jetter. With three rookies earning All-Freshman, Alabama made up nearly half of the seven-member team.

2011 SEC CHAMPIONS

The Crimson Tide started off the 2011 SEC Championships with a solid score on the uneven bars and proceeded to improve every rotation after that, finishing off with the best score of the night by any team on any event, when it scored a 49.5 on the vault. The Tide was on a bye for the last rotation, waiting in its "Bama Bubble" to see if anyone could catch them. In the end, second-place Florida came up a quarter of a point short and the Tide won title No. 7 with a 197.225.

Senior Kayla Hoffman won the vault with a 9.95 while junior Geralen Stack-Eaton won the balance beam and floor exercise with matching scores of 9.925. Hoffman and Stack-Eaton both earned first team All-SEC honors, while sophomores Marissa Gutierrez and Ashley Sledge earned second-team honors. Sarah DeMeo, Kim Jacob and Diandra Milliner all earned Second Team All-SEC and SEC All-Freshman honors.

2009 SEC CHAMPIONS

Alabama rolled to its sixth SEC title with a complete team performance that saw everyone adding to the Crimson Tide's win. After finishing in second place by .025 in 2008, Alabama came back strong in 2009, outscoring second place Georgia by .375, 197.300-196.925. Junior Morgan Dennis led the way with wins on the vault and floor exercise while junior Ricki Lebegern, sophomore Kayla Hoffman and freshman Ashley Priess all earned second team All-SEC honors. Priess and Geralen Stack-Eaton also earned SEC All-Freshman honors.

2003 SEC CHAMPIONS

It was a battle from the word go. But in the end, the youngest team Alabama had ever put on the floor won the program's fifth SEC team title, upending second-place Georgia 197.575-197.525. Junior Jeana Rice was named SEC Gymnast of the Year after winning three events, including the all-around. Freshman Ashley Miles won the floor exercise with a 9.975 to clinch the Tide's victory. Sophomore Michelle Reeser and freshman Larissa Stewart earned second team All-SEC on the balance beam and uneven bars, respectively.

2000 SEC CHAMPIONS

Sarah Patterson and company couldn't have been much looser coming into the championships. Warm-ups in Florida's O'Connell Center were filled with laughter. Time in the locker room was spent playing games and singing along with music the Tide had brought along. Along with the laughter and the smiles, there was a quiet confidence.

By the time Alabama finished their last vault, they knew they had won the meet over LSU and Georgia, which tied for second, by .375. In addition to winning the all-around, vault and uneven bars, Andree Pickens earned All-SEC honors and was named SEC Gymnast of the Year. Her three SEC titles in one season matched Dee Foster's 1991 effort for best in Tide history.

1995 SEC CHAMPIONS

Alabama was in Gainesville, Fla., for the SEC Championships and going into its last rotation, the vault, Alabama was fourth. The Crimson Tide responded with the highest vault total in NCAA history, counting nothing less than a 9.9. Freshman Merritt Booth and senior Chasity Junkin both posted career-best marks of 9.975. Junior Kim Kelly stuck a perfect 10.0 to finish the series. Now the Tide had to wait and see if their best had been good enough. Even the coaches didn't know until the scores were announced. Auburn was sixth, Kentucky fifth, Florida fourth, Georgia third, at this point a sigh of relief went up from the Crimson Tide contingent – they were at least second. LSU was second, and the Alabama contingent roared with the pleasure of winning by .05.

1990 SEC CHAMPIONS

Alabama started the decade of the 1990s off with a bang. Sarah and David Patterson and company won the 1990 SEC Championship in Athens, Ga. Senior Marie Robbins led the Tide, winning the all-around. It marked a triumphant return from an ankle injury that had cut short her 1989 season. And if Florida was Alabama's main rival in the early- to mid-1980s, Georgia stepped into that position in the late 1980s through the next two decades, which made the win in Athens all the sweeter.

1988 SEC CHAMPIONS

At the 1988 SEC Championships, the Crimson Tide faced Georgia, LSU and Florida, all three ranked in the top-10 nationally. All three, along with the Tide, would be in the hunt for the NCAA title come April.

The championships were in Tuscaloosa, where they had been in 1985, the year current Alabama senior captains Alli Beldon and Kathy Bilodeau had been freshmen.

Alabama didn't claim a single individual title but came away with its first conference crown, and an SEC Championship record as well. UA's 190.15 marked only the second time in school history that it had scored in the 190s. The Tide outpointed second-place Georgia by .95.

ALABAMA'S SEC ACADEMIC HONOR ROLL

While it is evident that Alabama gymnastics is one of the nation's best teams in the gym, it is absolutely dominant when it comes to the classroom. The best barometer of such success on a conference level is the SEC Academic Honor Roll, instituted in 1984, and Alabama gymnasts have earned a league-best 378 honors, nearly 100 better than any other program in the nation. The Crimson Tide has averaged more than 10 honors a year since 2000, including a program-best 18 in 2016 and 2017. From 1984-2001 the honor roll was open to all gymnasts in the sophomore class or better in academic standing. Starting in 2002, the awards were determined by the academic year (fall and spring semester) or cumulative GPA, making freshmen eligible.

ADDING UP CRIMSON TIDE SUCCESS

1 Alabama has finished No. 1 in the nation six times. The first time came in 1988 and the most recent in 2012. The Crimson Tide is one of only six programs in collegiate gymnastics history to win an NCAA title.

2 Alabama has finished in the top-2 nationally 13 times since first breaking into the top-10 in 1983.

3 Three Crimson Tide gymnasts have been named the H. Boyd McWhorter SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, an award that spans all sports and all 14 league schools.

4 In the history of the Southeastern Conference, Alabama's Sarah and David Patterson are the only coaches in any sport to win NCAA Championships in four different decades ('80s – 1988; '90s – 1991 and 1996; '00s – 2002; '10s – 2011 and 2012).

5 Five Crimson Tide gymnasts have earned the prestigious NCAA Top 10 Award, which honors the nation's top 10 senior student-athletes regardless of gender or NCAA Division.

5 Five Crimson Tide gymnasts have been named Southeastern Conference Female Athlete of the Year, an award that spans all sports and all schools, including Kayla Hoffman in 2011.

6 Six times an Alabama gymnast has been named the SEC Gymnast of the Year, including Kayla Hoffman in 2011.

7 Shea Mahoney earned Alabama's SEC-best seventh Southeastern Conference Gymnastics Scholar-Athlete of the Year accolade in 2020.

7 Alabama gymnastics earned the first seven NCAA Elite 90 Awards, given annually to the student-athlete with the highest grade point average at the NCAA Championships for each sport, including three in a row by Lauren Beers. Alabama is the only program in any sport to have that many and to have the honors be consecutive and Beers is the first gymnast to win three in a row.

8 Alabama has won the Honda Award for Gymnastics, which recognizes the national gymnast of the year, eight times, including Kim Jacob in 2014.

9 Alabama has won nine Southeastern Conference team titles since its first in 1988, including back-to-back titles in 2014 and 2015.

11 Alabama has sold out Coleman Coliseum to the tune of 15,000-plus fans 11 times since 1997, including the 2014 meet against Arkansas.

17 Dee Foster's 17 first team All-America honors stands as the NCAA career record.

21 Alabama gymnasts have earned 21 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships over the years, a total that leads the nation by a healthy margin.

23 Since its inception in 1993, Alabama has advanced to the NCAA Super Six Team Finals 23 times, more than any other team in the history of the format.

23 Alabama gymnasts have earned CoSIDA Academic All-America honors 23 times since Julie Estin earned the Crimson Tide's first honor 1986.

27 Individual national titles are hard to come by, but the Crimson Tide has won 27 individual NCAA championships, including Katie Bailey's uneven bars title in 2017 and a total of 15 individual championships over the past decade.

32 The Crimson Tide has won an NCAA-best 32 regional titles, including the 2018 Tuscaloosa Regional Championship.

39 Since women's gymnastics became an NCAA sport in 1982, Alabama is one of just two schools in collegiate gymnastics history to finish in the top-12 nationally every year, for an active streak of 39 in a row.

291 Alabama gymnasts have earned Scholastic All-America honors 291 times since the award's inception in 1991, including a school-record 19 in 2017.

357 Every year Alabama features some of the nation's top gymnasts, which is why, every year, Alabama adds to its All-America count. Since 1982, the Crimson Tide has seen 75 gymnasts rack up 357 honors.

378 Since the award began in 1984, Alabama gymnasts have earned SEC Academic Honor Roll recognition 378 times, nearly 100 better than the next closest gymnastics program, including an SEC-record 18 in 2016 and 2017.
